The sorrow of a contrite heart-These things shall never die. The memory of a clasping hand, The pressure of a kiss, And all the trifles sweet and frail

That make up love's first bliss-If with a firm, unchanging faith, And holy trust and high, Those hands and lips sincerely met, Their influence ne'er shall die.

The cruel and the needless word That wounded as it fell, The chilling want of sympathy One feels but can not tell,

The rough repulse that stills the heart Whose hopes were bounding high-These are unfading records kept, And they shall never die.

Let nothing pass, for every hand Must find some work to do; Lose not a chance to waken love, Be firm, and just, and true. So shall a light that can not fade Beam on thee from on high, And angel voices say to thee, "These deeds shall never die !"

I have known Hoodand's German Bitters favorably for a number of years. I have used them in my own (anily, and have been so pleased with their effects that I was induced to recommend them to many others, and know that they have operated in a strikingly beneficial manner. I take great pleasure in this publicly preclaiming this fact, and cathing the attention of those, afflicted with the discusse for which they are recommended, to these Bitters, knowing from experience that my recommendation will be sustained. I do this more cheeffully as Houdand's Bitters is intended to benefit the afflicted and is not a run drink.

Yours truly,

LEVI G. BECK.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingresients and effects, 1 yet kines of no sufficient reason why a man may not bestify to the benefit to bave received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others. I do this the more readily in regard to "Boodland's German Bitters," prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Eq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper bests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the becttoning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt in six months before, and had almost espaired of regaining. I therefore thank tool and my friend for directing me to the use of them. me to the use of them.

Br. C. M. Jackson - Dear Str. Petronal experience embles me to say that I regard the German Bitters prepared by you as a most excellent medicine. Dr. C. M. Jackson—Dear Sir; I feel it a pleasure thus, of my own accord, to hear testimony to the excellence of the German Bitters. Some years since, being much afflicted with Dyspepsia, I used them with very beneficial results. I have other recommended them to persons enfechied by that tormenting disease, and have heard from them the most flattering testimonials as to its great value. In cases of general debility, I believe it is a tonic that can not be surpassed. JOHN M. LYONS.
