McKeesport Oil Discovery.

The oil excitement runs very high in McKeesport; almost all of her citizens are to a more or less extent engaged in the traffic, and it is almost an impossibility for our Pittsburgh speculators to secure any claims or sites. We have heard of a joke, too good to be lost, in which several of the wealthy citizens of McKeesport were the actors. Mr. W., a financier of hitherto undoubted ability, accompanied by a couple of his intimate friends, in whom he had implicit confidence, set forth on Sunday morning last, upon the very agreeable, although not religious, task of hunting "oil" sites. Several localities were visited, but without success; their efforts to discover "surface indications" were fruitless, and they determined to retrace their footsteps and abandon their Sunday search for oil.

Taking a different route, in hopes that "something might turn up," (which the sequel will tell) our heroes, weary and heartsick of oil, proceeded upon their way home. They had not walked many yards until Mr. D——, with the sagacity of a fox, scented oil; he could not be mistaken as to the smell, for he was a judge of the article. A hasty examination disclosed to our heroes the precise location, upon the bank of the Youghiogheny river, some two miles distant from the town. Following their nasal organs, they were led to a small pond of water, formed by the occasional overflow of the "Yough." A cry of joy escaped from Mr. M——, for to the surprise and delight of all, the pond was literally covered with a greasy substance, and thus their dream of oil and future happiness was unexpectedly realized. The discovery of land by Columbus could not have been hailed with more delight than was the discovery of "oil" by our McKeesport adventurers. A bottle was hastily emptied of its contents to make room for the more valued fluid, which was carefully drawn off and wrung out by Mr. W——'s best silk handkerchief. After the surface indications had been removed, the speculators visited the owner of the farm, and in order to secure the lease agreed upon an enormous amount, and plunked down an "X" as security for the bargain. All being now safe, they hastily returned home, to gladden the hearts of their friends upon their future brilliant prospects. The sample was handed around for the inspection of the citizens, some pronouncing it the genuine petroleum, while the chemist of the town remarked that it had "the peculiar flavor of lard oil." McKeesport was in a blaze of excitement. Our heroes led a motly crowd of men and boys to the vicinity of their fortunate field, and while Mr. M—— (one of the spectators) was sounding the depth of the pond, in order to ascertain if the "engine of his boat would stand in the water," he, to the astonishment of the crowd, and horror of the spectators, stirred up to the surface of the water, the half decayed carcass of a hog. Here was the source of the oil. Our heroes suddenly made themselves scarce, and were not to be seen for some days after; nor did they make good their claim to the "oil territory," but forfeited their X, and are now prepared to explode the theory, advanced by many, that oil is a decayed vegetable substance, simply because their oil proved a decayed animal substance.

County Educational Association.

A regular monthly meeting of the County Educational Association was held on Saturday—President Simpson in the Chair.

The exercises opened with Reading, by Prof. Eaton; Prof. Brown, and Miss E. Ralston. We were not present in time to hear the gentleman and Miss Ralston certainly acquitted herself with great credit. Her subject was of an ordinary cast, but her reading was excellent.

Prof. Woods, of the Western University, then delivered a lecture upon "Useful Education," which was full of practical suggestions for the guidance of the teacher.

Prof. Wenrall followed in a lecture upon "Primary Education," which was very favorably received by the audience.

The Finance Committee then submitted a report, exhibiting the fact that the "exchequer" was in a healthy condition, and that the Association had received large accessions in membership from the cities and boroughs during the last month. The meeting then adjourned.

Row at a Dance House.

Saturday morning, at 1 o'clock, the police made a descent upon a house of ill repute in the Sixth Ward, kept by a woman named Ellen Beckett, in company with John Orasman. The keepers of the house had prepared for a dance, and while the guests were enjoying themselves in dancing, rout and revelry, the police were attracted by the noise, and entering in full force arrested some eighteen men and two women. They were locked up till morning, when they were brought before Mayor Wilson upon charges of disorderly conduct. Ellen Buckett and John Orasman, as proprietors of the house, were fined six dollars each, and the others were let off upon payment of smaller fines. There were some very respectable (?) young men in the crowd, who would not be flattered by seeing their names in print, and we forbear.

Arrest of a Thief.

