Horticultural Society.

An interesting meeting of the Pittsburgh Horticultural Society was held this morning, at their rooms, on Fifth street. President Knox was in the chair, and B. L. Bingwalt, Secretary.

The following articles were placed on exhibition, and attracted no unusual amount of attention:

Mr. Knox—Several bunches of Catawba, and two or three bunches of Isabella grapes. These were just as fresh and plump looking as though they had been from the vine within an hour. They created no little surprise, and when Mr. Knox was asked how they had been kept, he stated that he could not give a satisfactory answer, as they had been handed to him by his gardener a few moments before he left his residence. There was not the slightest appearance of shrivelling, and the flavor had not been appreciably deteriorated. Mr. Knox promised to make inquiry as to how they had been preserved, and to report to the Society.

The same gentleman exhibited three varieties of apple—the Rambo, the largest we have ever seen, and very fine; the House apple, and Knox's Russet. The latter is an new seedling, and is thought to be a cross between the Rambo and the common Russet. It is a small apple, very compact, and partakes of the mildness of the Rambo, with much of the character and flavor of the Russet, without its acidity. Mr. Knox has been honored with the name, by the Ohio Pomological Society. The variety of apple should be extensively propagated, as it is one of the finest we have ever tasted.

Samples of Rochelle Blackberry and Currant jelly, presented by Mr. Knox, were much admired, but these are rather for the ladies, and altogether out of the line of editors.

Mr. Knox also exhibited samples of domestic wines, made from the Rochelle Blackberry and the Currant. These were thoroughly tasted, and pronounced of excellent flavor.

A beautiful shrub, the Azalea, in full bloom, with four varieties of out flowers of the same, were presented by Mr. Knox, and very much admired. They were a Chinese Princess, very beautiful; and a Strawberry plant, in full bloom, of the Trompbe De Grand Duke, very fine.

Mr. Stadelberg—This gentleman exhibited varieties of the Spitzenberg and Peck's Pleasant apples. They were in very fine condition.

Also, two samples of wine—Raspberry and Strawberry, two years old. These were both of light body, beautiful color, and excellent flavor.

Mr. Russell—This gentleman exhibited a sample of wine, of very rare quality, and exceedingly pleasant to the taste. It was made from the Delaware, a large and juicy berry well known to every farmer. This wine was seven years old, and was pronounced very fine by those who tasted it.

Miss Jones—A lot of luscious looking Peaches, said which would have elicited the unqualified admiration of the ladies, was presented by this gentleman. They were preserved in Mason's patent jar, and can be seen for a few days in the window of Rudd's jewelry store, on Fifth street.

Mr. Cummings exhibited a very beautiful hand bouquet, which we think could not be excelled at this season of the year.

An informal discussion followed upon the prospects of the fruit crops for the coming season, but it was regarded as rather too early to take up the subject. At the next meeting of the Society something important may be developed, touching the fruit prospects.

It is proposed to make the subsequent meetings of the Society as interesting as possible. The next meeting will be held on the first Wednesday of March, and a general attendance is very desirable.

Old Abe's Whiskers—Why he Raised Them.

It is well known that all the campaign lithographers of Mr. Lincoln represented him as beardless, and he was universally regarded as anything else than handsome in feature. It never occurred to any of Mr. Lincoln's male friends and advisers that his facial appearance could be improved by the cultivation of whiskers, but all who saw the portly President elect in this city, were happily disappointed in finding that he was not so ugly after all, and some of the ladies went even so far as to suggest that he was positively handsome. All agreed that he could peep into a looking glass without the least danger of meeting his match in physiognomical improvement was by common consent attributed to his beard, which he seems to have been carefully cultivating for some months past. It may be that the people of the West are much better looking than his photographers represented him, but be this as it may, everybody expected to see "the ugliest man alive," being disappointed they could say that the hollow cheeks and rough projections of countenance were filled up and softened down by the hirsute covering.

