dered the post of Secretary of the Treasury, by President Lincoln, and has accepted the post ed bim.

There is an emigent finess in this appointmen Gen. Cameron possesses, in a high degrae, the en-ergy, the business capacity, and the financial skill every to success in that department of the Government, and he will redeem that branch from the bloguy so long resting upon it. His wide sequaintance with the capitalist is of the country, combined with the confidence they repose in his judgmen and his varied experience as a public man, especially qualify him for the place. He will find the Treasury mpty, the credit of the government low, the natio ply in debt, and its finances in almost inextricadeeply in debt, and its finances in almost inertrica-ble confusion; but with the new administration a new order of things will begin; and his untiring severy and skill, in conjunction with the new confi-dence the public will feel in the changed aspect of affairs, will serve once more to restore the exhauste treasury of the country to its former healthy condi-tion. Gen. CANERON received the almost unanimous endorsement of the State Convention which assem-bled at Harrisburg, on the 22d of February, 1860, and his selection for the post tandered him has been urged upon the President elect by the public men of the State with a unabinity as thorough and cordial as that with which he was undersed for the Presi dancy. In selecting him for this post, the Presi elect has but followed the unerring indications o public sentiment throughout the Commonwealth. There were many men in Pennsylvania who hesitated at supporting him for the Presidency, but who will acknowledge the great propriety o heitated it supporting him for the Presidency, perto any concession - My storney him for the presidency, if Peraidency, if Per for peace.
