THE EFFECT OF COPPERHEAD SYMPA-THY AT THE SOUTH .- A Southern gentleman writes over his own signature to the Baltimore American, deprecating the pernicious influence of Northern Copperhead demonstrations on the rebels of the South.

"I have been a resident of the State of Mississippi for more than twenty three years, was there at the breaking out of the rebellion, and till long after the fall of Vicksburg, and I know something about the permicious influence of the speeches of the pretended peace party of the North on the rebels of the South. They have done more by their clamor for peace to prolong this bloody struggle than any other single cause touching the war. And by their false pretensions of horror at the great slaughter of human life in this war, they indirectly been the cause of Supervisors-Chas. Ruhl, Wm.