Why did Mr. Lincoln raise whiskers? This delicate question, perhaps should not be asked, but an incident lately transpired which "let the cat out of the bag," and we may be pardoned for repeating it here, especially as the ladies are interested. The incident is as follows:

Fabius, N. Y., in acknowledging a call from those who had assembled to greet him, Mr. Lincoln remarked that he had received a letter from a little girl in that place, begging him to let his whiskers grow, as she thought it would improve his appearance. She promised him if he would do so she would try and persuade her big brothers, who were Democrats, to vote for him. He had adopted her suggestion, and he would like to know if she was present to witness with her own eyes the great improvement in his looks. Some one answered 'Yes,' and a pretty little of about twelve summers was tearfully led forward and presented to him. He descended from the platform of the car, and kissed her. This incident created quite a sensation, particularly among the ladies Fabius.

The Removal of the Supreme Judges.

The anticipation now is that Hon. Thomas Williams, of this county, will present his "address" for the removal of the Supreme Judges, and his formal charges within a fortnight. The Harrisburg correspondent of the Philadelphia North American says: "This matter will attract as much attention, excitement, criticism and discussion as any public event which has happened in the legislative history of the State. Although this is not a regular impeachment, yet it requires two-thirds. The State Constitution provides two modes for their removal: one is a regular impeachment by the House and an arraignment of them before the bar of the Senate; and the other by an address voted by two thirds of the Legislature to the Governor, who shall thereupon remove them. This address may be voted for any reasonable cause not sufficient for impeachment."

Cross Suits.—On Saturday last Wesley Ray, of Sharpsburg, preferred a charge of assault and battery against Mrs. Magdalen Walters, who he alleged struck his wife with a wash bowl, tore her dress, and abused her generally. Mrs. Walters then brought a charge of cruelty of the peace against Ray. She says that he came into her house one day last December and threatened to kill her or any one that chanced to be in the house, and that she was afraid he would do her some injury, either in person or property. Magdalen's husband, John Walters, entered a similar complaint against Ray, alleging that he threatened to kill him with an axe. The case was before Justice Scribe, of Reserve tp., and the parties all gave bail to appear at Court.

Notice to Coal Miners.—We have received a communication from the coal diggers of West Middlesex, Mercer county, requesting us to notify all coal miners to keep away from that place, "on account of the employers notifying the men who live in the company's houses to vacate immediately because the men object to signing a document to leave their premises on ten days' notice—the men refusing to sign the article because it is not according to law."

For Kansas.—Mayor Wilson acknowledges the following additional sums, in aid of the Kansas sufferers:

Temperance Lodge, A. F. A.	$15.00
J. H. Sweet,	5.00
A. Mackrell,	1.00
A. Citizen,	10.00
M. R. Trevor,	5.00

Patent Oil Drill.—A gentleman of Marietta, Ohio, has invented a patent drill and sand pump, for the benefit of oil diggers. At each stroke the drill farns itself about one-third of an inch, the valves of the sand pump opening at the same time to receive the dirt. Such an invention will undoubtedly be valuable just now when everybody is crazy for oil.

Fire and Marine Insurance.—We present our readers this morning the annual statement of the Springfield Fire and Marine Insurance Co., of Springfield, Mass., for which Mr. R. C. Loomis, No. 59 Wood street, is agent in this city. The capital and surplus of this Company is over $400,000, invested in good sick securities, which can be seen by a reference to the detailed statements in another column.

Oil in Monroe County, O.—The oil fever has broken out in the vicinity of McConnellsville, Morgan county, Ohio. Several companies are forming and a number of Pittsburghers are taking stock.

Coffin Manufactory.—The number of deaths in this city for the week ending February 16th, were 42 Males, 35 Females; 11 Adults, 15 Children, 10 Males, 11 Females. Total, 81. There were no deaths from diphtheria reported.

Recovery of an Abducted Child.

