THE GREAT DELUSION.

In searching for the causes which led to this great sectional quarrel, the historian will not fail to fix upon the deceitful teachings of many of the party presses of the country as among the chief. Prominent among these were the suppression of truth, the justification of wrong, and the heartless levity and even derision with which the calamities of a weak and grossly outraged community were treated about seven years ago. We are speaking of Kansas. The same barbarous spirit which is driving the loyal people of the South into poverty and exile, and which has reared aloft the black standard of treason, animated the "border ruffians" of that day; but had the same spirit animated the American people when Lawrence was burnt that was aroused when the rebel batteries opened their fire upon Fort Sumter, this trouble would not have been upon us to day. Although the outrages perpetrated in Kansas were more atrocious and shameful than any that have yet been committed in the Cotton States, so strong were the fetters which bound the ruling party of that day to the same men who are now arch traitors, that a Northern President connived at them, and in hundreds of northern presses they found apologists and even advocates.

We do not make these remarks at this time in a spirit of criminalation; for nobly have many of the very men who made that great mistake cast aside their party ties, and come up to the rescue of the Union and the Constitution. Our object is to point out the danger that lies in such a course—in such blind devotion to party. Ours is now the ruling party in the nation, so far as there are any parties; and as we are all men of like passions, let us beware of falling into the disastrous error into which our Democratic friends fell, to the ruin of themselves as a party, and almost to the ruin of the country. With them good was evil, if it bore not the party stamp—evil was good if it did.

The best and most efficient safeguard against this danger—a danger inseparable from great national parties, (and parties are inevitable, if not essential, in all free governments,) is a strong, bold, independent press. For example: suppose a half dozen of the leading democratic journals of the country had come out boldly and denounced the course of President Pierce for his almost undisguised sympathy with the invaders of Kansas, it would have killed this great treason in its infancy; for there it was that the monster got the blood which gave it its present appalling strength and ferocity. They in turn would have been denounced by party hacks, and there would have been a flutter in the flock; but no matter, the right would have triumphed, and the party would have been made purer and stronger.

No party, however pure and sound its principles may be, is so immaculate that it has no corrupt men in it; and the Republican party is not so weak but that it can afford to toss all such characters overboard as soon as they are discovered. This is the natural way in which all bodies, the human frame among the rest, are kept in health; and the rule is as applicable to political parties as to any thing else. The performance of this salutary operation is one of the proper functions of the party press. The opposition press cannot do it.

It is another important function of a free press to criticise the conduct of the men which its party have placed in power. A blind, uniform, undiscriminating laudation of every thing that those men do is no support at all, and is as contemptible as that captious spirit which, on the same blind principle, condemns every act of an opposing administration or party. But the acts of the men in power may be right, and the judgment of the editor wrong! To be sure—that is just as likely to happen as anything else; provided both parties are actuated by patriotic impulses; but no matter; the right will soon vindicate itself, and both parties will be the better and stronger for the candidly expressed difference of view. Only give a party a set of correct principles, and then give it the support of an unshackled press, and nothing can break it down.

It is the free press of England that preserves the administration of its government from gross corruptions and abuses, amid all the relics of a by-gone age, which still clog and disfigure the British constitution; and we may justly bring home to a party-shackled press the charge of bringing upon the American people their present national calamities.

But to return to the point indicated in our caption. The men of the South, who have run their necks into a halter, have one just subject of complaint—they have for a long series of years been grossly deluded by the northern press of the party to which they attached themselves and their pet institution; for that led them to believe that nearly one-half of the northern people were as ready to fight for slavery as they were, and that they loved their slavery-ridden party better than they did their country. They see now, after they have gone too far to retreat, how fatally they have been mistaken. They are the victims of a great delusion. With them it is as we find it written: "Evil men and seducers WAX WORSE AND WORSE, deceiving and being deceived."