Officers Moore and Hamilton, of the Mayor's police, on Saturday, arrested a negro named John Mason, charged with the larceny of a gold watch from a passenger on board the Clara Dean, about three weeks since. He had presented the watch to a female companion named Cuffy, who was also taken into custody. She stated that Mason had made her a present of the watch, on Monday last, and as he corroborated her statement she was discharged. Albert H. Law, the owner of the watch, stated that he was a passenger on the Clara Dean, from Cincinnati to Wheeling, and that he watch and eighteen dollars had been stolen from his trunk, on or about the 4th of March, between Maysville and Wheeling. The watch was recovered, but the money had been used. Mason was committed for trial in default of bail.

District Court.

Saturday, March 23.—Before Judge Williams.

In the case of John M. Stevens vs. Frederick Merriman, for slander, before reported, a verdict was rendered for plaintiff for $1,000 damages.

A verdict for $100 damages was given in a similar action brought against John Merriman.

WESTMINSTER COLLEGE.—The interior Western towns have gotten up a lively competition for the location of Westminster College, recently destroyed by fire at New Wilmington. Several very liberal propositions have been offered; the following, from Mercer, is the best: A square of lots to be donated for the erection, and $1,000 to aid in replenishing the libraries of the two societies which were also destroyed. This proposition was regarded as very liberal, and received great favor with the Trustees. Owing to the absence of several members of the Board, no action was taken in the matter. The location of the buildings will probably be determined upon at the next meeting.

USEFUL APPLICATION OF INDIA RUBBER.—One of the recent uses to which India rubber is put, is that of furnishing the material for business cards. Besides the various convenient forms which may be given to the material, it may also be improved with any ornament or design suitable to any particular business. The material makes light and prettily mounted business cards, one advantage of which is that they cannot be defaced easily, and are almost indestructible. It would be very economical for passenger railroad tickets, for the same tickets would last for months; another great advantage would be that they could not be imitated. To the companies which sell packages of tickets, good for any day, these tickets would be a saving and a protection.

THE LATE HOMICIDE IN THE JAIL.—There seems to be no question as to the insanity of M'Mullen, who beat the man Louis to death in the county jail on Wednesday night. He had been an inmate of the insane department of the Western Hospital, and had been discharged improved, but not cured. He has made no admissions since, except that "he had a fight with a negro and the devil, and he killed one of them—he did not know which." Louis was a pauper, and had lately escaped from the poor farm. He leaves a wife and three children in Lawrenceville.

THE LITERARY UNION.—At an adjourned meeting of the Literary Union, held Friday evening, Mr. J. M'Candless, Chairman of the Committee on Constitution and By-laws, submitted a report which was unanimously adopted. The election of permanent officers, under the new constitution, will take place two weeks hence. Mr. T. P. Houston was authorized to procure a suitable book and copy the constitution, which will be ready for the signatures of the members at an adjourned meeting to be held on Friday evening next.

PASSION WEEK SERVICES.—We understand that the clergy of the Episcopal Church have arranged a series of sermons, to be delivered every evening this week, in Trinity church, on the events of the Saviour's Passion and Death. The communion will be administered on Thursday evening, the anniversary of its original institution. The first of this series of sermons will be delivered to-morrow (Sunday) evening, by the venerable Dr. Page, of Christ church, Allegheny. The public generally are invited to attend.

INAUGURATION.—The inauguration of Rev. W. M. Paxton, D. D., as Professor in the Western Theological Seminary, will take place in the First Presbyterian Church, Tuesday evening, the 16th of April. A sermon will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Howard. The address before the Society of Inquiry will be delivered on Monday evening, the 15th, by the Rev. Charles Wadsworth, D. D., of Philadelphia.

THE SPOTTED FEVER.—A disease known as the spotted fever, prevails to a great extent in Dauphin and Lebanon counties, Pa., which has proved fatal in many cases, and baffled the skill of the physicians.

AN OLD FIRE COMPANY.—On Thursday last the Delaware Fire Company of Philadelphia celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the organization of the company.

REVIVAL.—Quite an interesting revival of religion has taken place in the Steubenville Female Seminary.

The Jail Calendar.

