THE SHIP OF STATE.

BY HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

Thou, too, sail on, O Ship of State! Sail on, O I nion, strong and great! Humanity, with all its fears, With all the hopes of future years, Is hanging, breathless, on thy fate! We know what masters laid thy keel, What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel, Who made each most, and sail, and rope, What anvils rang, what hammers beat, In what fierce forge and what a heat Were shaped the anchors of thy hope. Fear not each sudden sound and shock-It is the wave, and not the rock : Tis but the flapping of the sail, And not a rent made by the gale! In spite of rocks and tempests' roar, lu spite of false lights on the shore, Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea! Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears, Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,

Are all with thee -are all with thee ! We Never Drink.

On the stage, were seven or eight seldiers of the 8th Maine-civil, well behaved, intelligent men, as their conversation testified. While at she stage house in Lincoln, there came into the office door a blind old man, slowly feeling his way with a cane. He approached the soldiers and said, in the gentlest tones: "Boys, I hear you belong to the 8th regiment. I have a son in that regiment." "What is his name?"

"John -"O yes, we know him well. He was a sergeant in our company. We always liked him."

"Where is he, now?" "He is now a Lieutenant in a Colored Regiment, and a prisoner at Charleston." For a moment, the old man did not venture to reply; but at last, slowly and endly, he said :

"I feared as much. I have not heard of him for a long time." They did not wait for another word, but these soldiers took from their wallets a sum of money amounting to twenty dollars, and offered it to the old man, saying: "If our whole company were here, we could give you a bundred dollars." The old man replied : "Boys, you must put it in my wallet for me, for I am blind."

They did so, and mark what followed. An individual in the room, who had looked on this scene, as I had, with feelings of pride in our citizen soldiers, immedistely advanced and said :

"Boys, this is a handsome thing, and I want you should drink with me-I stand the treat for the company."

I waited with interest for the reply. It "No, sir; we thank you kindly, and

A. H. Stephens and the Sons of Liberty. Before the Military Commission at In-dispapolis on Friday, Horace Hefferson testined that in the Supreme Council of the Sons of Liberty held at Chicago, all the States North and South were represented but five, two of the five being Florida and South Carolina. A meeting of the Order was held at Chicago during the Democratic Convention, for the purpose of concentrating votes enough to defeat M'Ciellan's nomination. Vice President Stephens, of the Confederacy, went to Nassau from Wilmington last summer, to arrange with Commissioners from the HOSIERY FOR FACTORIES. Some time last summer, a man called at Galena, with a small box con taining Greek fire, shells, and hand grenades, professing to be from Kentucky, and a member of the Order. He recognized the hand grenade from the nipple when he first saw it in Court. These things were to be used to destroy the Government property. He also had the ritual of the first degree of the Order. This man wanted to know if the witness had not seen this Greek fire and hand grenades, and said that is what destroyed the Government stores at Louisville and
