THE TONNAGE TAX.

In accordance with a desire to show fair play, we give place, at our correspondent's request, to the closing part of Mr. McClure's speech upon the repeal of the Tonnage tax, thus complying with the request of a valued friend.

In doing so, however, we take occasion to renew an expression of our convictions that the passage of this bill has not been, and cannot be, justified. We have read through the speech of Mr. McClure, only to have our convictions confirmed. It is able, plausible and eloquent; but, in our opinion, it utterly fails to meet the arguments and facts brought to bear against the bill.

BOW THE KNEE!

We wish to call earnest attention to the position now boldly put forth for the adoption or rejection of the American people by the Hon. A. H. Stephens, of Georgia, now Vice President of the Confederated States, and the master mind of that Hegiarchy. In order that the reader may have his views set forth in his own language, we take the following extract from his speech at Savannah, on the 21st instant:

"The new Constitution has put to rest, forever, all the agitating questions relating to our peculiar institution—African Slavery as it exists amongst us—the proper status of the negro in our form of civilization. This was the immediate cause of the late rupture and present revolution. JEFFERSON, in his forecast, had anticipated this, as the "rock upon which the old Union would split." He was right. What was conjecture with him is now a realized fact. But whether he fully comprehended the great truth upon which that rock stood and stands, may be doubted. The prevailing ideas entertained by him and most of the leading statesmen at the time of the formation of the old Constitution, were that the enslavement of the African was in violation of the laws of nature; that it was wrong in principle, socially, morally and politically. It was an evil they knew not well how to deal with, but the general opinion of the men of that day, was that somehow or other in the order of Providence, the institution would be ameliorated and pass away. This idea, though not incorporated in the Constitution, was the prevailing idea at the time. The Constitution, it is true, secured every essential guaranty to the institution while it should last, and hence no argument can be justly said against the constitutional guarantees thus secured, because of the common sentiment of the day. Those ideas, however, were fundamentally wrong. They rested upon the assumption of the equality of race. This was an error. It was a sandy foundation, and the idea of a Government built upon it, when the 'storm came and the wind blew, it fell.'

Our new Government is founded upon exactly the opposite idea; its foundations are laid, its cornerstone rests, upon the great truth, that the negro is not equal to the white man. That Slavery,—subordination to the superior race, is his natural and normal condition. [Applause.]

This, our new Government, is the first, in the history of the world, based upon this great physical, philosophical and moral truth."

It is not our object at present to combat these monstrous doctrines, or rather assumptions, which are admitted to be at variance with the earlier doctrines of the Republic, and which we all know to be at war with the general moral sense of Christendom, and with all our ideas of justice and humanity. What we wish to do is to warn our people of a danger which is looming up in the dark and stormy future. This speech is a platform upon which the advocates of slavery intend to make a stand, and upon which they hope to prevail.

Up to the time of the vote upon the question of Secession in Georgia, Mr. Stephens was regarded as the leader of the Union party; but when the ordinance of Secession passed, he put his name to it, and has ever since been a leading man in the Secession movement. Some hoped that his object was to play that mad drama out, and then, when a popular reaction should take place, lead his State back into the Union. But we now see that his views are far more radical than was at first supposed, and that he is laboring, not so much to subvert the government as to change its principles.

There is evidence of the existence of a great conspiracy to found a new government "upon exactly the opposite idea" entertained by the framers of the present government. To effect this the majority of the American people are to be persuaded to adopt that "opposite idea." All the slave States are presumed to be ready for that now. To give that idea practical force all they have to do is to discard the old Constitution and adopt the new. This, it is calculated, will restore unity and peace to the slave States, and throw the war into the free States. The Union will then be broken into two great divisions. The democratic party will then be resuscitated, and to it will be given the work of reconstruction, upon democratic principles, which, for a long time, have been nothing more nor less than such as Southern politicians dictated. The doctrines which have been maintained by the leaders and presses of that party are in strict accordance with those of the new Montgomery Constitution, and the teachings of Stephens, as above quoted. Already have many of them declared the new Constitution to be an improvement upon the old, and that their party in the North are "in perfect agreement" with the secessionists.

It is expected that thousands who deprecate and dread civil war will gladly adopt this peace measure; that others who cannot bear the idea of a dismemberment of the Union will eagerly barter away the principle involved for the hope of reunion; and last, but not least, that the mercantile classes will agree to any thing likely to preserve to them the trade of the South.

Thus do they hope to drive the line northward and northward, capturing State after State, until the whole, or at least the greater part, shall be absorbed. Then, so far as human powers of resistance can go, slavery will be supreme, and the government based upon what Stephens calls "the great, physical, philosophical and moral truth," that negroes were made to be slaves, and that the ideas held on this subject by the fathers of the Republic, "were fundamentally wrong."

Look at the combination of interests and prejudices arrayed against us on this all-important question, and you will see that the hardest struggle we ever engaged in is probably just before us. Mr. Seward was mistaken when he said, "The battle of Freedom is fought and won."