Last fall, a girl named Elizabeth Johnston, residing in Washington, Pa., gave birth to an illegitimate child—the father being a young man named N. H. M. Pollock. In a few weeks, the father persuaded her to wean the child and nourish it with a bottle. She consented to this, not being aware of his intentions. When a favorable opportunity presented itself, Pollock spirited the child away, which was evidently his purpose when he induced the mother to wean it. Vigorous search was made for the child, but it could no where be found, and Pollock was subsequently arrested and held to bail to answer a charge of abduction.

A day or two since, District Attorney Miller obtained information to the effect that the little abductee was in the keeping of a woman in the Eighth Ward, in this city, and he accordingly notified the mother of the fact. In company with her brother, she visited this city, and after securing the services of an officer, they repaired to the place designated, and made a demand for the child. The woman of the house denied that she had any babe in her keeping, but presently the infant gave the lie to her assertion by stating up the equall in an upper room. The officer and the mother were soon up stairs, and the long lost babe was once more in its mother's arms. There was no mistake as to its identity, as she found upon it several articles of clothing which she had made with her own hands.

It appears that young Pollock has married since he stole away the child, and his intention was evidently to take charge of it himself in due time. The mother is determined not to give it up, however, and she will guard it with an eagle eye hereafter.

Heavy Verdict Against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Sarah Vandever, widow of John Vandever, deceased, has just recovered a verdict of $2,500 against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, for damages sustained by the killing of her husband, in December, 1857. Vandever took passage on the cars at Philadelphia, for Parkersburg, where he resided. Soon after, he was called upon by the conductor for his ticket, but he produced no ticket, alleging that he had paid his fare. He was soon after forcibly ejected from the cars, and being somewhat intoxicated, he fell, his hat rolling down a steep embankment. He was picked up, showed where his hat could be found, and this duly proceeded on its way. He walked part way down the bank, then his speed increased; and he fell head foremost among some large stones at the foot, just as the train passed out of sight. Not long afterwards he was found lying at the foot of the bank; taken to a stable across the railroad, and left there till the next morning; was then removed to a house, where he remained till the following morning, when he was taken home. No physician was called till he reached home. He died about a week afterwards. The case was tried before Judge Hates, of Chester county, a year ago, when the plaintiff recovered $1,250 damages. The Railroad Company appealed to the Supreme Court, where the judgment was reversed, on the ground of a want of a distinct direction to the jury as to the measure of damages, and a new trial awarded. Upon this trial the jury gave a verdict of $2,500 damages.

Court of Common Pleas.

District Court.

Wednesday, Feb. 20.—Before Judge Hampton.

The third suit by the City of Allegheny against Darlington has not yet been concluded.

Signor Britt, Jr., is fast becoming a great favorite with the people of Pittsburgh. He gives an entertainment at Lafayette Hall this day and this evening, at Lafayette Hall. His tricks are many of them new, and are performed with admirable skill, filling the beholder with astonishment. The learned Canary Bird, Jacko, with wonderful feats at each exhibition. The hall was well filled with ladies and children yesterday afternoon, and all were delighted with the wizard's performances. Remember that he gives exhibitions every afternoon and evening during this week.

Diphtheria has ceased to be fatal in this community, and no deaths have been reported here from that cause for some time. It still lingers in other parts of the State, however, and numerous deaths have occurred. In parts of Somerset county it prevails to an alarming extent. The whole family of a child died of Mr. Absalom Yoder, of Milford township, was carried to the grave last week. Scarcely one that have been attacked in the infected neighborhood have recovered.

Accident.—A farmer named Duncan, residing fourteen miles distant in the country, met with a serious accident on Tuesday evening, near the Allegheny city line. He was driving in a load of hay, and, encountering a cinder pile near Schirmer's grapery, his hay was upset. His wife was on the load, and sustained a fracture of a limb, besides being badly bruised.