The March term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions will commence to-day, before Judges McClure, Mellon, Adams and Parke. The business of the term will be fully up to the average. There are fifty-six prisoners awaiting trial, upon seventy-five charges—besides the usual number of offenders who have been admitted to bail. The following is a synopsis of the Jail Calendar:

Larceny, 34; Selling liquor, 1; Malicious mischief, 1; Fornication and bastardy, 2; Surety of the peace, 7; Receiving stolen goods, 4; Highway robbery, 3; Passing counterfeit money, 2; Assault and battery, 10; Seduction, 1; Burglary, 1; Disorderly house, 3; Assault and battery with intent to kill, 2; Murder, 1; Perjury, 1; Bigamy, 1. Total number of charges, 75; number of prisoners, 56.

ARREST OF ROWDIES.—On Sunday afternoon Mayor Wilson's police arrested four young men on Wylie street, who had been acting in the most outrageous manner—insulting all who passed by. They also fell upon a lad named Paul Sailor, and belabored him severely. The names of the rowdies are Jeremiah Sexton, Michael McTighe, Patrick O'Connor and Thomas Cummings. Sexton and McTighe were fined fifteen dollars each, and in default of payment were committed to jail for fifteen days. O'Connor was fined twelve dollars, and having no money was sent up twelve days. Cummings paid a fine of two dollars and costs, and was discharged.

LLOYD'S MINSTRELS AT CONCERT HALL.—Lloyd's Minstrels, at the solicitation of numerous citizens, will give three of their Grand Concerts at Concert Hall. This will be good news to those who have not seen this excellent troupe. The humorous, eccentric, and quick-witted negro will be portrayed by the comedians of the Lloyds. The famous vocalist, will render all the latest and newest ballads in the unapproachable manner peculiar to the troupe, for instrumental department has been highly commended by the press and the public, and a delightful entertainment may be expected this evening.

LARCENY OF A WATCH AND CHAIN.—On Friday morning, Mrs. Trimble, wife of James Trimble, merchant, residing on Lacock street, Allegheny, was robbed of a gold watch and chain, with key and seal attached. She had stopped at the Federal street depot, on her way to market, and compared her time with the depot clock. She then visited the market, and while returning home missed the watch from her person. She had not the slightest idea when it was taken, and of course has no clue to the thief.

LECTURE POSTPONED.—The lecture of Dr. Rutherford, advertised to be delivered at Lafayette Hall, on Friday evening, was postponed until Tuesday evening next. Mr. R.'s agent announced to the few that were in attendance at the appointed hour, that such reports had been circulated respecting the lecture as had prevented the attendance of the people—and after returning the money which had been paid at the door for tickets, announced the postponement of the lecture.

HIGH RAILROAD BRIDGES.—The highest railroad bridge in the United States is upon the Delaware Railroad, and is 128 feet high. The Media bridge, on the West Chester and Philadelphia Railroad, is 101 feet high. The highest bridge on the Pennsylvania Railroad, is at Columbia, and is 79 feet high. The bridge on the Huntingdon and Broad Top road, at Stonerstown, is 97 feet high; and the celebrated Wissahickon bridge, on the Philadelphia and Norristown Railroad, is but 68 feet high.

THEATRE.—The beautiful and clever actress, Miss Sue Denin, appears to-night at the theatre as "Ingomar," in the spectacular drama of "Ingomar and his Brethren." The piece will be produced in splendid style, with new dresses, new scenery, new properties, and in short, everything will be new that will add to the beauty or smoothness of the piece. Manager Henderson seems determined that the public "must and shall" be satisfied.

LAW LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—The members of this Association met on Saturday, and elected the following gentlemen as officers for the year:

President—W. M. Shinn.
Secretary—W. Bakewell.
Treasurer—C. Hairbridge.
Directors—John Mellon, Jas. Starrett, J. I. Kuhn, M. W. Acheson, G. F. Gilmore, Thomas MacConnell.

SURETY OF THE PEACE.—Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols, of Allegheny, who was so shockingly beaten by her husband a few nights since—having had two of her ribs broken, by him, it is said—has preferred a charge of surety of the peace against him, and Mayor Drum has accordingly lodged a commitment, which will hold him for trial at Court.

HOPELESSLY INSANE.—Mrs. Brown, a clever looking colored woman, who has figured somewhat of late among the police reports in Allegheny, has lost her reason entirely. She was placed in the lock-up Friday night, and raved violently throughout the night. Efforts are making to have her removed to the city poor house.

