Modern science is literally making "the desert to blossom as the rose." In the great desert of Sabara in 1860, five Artesian wells have been opened, around which vegetation thrives loxuriantly; thirty thousand paim trees and one thousand fruit trees were planted, and two thriving villages established. At the depth of a little over five hundred feet, an underground river or lake was struck, and from two of them live fish have been thrown up showing that there is a large body of water underneath.