We are indebted to Hon. Thomas Williams, of the House, for a copy of the following Bill, which has passed a second reading in the House, and was then postponed, on motion of Mr. Williams:

AN ACT REGULATING THE PAYMENT OF COSTS IN MISDEMEANOR OFFENCES AND RELATIVE TO THE JAIL OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

SECTION 1. Be enacted &c., That from and after the passage of this act, no alderman or mayor of the cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny shall receive warrant or money from the county commissioners, to be paid out of the county treasury, for fees or costs, in committing vagrants, drunkards or disorderly persons to the jail of said county; nor shall any constable, police officer, or any other person, be paid any sum of money for arresting or conveying to prison such persons, over or above the regular compensation allowed and provided for by the councils of the cities above named.

SEC. 2. That all such persons, who may be committed for the offences enumerated, shall, for habitual drunkenness, incorrigible vagrancy, or disorderly conduct, be sent to the city farm. Provided, That residence be in either city, at the expense of the guardians of the poor of the said cities. Where the person or persons reside in the county, then he, or she, shall be sent to the county farm, by the committing magistrate at the expense of the directors of the poor of said county.

SEC. 3. That the sheriff of said county, from and after October next, shall not be allowed or paid for the keeping of any prisoner in jail. The sheriff hereafter, in connection with the county commissioners, shall select two persons to act as jailer and assistant. The jailer shall give bonds, with approved security, in the sum of three thousand dollars ($3000); and the assistant jailor in the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1500), for the faithful performance of their duties; and the jailor shall be paid, per annum, one thousand dollars $(1000), payable quarterly, and the assistant five hundred dollars ($500) in like manner, which sums shall be paid by warrants drawn by the said commissioners on the county treasurer. But in no instance shall the sheriff be allowed or paid out of the county treasury any sum or sums for those who may be imprisoned for offences against the law.

FROM HARRISBURG.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, March 26, 1861.

ED. GAZETTE: I forgot to mention, in my last, that the Senate, on Monday night, failed to dispose of the Bank Bill in any decisive shape. It was considered in Committee of the Whole until the 4th section was reached, and then a motion was made that the Committee rise, report progress, and ask leave to sit again, which prevailed.

The Committee had leave to sit again, but when it came to firing the time, a warm struggle ensued; Wednesday, Thursday and Monday next were named, and finally Monday next was fixed, 16 to 13, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Blood, Cramer, Connell, Crawford, Fuller, Hamilton, Imbrie, Meredith, Mott, Nichols, Parker, Robinson, Schindel, Welsh, Wharton, and Yardley.

NAYS—Messrs. Boughter, Bound, Finney, Gregg, Hall, Hiestand, Irish, Ketcham, Landon, Lawrence, McClure, Penney, and Serrill.

It is impossible to guess what will be done with the bill. As its discussion progresses, amendments will be offered, and I think that the proposition to permit the banks to issue a per cantage of small notes, and to receive and send home the notes of other States, will prevail. They will, at any rate, be warmly pressed. The provision to raise the rate of interest to 7 per cent. will not prevail. At least, I think it will not, as it seems to receive but little favor.

The Governor has appointed ULYSSES MERRIER, of Bradford county, Judge in place of DAVID WILMOT. A very excellent appointment.

ROBERT M. PALMER, at present Speaker of the Senate, has been appointed to a South American Mission. During his absence, this week, Mr. Penney has been officiating as Speaker pro tem., and makes an admirable and dignified presiding officer.

Mr. Benson, member of the Senate from the Potter district, has been appointed Paymaster in the Navy. It is not improbable, also, that Mr. Ketcham, Senator from Luzerne, who had many warm friends for U. S. Senator, will be elected to Congress from the Luzerne district, in place of G. W. Scranton, dec'd.

I cannot permit the opportunity to pass without adding to yours the expression of my sincere regret at parting with my late associate in the editorial department of the Gazette, D. F. WILLIAMS, Esq. Four years intimate association with him enabled me to know him thoroughly, and the more I knew him the more I became attached to him. He is a man of singularly clear judgment, well versed in the politics of the State and nation, well acquainted with men, and a fine and vigorous writer, whose judgment in political matters, was always sound, weighty and reliable. I shall always look back, with gratification, to the many pleasant hours we have spent together, and I trust that, in returning to the pursuits of his former residence, he may meet, as I feel assured he will, among those who know him so well, that high consideration to which his merits so justly entitle him. For his kindness in filling my place during my absence, this winter, after his connection with the paper, as proprietor, had ceased, I feel that I cannot thank him too much.

HARRISBURG, March 27, 1861.

EDS. GAZETTE: The House had up the Appropriation bill, this morning, but spent the whole session over the section making appropriations to Normal Schools, without coming to any decision upon it.

In the afternoon, the public calendar was taken up, and the following bills passed:

House bill, supplementary to the act for encouraging the manufacture of iron with coal or coke.

House bill, to regulate the standard weight of barley.

House bill, to authorize any prothonotary to enter a judgment on warrants of attorney, in the name of executors and administrators.

House bill, relative to the Corporations of this commonwealth.

