UNION COUNTY STAR AND LEWISBURG CHRONICLE.

BY O. N. WORDEN AND J. R. CORNELIUS.

At $1.50 per Year, always in Advance.

LEWISBURG, UNION CO., PA., TUESDAY, JULY 12, 1864.

"THE UNION," established in 1814---Whole No. 2,677.

"CHRONICLE," established in 1843---Whole No., 1,056.

TO ARMS!

To Arms again!

The danger of invasion, against which our Government warned us, was not groundless, and men are needed!

Last Thursday night, the advance of the Rebel army was met at Frederick, and, after three attempts to enter it was gallantly driven back to the shelter of the mountain between that city and Hagerstown. On Friday and Saturday, however, the Rebel force in full, (concealed before) came on, driving our men before them, and taking the way towards Baltimore.

OUR RAILROAD CUT.

Saturday, no train went Southward from Harrisburg, and it is evident the game of 1861 is re-attempted—to isolate Baltimore and Washington. The railroad at Cockeysville is in the hands of the Rebels, who will come Northward as fast and as far as they can—(unless they have a mortal fear of another GETTYSBURG.)

A bold Game—Catch them!

Our attack upon their Capital, the Rebels deem it necessary to counteract, and thus they attempt this desperate move, in order to call away Grant's army. It is now, evidently, our chance, by falling upon their rear, to cut off this large Rebel force. They should never get back to Virginia. Let the East pour into Baltimore by rail and by sea—the North, to Harrisburg and Chambersburg—and Gen. Hunter and the West into Cumberland—and there seems a fair chance to surround, exhaust, and capture this forlorn hope of Rebeldom. It is evident, also, that they need supplies for their armies, from the way they plundered Hagerstown and elsewhere.

Reserves! 9 months' men! Discharged Volunteers!

You best understand the use of arms, and how to instruct new recruits. To you the country looks for leaders in this emergency. Every man must judge for himself whether he can and shall go—but the quicker the rally, from town and from country, from mountain and valley, the better.

One thousand men (with their own horses) are wanted, immediately, at Harrisburg.

HEAR THE GOVERNOR!

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
Harrisburg, Pa., July 10, 1864.

To the People of Pennsylvania.

I refer to my recent Proclamation, calling for troops, and the requisition of the President. You are not responding freely. The enemies of our Government are active in deterring you, and efforts have been made to dissuade you from the belief that any considerable Rebel force is in your vicinity, and many of our most loyal patriotic citizens have been thus deceived. Similar efforts were too successfully made, last year, at the moment when Lee's army was actually on your borders.

Dispatches have been this morning received, establishing the fact that Gen. Wallace, with ten thousand (10,000) men, was yesterday compelled to fall back from Frederick. He is believed to be in retreat towards Baltimore.

The communication between this point and Baltimore was cut, this morning by the Rebels, below Cockeysville.

The authorities of the United States, at Washington, are so impressed with the necessity of immediate efforts, that they have this morning, by Telegraph, authorized men to be mustered in by companies which they had yesterday peremptorily refused.

It is my duty to state to you the fact that your Country requires your immediate service, and the safety of your own soil and of our good neighbors in Maryland, may depend on your promptness.

Recollect that the mode of enlisting men is at the discretion of the Government, and is the duty of all to obey this requisition. It would be disgraceful to you to waste time in objecting to matters of form and detail, or to profess that you would go if called in some different way. Those who want an excuse for skulking, may do so, but all who desire to do their duty to their country, will scorn such subterfuges.

Turn, therefore, a deaf ear to all mischievous suggestions from any quarter. Do not lend yourselves to a betrayal of your country. Come forward, like men, to aid her. The Rebel forces will be easily defeated and driven away, if you do your duty, and I pray God so to enlighten you that the honor of the Commonwealth may be maintained. A. G. CURTIN.

BALTIMORE, July 9—3, P. M.

Our forces have evacuated Frederick, retired in this direction, and now occupy a position south of the Monocacy.

The rebels occupy Frederick, but in what force is not positively known. Reports say 12,000, and that they are commanded by Breckinridge.

There are reports that another Rebel force has crossed the Potomac near Edwards' Ferry, and have moved in the direction of Urbanna, but in what force is not known. This is supposed to be an effort to flank us.

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—The Bulletin has a special from Gen. Hancock, stating that Ewell's, Breckinridge's and Rhodes' corps are on this side of the Potomac.

Troops have reached Baltimore from Grant's army, doubtless.

Nothing from Harrisburg up to noon of Monday.

From the Front.

NEAR PETERSBURG, July 2.

We are in sight of Petersburg, getting closer, and are better prepared to resist attacks. We are impregnable, as the Rebels learn to their sorrow. Gen. Wilson, about whom we had some fears, came in this morning, all right, and had done good service. We are getting some large guns in position, and then you will hear from us in thunder tones. Best of spirit prevails throughout the army, and all are satisfied that we will win. It will take time, but be not alarmed.