CINCINNATI GAZETTE.—One active and enterprising young friend Pittock, at W. A. Gildenfenny's, Fifth street, has added to his list of first class newspapers the Cincinnati Gazette, which he receives regularly by express, and will deliver punctually to subscribers at the regular subscription price. He has also all the leading dailies.

THE WHEAT PROSPECT.—The present season is said by those whose interest it is to keep advised in such matters; to be an exceedingly favorable one for the growth of the wheat crop. So far as heard, the wheat fields throughout the country, and indeed, throughout the State, present a very flourishing appearance.

WE ARE requested to state by G. R. Cochran, Burgess of the Borough of Temperanceville, that all the laws of the borough will be strictly enforced without respect to persons. Also, all persons using profane language will be punished as directed by the Penal Code of the Commonwealth.

FLOURING MILL BURNED.—The large flouring mill of Christopher Sherick, located in Shireville, was entirely destroyed by fire one night last week. The loss is about $10,000—one-third of which is covered by insurance. The fire was accidental.

ENGINEER KILLED.—On Friday last, John Burnal, engineer on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was killed between Wheeling and Mcundsville, by falling from the engine while oiling the cylindars.

THE WATCH HOUSE contained sixteen cases on Sunday morning—the offenses being drunkenness, disorderly conduct and vagrancy.

DIED.

HUTCHINSON.—On Friday morning, March 22d, at 10 o'clock, SARAH JANE HUTCHINSON.

The funeral will take place on MONDAY MORNING at 10 o'clock, from the residence of her brother-in law, James M'Candless, corner of Western avenue and Sidnell street, Allegheny. The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend.

From Washington.

[Special Dispatch from our Evening Edition.]

WASHINGTON CITY, March 23, 1861.

Upon a full investigation of the state of the Treasury, Secretary Chase became satisfied that $3,000,000, would carry him through the fiscal year. He has accordingly advertised for that amount of the last authorized loan. Capitalists say that it will be taken at par.

Intelligence from California excites apprehension as to the safety of the public property in that State, owing to defection among the leading army officers. Col. Johnston may be suspended.

The President still withholds his approval of the order for evacuating Fort Sumter, and has sent an officer there for further definite information. No decision will be made until this direct information has been received. The necessity cannot now be avoided.

President Lincoln is much jaded from the effects of the pressure, and shows it quite visibly. His friends have remonstrated against the fatigue to which he subjects himself in giving indiscriminate audience to all who seek access to the President.

The second reception at the White House was thronged by a great assemblage.

The Cabinet is in session to-day, on the Territorial appointments.

The Senate will adjourn early next week, or there will be no quorum, as Senators are becoming impatient at the protracted session, and some have already left.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The Charleston Courier, of the 21st inst., states that the assertion that the term of service of twenty six of the soldiers in Fort Sumter will shortly expire, is a fallacy.

Major Anderson was in daily expectation of receiving orders to evacuate the fort. LOUISVILLE, March 23.—The river is falling, with seven feet water in the canal. Weather clear. Mercury forty-four degrees.

[For the Daily Pittsburgh Gazette.]

Messrs. Editors: The papers state that those indefatigable patriots, Honest Benton Kerr and Miscahusen Smith, (who shows the trath of the adage "that figures will lie,) have persuaded one of our members to father their bantling Reform bill. When Smith was a member of the Assembly, some years ago, he distinguished himself by an act to amend the Constitution, to allow negroes to vote, which was so ridiculous that it immortalized him.

What will be the expense to the county of this new plan of sending these drunkards, vagrants, &c., to the three "Poor Farms?" About $2 each, says Secretary of the Guardians, Fortune.

What will their daily board cost? Forty-five cents a day; probably half their cost.

But there are no jails or jail yards at either of the three Farms. What will be their cost?

I commend to our Assemblymen the wisdom of making these inquiries, before the passage of this pretended Reform Bill.

These three Poor Farms were purchased by the cities and county for a certain purpose—Benevolent Institutions where the poor men and women can have some of the comforts of and conveniences of a home.

Has the Assembly any right to change the original purpose for which these Farms were established?

Q.

BLOOD FOOD.—Attention is called to the most remarkable and scientific preparation, advertised in another column.
