

THE CONTRAST.

The following, from Harper's Magazine, is practical poetry—it should move both heart and hands to deeds of remembrance.

We sit at home, nor think that they Who fight upon the distant plain Are falling, falling, every day, A harvest of the slain.

We lightly walk the busy street, Where trade and mirthfulness roll on; They march, a battle-field to greet, And die as it is won.

The trumpet calls them in the night To die for freedom; and the boom Of cannon from the fortress height Still calls them to their doom.

Unmoved we read of how they fell, To shield the starry flag from shame, Painless through storms of shot and shell In the red battle's flame!

Breave hearts are beating for us there, Amid the conflict's feverish breath; This hour, what soldier's hurried prayer Is said for you, in death!

There lie upon the lonely hill, Mid graves unmarked, dim dreamless sleep, Their rest eternal—never will They wake, like us, to weep.

We rise each day to care and toil And hourly strive—their work is done; Their blood will consecrate the soil Their lives so nobly won.

Plant Roots.

Hay, oats and corn are now bringing higher prices than ever before known. These prices may decline somewhat, but they will not fall to the old figures. Hence, farmers who desire to realize a handsome income from the sale of their hay, oats and corn should raise large crops of roots to feed their cattle as a substitute. Cattle thrive well on roots, but roots seldom pay to transport to market. Their cultivation has consequently not received general attention. The argument is a good one, and we would be glad to see it adopted by the farmers. A spare acre or two, planted in turnips or rutabagas, would pay well this year in the way we have indicated. It may not be too late to plant carrots.

There is another argument that may be added in favor of the root-planting theory. In the present situation of our country, with hundreds and thousands of our farmers in the tented field instead of at the plow-handle, there is danger that the supply of the necessities of life, which are produced by the labor of the husbandman, will be reduced much below the average of previous years. Add to this fact the possibility of a long drought, or a very wet summer, or the ravages of the fly, and the crop of grain may be an alarmingly small one. It is therefore an impulse of patriotism and self-preservation, as well as of gain, to raise all that can be gotten by man or beast. There will not be a famine, but there may be a great scarcity. Plant roots, all of you.

True Generalship.

It seems that Gen. Grant transferred his force, in a very short time, from the York to the James river, without losing a man or a wagon—so completely did he mislead Lee, and so trustworthily and energetic were the movements of our men. It contrasts most strongly with the long, weary fight and tremendous losses of Gen. McClellan going over the same ground. McClellan went only to retreat, while Grant goes to make an advance and try to cut off and destroy the foe of our country's peace and liberty.

Defeated for Governor of Ohio by over 100,000 majority, Vallandigham is back just in time for the Chicago nomination. The Copperheads wanted a candidate—and here he is, fresh from the British soil. We hope they will take Vallandigham and McClellan. At present, their leaders are trying to get their Convention put off, for they are afraid to take up anybody to run against ABE AND ANBY!

Last week, during a thunder storm, the lightning struck a tree standing over a mine, near the Furness, and passed down its trunk to the ground, and through a hole into the mine, where it ran down a man's back and tore a hole of his shirt. He was stunned, and his back was burnt some. He walked to his home without assistance, and we are informed is doing well.—Middlebury Tribune.

The resignation of Fremont projects Gen. Butler to the third in rank of Major Generals, going by date of commission. It also leaves a vacancy in the regular army, which will probably be filled by the appointment of Gen. Sherman. The resignation of Gen. Buell also leaves a vacancy in the volunteer service, which will be filled by some worthy soldiers.

The Democratic Convention, which met at Indianapolis recently, denounced Gov. Bramlette, of Kentucky, scouted the idea of giving him a place on the Democratic Presidential ticket, and repudiated the claims of the Kentucky "Conservatives" to seats in the Chicago Convention.

Capt. Gaskin, of Shamokin, caught a live Copperhead snake, which he sent to the Sanitarium in Philadelphia, but they declined to receive it for fear of a "disturbance in the family." (By-the-way, where are all those vacant chairs who wore the Copperhead badges about a year ago now?)

The Miners Journal estimates that the consumers of coal will be taxed at least three millions of dollars this year, in consequence of the violence which prevailed last summer, and attributes the difficulties among the workmen to the Copperhead resistance to the draft.

The London Times says that there has been no such hard fighting in the history of the human race as that between Grant and Lee in Virginia. If it wants to see better fighting still let some one of the European nations interfere in the quarrel.

The South should remember that in Solomon's time she was the false mother who wished the child divided.