It is dreadful hot, here—no rain for over a month past—our soldiers suffer, and many get sick, when we send them North.

My friends must excuse me for not writing to them—for I have not time.

You have no idea of the amount of good the Sanitary Commission is doing, everywhere—in our hospitals, in the field, yes, their agents even go up to the very rifle pits, in sight of the enemy, and distribute their lemons, pickels, tomatoes, sourkrout, onions, &c., by the thousand pounds. We could not do without the Commissions. I speak from experience, when I say they are doing nobly for our sick and wounded. T. S. C.

He will not Run.

For a time, ULYSSES S. GRANT suffered from the praise of suspicious politicians—men who hindered our government much as they could, yet professed an anxiety to make the government's ablest warrior, a candidate for President—provided that he continued successful, and provided they had no hope with a candidate of their own stripe. Their only principle is, "anybody to beat Abe Lincoln and get the offices."

Of late, they have changed their tune: they cease to praise Grant—they say he has done nothing—that Lee is greatly his superior—and belittle him all they can.

The reason of this is the fact, as alleged, that he has positively refused to be their candidate—he will be no one's candidate for anything until Rebellion is crushed—least of all will he run against his friend and patron, Abraham Lincoln!

Patriotic man! "On that line," single eyed, he "moves on the enemy's works" until they are made harmless. With no personal or partizan malice—regardless of self interest—how immeasurably he towers above such "goreheads" as M'Clellan, Fremont, Cochran, and Buel!

Kear-sar-ge,

(With accent on the sar,) is the highest of the White Mountains within the State of New Hampshire. Of Indian origin, the euphonious name is doubly honored by being bestowed upon the Yankee built and Yankee manned vessel which sunk to ocean's depths, in fair fight, the piratical Alabama. The latter was English built and English manned, but officered by Rebels, who had cowardly assailed unarmed vessels only, and only came out for a trial of strength because the French government refused longer to shelter the perfidious wretches in her harbor. The English vessel, Deerhound, was alongside the Alabama—apparently as an ally—and having assisted Semmes and his comrades in escaping, the question arises whether those men are not really our prisoners, to be delivered up on the demand of our government. The clean and complete victory, within sight of the English coast, was a great damper to Rebel sympathizers (who, however, feasted Semmes, helped him over to France, and promise him a new ship.) Honor to the Kear-SAR ge!

Profuse Expenditures.

The German Reformed Messenger, of Chambersburg, has a timely article on the prevailing "Spirit of Speculation and Reckless Expenditure." It very correctly says that the prevalence of money in some quarters is merely that of borrowed funds—in other words, it is a debt for our posterity to pay. It is necessary for the nation to obtain means to pay for its existence. But we must pay for it, and should not abuse that obligation.

Speculation proper is always of questionable morality, and these gold speculators are atrocious gamblers, who should be excluded from churches and shunned by all good society.

Reckless living is also improper. If honest money flows in, use it for charitable and benevolent purposes, and not for vain show, or by bad examples to tempt others. So dispose of all means as to be of real present and future benefit, to yourselves and to others. Let professed Christians, in all these matters, be worthy of the name of "lights in the world."

☞On the 6th inst, the Warriorsmark ladies gave a sumptuous dinner, in a grove near the edge of town, to the returned Co. I, 5th Pa. Reserves. The spectators were numerous, there was martial music, singing by the ladies, and welcoming speeches from Rev. J. A. Demoyer, Rev. Geo. Guyer, Mr. Thad. Stevens, and Dr. Harvey.

Edwin D. James is an estimable citizen of Philadelphia, who seeks and holds no office, and whose name even is not connected with the business firm of which he is a member. In his absence, friends voted him the splendid Union Vase at the late Central Fair.

Honoring Magistrates

Is an injunction of divine authority. It is sustained by the best of reasons, and is regarded by the wise and the virtuous, everywhere. Men may disapprove of the measures of those rightfully in power, and yet respect their persons and their office.

The Chief Magistrate of the United States was fairly, legally elected to that station. Without ordinary advantages of education, without wealth, without influential friends—only his personal worth, as testified to by those who know him best, could have made him what he is. He has sustained his most arduous responsibility so well, in a three years' resistance against the Slave Aristocracy's war, that the great Union party has unanimously nominated him for re-election. No man living has more prayers offered in his behalf—none has more friends throughout the civilized, liberty loving world—than ABRAHAM LINCOLN. It is to this honored personage that the last Sunbury Democrat applies the following language:

"The charm which Abolitionism threw around the smutty old buffoon of the White House, is broken. To affix the word 'honest' to his name, can no longer deceive the people. One might as well call a toad beautiful, or a snake lovely, or a dazzling piece of lead, or a brilliant chunk of mud. A MORE TREACHEROUS, DECEITFUL, AND DISHONEST BUFFOON, PERHAPS NEVER LIVED."