Another Eagle Shot.—James H. Howard, of Somerset township, Somerset county, recently shot a fine gray eagle, which measured seven feet three inches from tip to tip. We fear our sportsmen will soon succeed in exterminating this proud bird, which looks much nobler on his native crag than the glimpses we get of him in Fourth of July orations, or other "spread-eagle" occasions.

Theatrical Opening.—The theatre will be opened on the evening of the 2d of March, by the lessee, Mr. W. Henderson, who has just returned from the east, where he had gone for the purpose of selecting a new stock company. Mr. James E. Murdoch, the great tragedian, has been engaged for the opening.

A Good Suggestion.—Unusual preparations are making for properly celebrating the approaching anniversary of the birth of Washington, and a paper is now being circulated, signed by many of our principal business men, agreeing to close their stores on that day. We hope this suggestion will meet with general approval.

Dr. Wendell, of Boston, the renowned "American Samson," has been engaged by the Pittsburgh Gymnastic Association to deliver a Lecture at Concert Hall, Fifth street, on Saturday evening next, on the "Advantages of Physical Training," practically illustrating his lecture by feats of strength. See the notice in our advertising columns.

Body Recovered.—The body of Arthers Smith, son of A. D. Smith, of the First Ward, Allegheny, who was drowned on Thursday last, by falling into the Ohio river, was recovered yesterday afternoon at the Seven Mile Island. The funeral notice will be found in another column.

Passing Counterfeit Coin.—Mathew Karl and Patrick Donovan were arrested yesterday afternoon by the Mayor's police, upon a charge of passing counterfeit half dollars upon J. C. Eisler, a saloon keeper of the Fifth ward. Karl gave bail, and Donovan was committed for trial.

Another Literary Exhibition.—The Seward Literary Society have addressed a note to Mayor Wilson, notifying him of a resolution passed by them, to give a public exhibition, at Concert Hall, on the evening of the 14th of March, the proceeds to be donated to the Kansas fund.

Another Remittance for Kansas.—Mayor Wilson yesterday forwarded $687 to Gen. Pomroy, Chairman of the Kansas Relief Committee. The Ohio element sent by Mayor Wilson, in aid of the sufferers in that territory, falls little short of $2,000.

Petty Theft.—Five boys were yesterday committed to jail by the Mayor, on a charge of stealing fire bar guards from the store of Mr. Peck, their worker. The articles were valued at about six dollars.

Another New Counterfeit.—Peterson's Detector sends us the following description of a new spurious Five dollar note on the Monson Bank, Mass: Vig., train of cars, medallion and "5" on righ end; female and "5" on left V end, well done.

Surety Cases.—Conrad Schaiff and Thomas Lamb were sent to jail by Justice Hogue, of East Birmingham, for surety of the peace.

Assaults his Wife.—Edward Doyle was committed to jail for ten days, yesterday, by Mayor Drum, for beating and abusing his wife.

Doctor C. Bahls, Water Cure and Homœopathic Physician; also agent for Rainbow's celebrated Yeast for Raisers. No. 186 Smithfield St.

Dentistry.—Dr. C. Sill, No. 246 Penn street, attends to all branches of the Dental profession.

All should not fail to read the advertisement of Prof. Wood, in to-day's paper.

Blood Food.—Attention is called to this most remarkable and scientific preparation, advertised in another column. It is an entirely new discovery, and must not be contounded with any of the numerous patent medicines of the day. It is a certain remedy for all the diseases specified, and especially those of a chronic nature —of long standing—of weeks, months, and years. Sufferers, try it!

Marsh, Carrick & Duff, of New York, are the sole agents for it, and also proprietors of the world-renowned Dr. Keyser's Infantile Cordial, an article which every Mother should have in her medicine chest in case of need; and containing, as it does, no paregoric or opiate of any kind, it can be relied upon with the utmost confidence, and will be found an invaluable specific in all cases of infantile complaints.—Ohio State Journal, Columbus.