Resolution to adjourn finally on the 18th of April.

The following were killed:

An act appointing commissioners to revise the militia law.

Resolution to purchase copies of Worcester's Dictionery.

An act relating to school directors and school treasurers.

An act relative to the fire companies of this commonwealth.

A further supplement to the act for the regulation of a system of education by common schools.

An act extending the jurisdiction of Courts of Common Pleas in divorce.

An act to regulate the sale of powder.

An act relative to liens on real estate.

Senate bill to enable executors and administrators to sell and dispose of unmatured securities.

In the Senate, a large number of bills were passed, of which the following concern the west:

House bills to define the location of certain lines in the city of Erie.

House bill authorizing the Governor to appoint an auctioneer for Ebenezburg.

House bill to prevent catching fish in Slippery Rock creek, Butler co.

House bill taxing dogs in the co. of Erie. [The amendment of the House adding Elizabeth township, Allegheny county to this bill, was struck out.]

House bill in relation to Greene township, Indiana county.

Senate bill supplementary to the bill concerning the Mercer school districts.

Senate bill directing the manner of serving writs of summons in certain cases in Mercer county.

Mr. Irish called up the supplement to the charter of the Manchester Passenger Railway, which passed to 3d reading and laid over.

The bill from the House to change the residence of a couple of citizens of Allegheny county to Butler county, was called up by Mr. Imbrie, and was negatived in committee of the Whole. The report of the Committee was sustained, 12 to 9, which kills the bill.

E.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 26, 1861.

Information has reached here this evening that the Convention of South Carolina will to-morrow out off Major Anderson's supplies.

Gen. Beauregard has telegraphed to Montgomery that he is ready to precipitate matters.

Two new dahlgrens were mounted at Morris Island yesterday, and everything is reported ready for action.

The visit of Col. Lamon to Charleston does not partake fully of an official character. He went there on his private account, and attended to some business for the Government at the same time. While no final order to evacuate Fort Sumter has yet gone to Major Anderson, it is fully expected to be sent this week.—N. Y. Times.

After all, David Cartter is not to be Governor of Nebraska. His competitor, Mr. Saunders, who was strongly pressed by the Iowa delegation, has received the nomination, after an animated but friendly contest, in which the friends of both were equally confident of success.

Isaac Cook has been made Minister resident at Bolivia, probably in compliment to his political usefulness and activity.

Charles L. Woodbury, of Massachusetts, a Democratic politician of some note, was an applicant to President Pierce for a fat office, in 1852, which was refused, but Pierce, to pacify him, sent him a commission as Minister to Bolivia. Woodbury, as he himself relates the story, turned to an atlas to find out where Bolivia was, and, after a long search in all corners of the world, failing to discover any such country, concluded that the commission was a joke, and sent it back to Washington. We hope the new Embassador will be more successful in his search.—N. Y. Trib.

If a Convention of the Border States be held, as proposed, a few months hence, the probability is by no means remote, that terms will be demanded of the Administration which cannot be consistently yielded. No cause of complaint has been given them thus far, and yet the politicians insist upon a compromise which involves a direct abandonment of principle. Neither Mr. Lincoln nor his friends will consent to any such surrender. That purpose may as well be understood in advance. The Administration is for honorable peace and conciliation, but nothing more.—N. Y. Tribune.

The western senators to-day declare that if Col. Lamon sustains the reports of the officers of the army and navy, relative to Fort Sumter, they shall not blame the administration for declining to reinforce it.—N. Y. World.

It is now strongly intimated that if the lately appointed postoffice agent at Lynchburg is not permitted to perform his duties, he having been prevented by the resistance of the citizens, that the mail will be discontinued and the postoffice there abolished.—N. Y. World.

John Covode has been compelled by sickness here to curtail his political appointments in Connecticut, which is much to be regretted after his efficient and successful campaign in New Hampshire.—N. Y. Trib.

The treasurer has discovered eighteen thousand dollars worth of coupon bonds laying in the treasury. They should have been converted into funds long since, and the fact that they were not, shows the looseness with which the business of the department was conducted by Secretary Cobb.—N. Y. World.

The reference proposed by England of the San Juan question will be adjourned till next session. As the best relations now exist between the two Governments on the Pacific, no apprehension of difficulty is expected from this delay. If pressed now, it would involve a long and unprofitable discussion, which might involve new complications.—N. Y. Tribune.

For several weeks past reports have prevailed that many Union men in some of the seceded States intended to apply to the government for appointments therein of judicial officers. The truth of these statements seems to be confirmed, in part, by the fact that the President has nominated George W. Lane as Judge of the Northern and Southern districts of Alabama.—N. Y. World.

VIRGINIA IN 1808.

At a dinner given to the Presidential Electors of Virginia, who had assembled to cast their votes for Mr. Madison, at the close of Mr. Jefferson's administration, the following was one of the regular toasts:

"The Union of the States—The majority must govern—IT IS TREASON TO SECEDE."

At that time there was great discontent in the New England States on account of the embargo, and some even went so far as to threaten secession.
