from the Army of the Cumberland, he gives the following picture of a night's ride of the wounded brigade, after the battle of Chickamauga:

"They were loaded upon the train; two you could not put your foot down among them as they lay. The roofs of the cars were tiled with them, and away we pounded all day, all night, into the next morning, and then Nashville. Half of the boys had not a shred of a blanket, and it rained steadily, pitilessly. What do you think of platform cars for a triumphal procession wherein to bear wounded heroes to the tune of 'The Soldier's Return from the War?' But the stores of the Sanitary Commission and the gifts of such ladies as are now, I believe, making your city a Bethel-a place of angels-kept the boys' hearts up through all those weary, drizzling bours.

"It is midnight, and the attendants are with milk and sugar-thick of that-two fresh, white, crisp crakers apiece, and a little taste of fruit. Did your hands prepare it, dear lady? I hope so, for the Yourselves. little balance in your favor set down in the ledger of God.

"Here they come with a canteen; will you go with them? climb through that window into a car as black as the Hole of Calcutta. But mind where you step; the floor is one layer deep with wounded saldiere. As you swing the lantern round, bandages show white and ghastly everywhere; bandages, bandages, and now and then a rusty spot of blood. What wornrouse like wounded creatures hunted down to their lairs as you come. The tin cups strong ones, tinkle all around you. You all orders must be addressed are fairly girdled with a tin-oup horizon. for Lewisburg, and by Storekeepers general-How the duli, pale faces brighten as those 'y. cups are filled? On we go, out at one window, in at another, stepping gingerly among mangled limbs. We reach the platform ears, creaking with their dreach = ed, chilled, bruised burdens, and I must tell you-it's a shame though-that one poor fellow among them lay with a tattered blanket pinned around him; he was literally sans cupotte. 'How is this?' I said. 'Haven't got my descriptive listthat's what's the matter,' was the rep'y Double allowances all around to the occupants of the platforms, and we retraced our steps to the rear of the train. You should have heard the ghost of a cheer that fluttered like a feeble bird, as we went back. It was the most touching vote of thanks ever offered; there was a little flash up of talk for a minute, and all subsided into silence and darkness again. Wearily wore the hours and heavily hammered the train. At intervals the guards traversed the roof of the cars-and pulled in the worn-out boys that had jarred down to the edges-pulled them in toward the middle of the cars without waking them. Occasionally one slips over the caves, I am told, and is miserably crushed. What was not quite coffee enough for all on TOWEL RACKS, DOUGHTRAYS. "By some error in apportionment there deck, and two slips of boys on the roof of the car where I occupied a corner were oft Furniture of my own manufacture, insured without a drop. Whenever we stopped, and that was two hours here, and three I can get up a fine Hearse.) to attend to the hours there, waiting for this and for that UNDERTAKING BUSINESS-I will keep they, indigestion, diseases of nervous system. -there was no hurry, you know-and the side door was slided back in its grooves, I saw two bungry faces, stretching down over the car's edge, and heard two feeble voices crying: 'We have had nothing up here since yesterday noon, we two-there are only us two boys-please give us something. Have'nt you got any hard tack?' I heard that pitiful spreal to the officers in charge, and saw those faces till they haunted me, and to-day I remember those plaintive tones as if I were hearing a dirge. I felt in my pockets and haversack for a cracker, but found nothing. I really hated myself for having eaten my dipper and not saved it for them. A further search was rewarded with six crackers from the Chicago Mechanical Bakery, and watching my chance when Pete's back was turned-the cook, and a smutty autocrat was Pete in his way-I took a sly dip with a basin into the coffee boiler. As the car gave a lurch in the right direction, I called from the window, 'Boys!' I heard them erawling to the edge, handed up the midnight supper. 'Bully for you,' they said, and I saw them no more. When the train seached Nashville, and I clambered down to selid ground again, I looked up at the roof; it was bare. God grant the boys are with their mothers to-night. And how do you like the ride of the Wounded Brigade ?"

The Secretary of the Treasury has not yet given notice of any intention to withdraw this popular Loan from sale at par, and, until ten days' hotice is given, the un-dersigned, as "General Subscription Agent," will continue to supply the public.

The whole amount of the loan authorized is Five Hundred Millions of Dollars. Nearly Four Hundred Millions have already been subscribed for and paid into the Treasury, mostly within the last seven months. The large demand from abroad, and the rapidly increasing home demand, for use as the basis for circulation by National Banking Associations now organizing in all parts of the counrry, will, in a very short period, absorb the balance. Sales have lately ranged from ten to fifteen millions weekly, frequently exceed-ing three millions daily; and as it is well known that the Secretary of the Treasury has ample and unlailing resources, in the duties on imports and internal revenues, and in the issue of the interest-bearing legal tender Treasury Notes, it is almost a certainty that he will not find it necessary, for a long to to come, to seek a market for any other long or permanent Loans, the interest and princi-of Namenal Banking Associations, as well as the minds of all who have idle money on their hands, to the prompt conclusion that they should lose no time in subscribing to this most popular Loan. It will soon be beyond their reach, and advance to a handsome premium, as was the result with the "neven Thirty" Loan, when it was all sold and could no longer be subscribed for at par.

Filt is a six per cent. Loan, the interest rate of premium on coin.)

The Government requires all duties on imports to be paid in coin; these duties have for a long time past amounted to over a quarter of a million of dollars daily, a sum nearly three times greater than that required in the payment of the interest on all the 5-20's of the Lewisburg Cemetery, the under-, and other permanent Loans.