THE LATEST NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH.

RECEIVED AT THE DAILY GAZETTE OFFICE.

From Washington.

[Special Dispatch from our Evening Edition.]

Washington, Feb. 20, 1861.

The house recently occupied by the South Carolina Commissioners has been rented for Mr. Lincoln's temporary residence.

After a session of six hours, yesterday, the Peace Convention adjourned, leaving debate unrestricted.

Gov. Ramsey, of Minnesota, is named in connection with a Cabinet appointment.

If the Border States resolve to secede they will not join the Cotton Confederacy, but will set up independently.

The Common Councils of this city have appointed committees to unite with the Mayor in receiving Mr. Lincoln. The political clubs however seek to monopolize him.

The President may refuse to sign bills passed after Friday under the clause of the Constitution allowing him ten days for their examination.

The Tariff bill must go to a committee of Conference. There are one hundred amendments, mostly unimportant, however. H.

XXXVIth Congress—Second Session.

Washington City, Feb. 20.

House.—The House resumed the consideration of the Volunteer Bill, as reported from the Military Committee.

Mr. Boocock, of Va., said he considered the passage of the bill a foregone conclusion. He opposed it on account of the features which appeared on its face. He opposed it in consequence of the effects its passage will produce on the peace and prosperity of the country. He opposed it in any way. He would, in all, in consequence of the policy it indicates, if it does not, in the strongest degree, initiate. He yesterday characterized the bill as a declaration of war and having therefore carefully read it, he stood by the remark. It was more than a declaration of war. It invested the President in time of peace, with dictatorial powers. The bill does something more than suppress invasion and insurrection. It authorizes the President to employ a military force to suppress insurrection against the authority of the United States. He briefly argued upon various features in the Constitution to show that they were designed and intended to prohibit the general government from operating in the States, unless by their consent. This bill authorizes the President to carry on a positive, direct and immediate coercion against the seceding States, and goes further than that.

The morning hour expired and the consideration of the report of the Committee of Thirty-three was resumed.

Mr. Vallandigham, of Ohio, addressed the House at length, in an earnest speech in favor of preserving the Union by peace conciliation and concession. He advocated his own proposition to give a veto power to the Senate and an electoral College to the four principal sections of the Union so as to protect themselves against aggression.

The House passed to the consideration of the Senate's amendments to the Navy Appropriation. The amendment appropriating $1,500,000 for the construction of seven armored vessels, after having been read, Mr. Garnett, of Va., offered a proviso that the said ships shall not be used to extend the federal laws, or aid either land or naval forces in any States claiming to be without the federal jurisdiction. He said that if there were no other reason, the bankrupt condition of the Treasury should induce the House to refuse concurrence in the Senate's amendment. From what had been said in the Senate by prominent gentlemen, these vessels were intended for coercive purposes. Among other things he alluded to Mr. Lincoln's speech, and a private conversation between Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Hutchinson, of Kentucky, to show that Lincoln is in favor of coercing the Southern States. He said that Lincoln is manly and frank, and does not attempt to hide the views of the party under the shelter of a mask. He does not like his Republican friends to seek to avoid the issue.

Mr. Stanton, of Ohio, said that it is extraordinary that Mr. Lincoln should be held committed to coercion from loose conversations. If the Southern States shall return to their allegiance, they will bring back the forts, etc., with them. If, on the contrary, they shall ultimately maintain a separate nationality, he did not believe that any man would wish to enter upon a course that could result in no practical good.

Mr. Stevens, of Pa., hoped that what the gentleman from Ohio had said was not said as the united voice of the Republicans. He (Mr. Stevens) held different views. He thought that it was the intention to take all the public property of which they had been robbed, and Sebastian Forts, of Mount Vernon, and encountering a cinder pile near Schirmer's grapery, his hay was upset. His wife was on the load, and sustained a fracture of a limb, besides being badly bruised.