The editor of that paper claims to be a gentleman and a christian, and as one of the law-makers of the State has sworn to support the National constitution. Many read his paper and no other.

Engaged as is the President in sustaining the nation in its terrible struggle for life, the officer should be honored and encouraged when (as now) asking men to complete the overthrow of intestine foes. But that editor seeks, by vile vituperation of the officer, to palsy his efforts.

Mr. Purdy may honestly question the constitutionality and expediency of some of the measures—measures, however, that the loyal people have once endorsed, and probably will again approve—which the President has felt compelled to put forth to save the country from the Rebels who seek its destruction. But it by no means follows that (even if he has erred) Abraham Lincoln is as "treacherous, deceitful, and dishonest," as Judas Iscariot or Benedict Arnold!

Mr. Lincoln, when a child, imbibed the speech peculiarities of slaveholders—had to work hard for a living—was not polished off by a dancing master—like Washington and Jackson, was never outside of the United States—and therefore confessedly lacks some of the graces and conventional fashions which the aristocracy, North and South, demand. Fresh from the ranks of the people, he is a plain people's man... and yet, in true dignity, manly bearing, and correctness of speech, he is immeasurably above his assailants.

—After reading the above most vile, uncalled-for attack upon the honored head of our great Republic, we had curiosity to see its opinion of Jefferson Davis, the chief of the military usurpation which is now deluging our land in blood. We find a very fierce, vulgar attack upon Abraham Lincoln—but not one word do we observe, in that "Democrat," against Jeff. Davis. As the two antagonize, defaming Lincoln is virtually upholding Davis. And yet, before the world, Davis stands accused of five heinous crimes—

1st, Ingratitude. He strikes at the heart of the mother who gave him life, military education, honor and power to perform.

2d, Miscegenation. A natural son of his by a slave woman is in the Union service on the Mississippi.

3d, Repudiation. He was a leader in the grand slaveholders' swindling of the North and Europe, 25 years ago.

4th, Perjury. He has openly violated his oaths of fidelity to the Federal Union.

5th, Rebellion. He has fomented and directed the most uncalled for, unnatural, and bloody revolt the world over saw.

Against such a being, the Democrat has no word—but it seeks to prejudice, by the harshest epithets, all its readers against the pure, well disposed, lawful President! Is such an editor, in a time like this, honest and true to the country?

Honorary Substitutes.

The Government proposes to give ladies, and gentlemen not subject to military duty, a chance to enrol themselves, by proxy, among the defenders of their country. Every one furnishing a SUBSTITUTE, under certain terms, to have an engraved certificate of that fact, as a lasting memorial of their efforts.

In Lewisburg, in Union county, all over the North, are men and women who can procure one or more substitutes, for this object. Committees might proceed to the States in rebellion and enlist contrabands, or men disposed for service at home may be engaged. It seems to us this is a practical and attractive mode of aiding the great cause in this crisis.

☞We learn of quite a number of recruits coming forward, in our county, under the late alarm, but can not say positively when they will leave for service. Let no one, inclined to go, wait to be called on, but make for some head-quarter as soon as may be.

P.S. Capt. M'Call expects to start this (Tuesday) morning with a full Company.

☞Misses Belle Vorse and Eliza Houghton started, yesterday morning, as nurses to the Nashville Hospitals.

☞We are told Charles Crotzer is not among the captured of 184th P. V.

Dr. Tobias' Venitian Liniment.

MORE TESTIMONY!—This is to certify that for the last five years I have used in my family Dr. Tobias' celebrated Venitian Liniment, and in every instance have found it equal to his recommendations. I have found it to give almost instantaneous relief in cases of toothache, croup, bilious colic, sore throat, pain in the chest and back, and rheumatism. I cheerfully commend its trial to every one afflicted with any of the above named diseases. JAMES H. WARNER.

$25 REWARD!

STOLEN from a stable near Bainbridge on the night of the 27th ult. a LARGE BAY MARE, about 12 years old. She is very hollow backed, up headed, and long switch tail which she carries off to one side when she travels. A reward of $25 will be paid for the mare and apprehension of the thief, or $15 for information which may lead to the recovery of the mare. Inquire, at Lewisburg, of KREMER, LONG & CO.

GRIFFIN'S PATENT

Glass Jars and Glass Covers,

FOR preserving FRUITS in a perfectly fresh state. They require no Wax, Solder, or Cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable, and uncertain in sealing. Being made entirely of glass, these avoid the objections to other jars where tin or other metal is used in the covers. For sale in Lewisburg, only by
