PITTSBURGH:

THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 17, 1861.

HON. JOHN M. BUTLER.—The examination of witnesses and the count of the ballot boxes in the contested election case between JOHN M. BUTLER and WM. E. LEHMAN, growing out of the late election for Congressman in the First Congressional District of this State, have been concluded. The testimony in all in, the ballot boxes have been recounted, and the evidence elicited from both is ready for the examination of the next House of Representatives, of whose decision there can be little doubt.

It will be recollected that JOHN M. BUTLER was the Republican and WM. E. LEHMAN the Democratic candidate for Congress in that district. The newspaper reports of the election showed Mr. Lehman to have a small majority; but when the return Judges met, it was found that the return from the Fourth ward did not correspond with the published figures, and that it elected JOHN M. BUTLER by about 200 maj.

A cry was at once raised that this return was a forgery. The precinct locofoco judges declared that their names to the return were forged. Byerly, the return Judge, although a leading Breckinridge Democrat, was arrested, tried, convicted upon the evidence of the precinct Judges, and sentenced to the Penitentiary; and the democratic press throughout the State at once tried to implicate Mr. BUTLER in the alleged forgery.

At that time we undertook to express our thorough conviction, not only that Mr. Butler was honestly elected, but that he had acted throughout the part of an honest, upright, high-minded and honorable man. The locofoco press, however, took the opposite ground, and even many Republican papers thought themselves engaged in a magnanimous act in denouncing the whole thing as a fraud, leaving the odium of it to fasten upon the good name of Mr. Butler.

Time, however, has demonstrated that Mr. BUTLER has been most unjustly subjected to reproach. The investigation has clearly shown that he was fairly and honestly elected. The recount of the ballot-box, made in the presence of Mr. Lehman's counsel, elects Mr. Butler by over 200 majority. Included in this majority was the recount of a box alleged by Mr. Lehman to be the wrong one, being the box of the ninth instead of the seventh precinct of the 4th ward, the latter being the one ordered to be recounted. But, even excluding this, as a mistake, which Mr. BUTLER denies, the recount elects him by 44 majority.

This count Mr. Lehman was unable to break down. He could bring no evidence to shake it or throw a doubt upon it, and we may therefore regard the election of Mr. Butler as practically conceded.

One remarkable fact was brought out by this investigation. The recount tallies, almost to a vote, with the return handed in by Byerly at the meeting of the Return Judges, while it, in but few instances, squares with that sworn to by the precinct judges. It thus turns out that the returns sworn to by the precinct judges are forgeries, whilst that sworn to by them as a forgery, is true.

We are not concerned, however, in vindicating or criminating Byerly. We leave that to other hands. His locofoco friends who have pursued him so bitterly will perhaps see that justice is done him.

But we are glad that the investigation has cleared the skirts of our old and valued friend BUTLER. It has shown him to be like the Chevalier Bayard, sans peur et sans reproche. Not a particle of evidence was adduced, on the trial of Byerly, to show that Mr. BUTLER was in the least implicated in the alleged forgery; and this subsequent and thorough overhauling of the whole affair, has triumphantly vindicated him against all suspicion or imputation. It has demonstrated him to be not only the Congressman elect, but a gentleman of unblemished and exalted integrity. Thus justice, though slow, is sure.

THE PROTECTION OF WASHINGTON CITY.—In spite of the laughter and jeers with which the information was at first received, of a plot on the part of the Secessionists to take possession of Washington City prior to the fourth of March, there remains now no doubt of the existence of such a plot, and but little that a determined attempt to put the plot into active operation is to be made.

The great hope and aim of the Secessionists is to get possession of Washington City and make it the seat of government of the new Southern Confederacy. They expect to accomplish two purposes by this—first, to give their rebellious movement the appearance of being a continuation of the present government, and second, to prevent the archives from falling into the hands of the Republicans and so effectually smother the exposure of robberies and villainies otherwise sure to be made.

It is of as much importance to the Republicans to defeat the consummation of this plot, as it is to the Secessionists to put it in operation. But it is to be remembered that they have all the advantages on their side. They are on the spot in large numbers and can easily be reinforced, whilst the North is slow to move, is not yet fully convinced of the plot, and is doing nothing to prevent its success. If, therefore, the villainous scheme is to be counteracted, it is time that the North should wake to the reality, and to the difficulties to be overcome. We must at once lay aside the pooh-poohing spirit, which ridicules the danger as an imaginary one, and act with a due regard to the deep interests at stake.

The programme now is to rush Virginia into Secession before the 4th of March—by the middle of February, if possible; force Maryland to follow her, immediately; prevent the counting of Electoral votes in joint session of the two Houses on the second Tuesday in February and so defeat the formal announcement of his election; seize the seat of government; declare the Southern Confederacy established; and then defy the inauguration of Lincoln in that city on the appointed day.

Gen. Scott woke early to the imminence of the danger involved in this conspiracy, and has been acting diligently to prevent it. But he has had very feeble backing from the government, and is not, therefore, as thoroughly prepared against the conspiracy as he should be. If Washington were alive, as it ought to be, and it must be, with Northern men possessed of strong arms and resolute hearts, more than half the difficulty would be overcome. Shall not the gallant old Commander-in-chief be reinforced?

It is not necessary that the North should, in view of this danger, echo with alarms, bristle with bayonets, and tremble beneath the tread of armed bands. There is no need for a mustering of recruits nor for warlike demonstrations. All that is now needed is to awake to a full and realizing sense of the impending difficulty, and be ready for such a manifestation of power, if the hour of trial should come, as will be overwhelming.

[Special Correspondence of the Daily Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15, 1861.

Eds. Gazette: The inauguration absorbed all the interest to-day, and but little was done in either House.

In the House, Mr. Lichtenwallner, (Dem.) of Lehigh, introduced resolutions deprecating the arming of the State until the President calls upon us for help, or the State is in danger of invasion. These Democrats are very much afraid of putting the State in an effective armed condition.

Mr. Williams read in place an act to incorporate the Masonic Hall Association of East Liberty.

Mr. Patterson read in place a bill to reduce the State Tax to two mills.

Senate bill to authorise the appointment of an additional Notary Public in the borough of Washington, was passed and has gone to the Governor.

The Senate resolutions concerning the Union coming up, Mr. Williams withdrew his amendment, in order to allow a direct vote upon Mr. Randall's amendment. The resolutions were continued as the special order.

Mr. Hook, (Dem.) introduced resolutions in favor of restoring the Missouri Compromise. Laid over.

In the Senate, nothing was done beyond the presentation of a few petitions and some routine business of no importance.

The Inauguration ceremonies occupied about an hour. The day was cold and raw, but the crowd was so great that it was found absolutely necessary to hold the ceremonies out of doors. Several thousands of people congregated in front of the Capitol, standing in the snow and slush, and feeling, no doubt, very uncomfortable, but maintaining their position unflinchingly. The military display was very fine.

The Inaugural gives very general satisfaction. Many think that the part about our alleged obnoxious State legislation might have been made milder without injury to the document, and that it might have been improved by speaking in a bolder and more uncompromising tone to the defiant threats of the South; but it may be better, all things considered, as it is.

The speech of Mr. Williams, in the House, yesterday, is still the topic of general conversation. Its bold, unyielding, uncompromising tone commands general approval. In spite of the rapping of the Speaker's mallet, the thronged galleries broke into frequent applause, as the orator spoke against all further compromises, and in favor of employing the whole force of the government to put down rebellion. Had the administration, he said, acted boldly, at first, instead of admitting fear to its counsels, the present difficulties would not, could not exist. The Union, in consequence of the fear which had paralyzed the administration, would now have to be reconstructed by the admission of conquered provinces; and the shedding of a little blood, now, might save oceans hereafter.

Washington's Birthday.

Messrs. Editors:—Already the cropping out of plans for the celebration of this occasion, verifies anew the beautiful sentiment which, recognising Washington to have been "first in peace," pronounces him to be now, as then, "first in the hearts of his countrymen."

The celebration of such national holidays tends certainly to cultivate and quicken the patriotism of the citizen. And it is therefore important, that the manner of this observance should be such, as that all who love their country and venerate the character of a model patriot and statesman, will heartily join in the festivities of the occasion. Hitherto, however, it has not unfrequently happened that our civic and military gala-days have been so conducted as to exclude a large class of citizens who would gladly take part alike in the care and enjoyment furnished, were it not that such participation must be purchased at the expense of deep laid convictions of right. And now in the foreshadowed plan for the 22d prox., there is contemplated, according to the papers, a dance and supper, where Catawba, Champagne and Sherry, are expected to flow more free by far than the Senate adjourned as told Hon. Preston King that Maryland was ready for civil war if Senator Crittenden's resolutions were defeated by the Republican vote.

The militia field officers for the district of Columbia, recently appointed, were commissioned today by the President.

Senators from the seceding States will not resign, but will only withdraw and claim that the Ordinance of Secession severs their connection with the Government. As the Senate will not recognise secession it leaves them still members, occupying prominent positions on important committees. The Republican Senators are now considering what to do in this connection, as ordinarily the absence of members does not justify the filling up of committees.
