Harmstone, Jan. 8, 1861.

Bet. Gazette: The Republicans of both House stole a mirch upon the Democrate this morning by emolving to go into joint session to hear read the Proclamation of President Andrew Jackson against the South Carolisa Nullifiers in 1832. The centhing officers of the Seccessionists in that Ravolation, and the bold ground it takes against the right of Seccession, ware not pleanant reading to our Democratic in 1832, but are not now.

Shortly afterward the two Houses met in joint convention for the election of U. S. Sensior. Yor kave succived the vote by telegraph, and i need not repeat. Reary member of both Houses was present is his sent.

The House transacted only routine business, after the laws, or Constitution of the United States, and if so to report by hill or otherwise.

Mr. Welda (dem.) said the Judiciary Committee was composed exclusively of Republicians, and he insisted that the inquiry should go to a Special Committee, on which the Democrate should be repeated by the Republicant—only Tappat, with the Santa that the inquiry was unnessearry, as the insisted that the inquiry men unnessearry, as the insisted that the inquiry was unnessearry, as the industry of the Employment the resolution, in this Seaste that there was any such laws on the station of the Seaste that there was any such laws on the station of the Seaste that there was any such laws on the station of the Seaste that there was any such laws on the station of the Seaste that there was any such laws on the station of the Seaste that there was any such laws on the station of the Seas

Mr. Weld moved to amend by referring to 2.1. We recommend holding a Convention at Committee of five. Lost by a tie vote, as follows:
