Old Grandmother Garret Davis, of Kentucky, has been sitting up with the Union almost incessantly for the last ten years, and introduced into the United States Senate, as a dernier resort to save it, a joint resolution to amend the Constitution, providing "that no person whose mother or grandmother is a negro, shall be entitled to the benefit of citizenship, and also that the States of Muine and Massachusetts shall constitute a State, called another, to be called West New England."

The old lady has been laboring for some time under a very severe attack of "nigger on the brain," and has been advised by Dr.Conservative Copporhead to try a little tinkering at the Constitution. That sacred instrument "as it is," don't even to suit in her present condition, and her friends, sympathy shown by the North in her bebalt - Fulton Republican.

A soldier lay in a lady's house, badly wounded. A Major General rode to the door. His orderly took his horse. He got off, went in, and sat down by the dy-ing man's side. Taking out a little book, he read from it : "Let not your heart be troubled," &c., He then keelt down and offered up a prayer to God for that dying down and kissed him, and said, "Captain G-, we shall most in Heaven." He then rode off. That Goneral was Major-Goneral Howard.

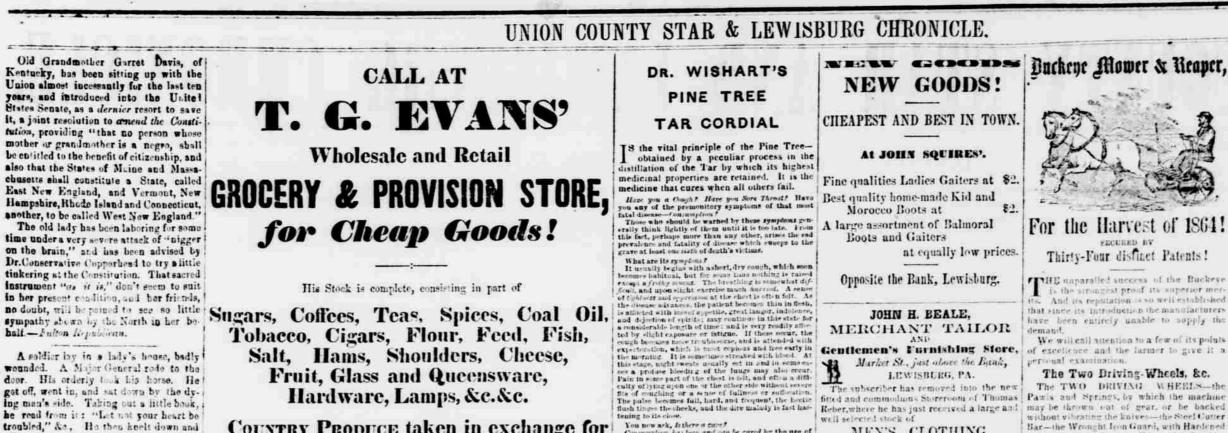

Reclaiming the Desert.

The wide, weary wastes, known as the "barning deserts of Sabara," are about to show some symptoms of relaining. During the last year, five wells have been puring the last year, and have bundred feet, good water was found, and live fishes in it. Around these wells, vegetation has begun to fi urish, and improvement may advance, by the planting of trees, which will check the heat of the sun and Africa's vast desert may again bloom and "blossom as the rose." This is an important start, and may result in great changes in our globa.

The war is productive of strange results Two Kentuckisos, father and son, were on a railroad train in Indiana. a few Sundays ago. The father was a Confederate pris oner, and the sou a Federal guard on the platform of the cars. The father seeing his son, presamed to take more liberty than the rule allowed, and put his head outside the door. His son hastily advanced with place at the shoulder, and said : " Get back there, you old rebel !"

PEDERAL HILL DISAPPEARING - Erery heavy rain which falls in this city helps to wash away Federal Hill, upon whose crowning summits a very formidable fort has been creeted, occupied by a half regiment of artillery. The bills which front upon Hughes street are gradually tumbling down on the roadside, and the bed of the street is so much observeted as to be well night impressible. Already the abattis in some of the angles of the ramparts are undermined to such anex tent as to create doubts of their permanency.-Bultimore American.

Hon. Reverdy Johnson in writing aletter congratulatory on the success of the emancipation cause in Maryland says : "A now ers is now dawning on our State. Blavery is ended, and it will be, as Washing ton said it would be in that event, " the garden spot of the United States." He said so in a letter to St. John Sinclair, in '96.
