MOSES AND THE OPPRESSED. Bilrring Address of Gaveraur Johnson,

Andrew Johnson's speech to the colored prople of Nashville, on the 24th ult., is fully reported by a correspondent of the Cincionatti Gazette, who says that part of the Governor's speech wherein he described and demounced the aristocracy of Nashville, I can not hope to render properly; but there was one paint which I must not overlook. He spoke as follows:

"The representatives of this corrupt, this damnable aristocracy, taunt us with our desire to see justice done, and charge us with favoring negro equality. Of all living men, they should be last to mouth that phrase ; and, even when uttered in their hearing, it should cause their cheeks to tinge and burn with shame. Negro slong the sidewalks of High street, where these aristocrats, (whose sons are now in the bands of guerrillas and cut throats who prowl, and rob, and murder around our city) pass by their dwellings, I say, and you will see as many mulatto as negro children, the former bearing an unmistakable resemblance to their aristocracy owners !"

"Colored men of Tennessee !' This, too, shall cease. Your wives and daughters shall no longer be dragged into a concutinage, compared to which polygamy is a virtue, to satisfy the brutal lusts of slaveholders and overseers! Henceforth, the sanctity of God's holy law of marriage shall be respected in your pershall no more give her satetion to your degredation and your shame !"