THREE STATES THAT WILL FIGHT!—The Banks in Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa are for the most part based upon Southern State Stocks. The consequence is that their paper is worth only little more than 30 per cent. This makes a loss of thirty or forty millions to the people of those States. A private letter from a prominent capitalist there states that the universal cry among the capitalists of those States, who have been thus swindled by their Southern brethren, is that the question with those States shall never be settled until these stocks are made good. A large portion of these stocks are Missouri, and the feeling against her is such that, if she wavers in her allegiance, she will be attacked directly from these States.

AMOUNT OF PATRIOTIC CONTRIBUTIONS.—The patriotic contributions of the people for the war during the last three weeks amount to the immense sum of $23,277,000. Pennsylvania leads the column with a free gift of $3,500,000. New York and Ohio have each given $3,000,000; Connecticut and Illinois each $2,000,000; Maine, $1,200,000; Vermont and New Jersey, each $1,000,000; Wisconsin and Rhode Island, $500,000; Iowa, $100,000. The contributions of the principal cities are: New York, $2,173,600; Philadelphia, $330,000; Boston, $162,000; Brooklyn, $75,000; Buffalo, $110,000; Cincinnati, $280,000; Detroit, $50,000; Hartford, $64,000.

CAIRO.—The Cairo correspondent of the St. Louis Republican says that five batteries are now planted at different points on the Ohio and Mississippi, fully commanding both rivers at their influence, and are so placed that the entire force can be rallied to support any point in a few minutes. All the batteries are sustained by large bodies of infantry.

Col. Wickliffe, of Kentucky, positively assured Col. Prentiss that no preparations hostile to Illinois were being made at any point near Cairo, Illinois.

SECESSION FROM SECESSION.—The Western Virginia counties, bordering Maryland and Pennsylvania, will never agree to the secession ordinance. If they cannot form a state of their own, they will ask to be attached to the old Keystone.

A PATRIOTIC FARMER.—A farmer in Montgomery county, Pa., has offered to give all the grain he has on hand and one hundred head of cattle to feed the Keystone State troops.

LETTER FROM HARRISBURG.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, May 8, 1861.

EDS. GAZETTE:—The Senate yesterday confirmed unanimously the nomination of Wm. W. Irwin, of Beaver county, as Commissary General.

To-day, Mr. Irish called up his resolution in favor of locating a National Armory at Pittsburgh.

As soon as it was called-up, sundry Senators jumped to their feet to move their own towns as amendments. Mr. Wharton thought Huntingdon was the place; Mr. Boughter urged Lebanon; Mr. Clymer was sure Reading was the best place; while Mr. Bound assured the Senate that Danville had superior claims to all other places. Finally, an amendment prevailed, offered by Mr. Gregg, to strike out Pittsburgh, and insert "some suitable place in Pennsylvania." In this shape the resolution passed.

Messrs. Irish and Penney urged the claims of Pittsburgh with great force, but the petty rivalry indicated above prevented the justice due our city. The western Senators, except Mr. Finney, stood by Pittsburgh to a man. But of what avail, when every country town east of the mountains thinks itself the centre of the universe?

The Senate passed three bills, (all eastern) over the Governor's veto, and negatived one.

Mr. Penney introduced a bill, which was passed, authorizing the Governor to purchase camp equipage for the regiments mustered into the United States service, and collect the same from the United States Government. It will pass the House.

The Stay Law was up in the Senate, during an afternoon session, but after spending an hour over it, the bill was sent back to the Judiciary Committee, which will report it to-morrow, with amendments.

The House spent an afternoon session, yesterday, and three sessions to-day, on the three million bill, and has not yet got beyond the 3d section. The prospect is not bright for getting away this week.

Mr. Williams introduced into the House, yesterday, some strong, nervous resolutions, denouncing Baltimore for the slaughter of U. S. troops in her streets. They will, most probably, (certainly they ought to) pass.

How Fort Pickens was Attacked but Not Taken—Bribery Opens the Siege.

A correspondent of the Washington "Sunday Chronicle," writing on board the Sabine off Pensacola, under date of April 20, gives details of the recent unsuccessful attempt on the part of the rebels to get possession of Fort Pickens by bribery. Lieut. Slemmer, having his suspicions aroused by the frequent passage of letters and papers between the fort and Warrington, gave orders that all such communications must be stopped. The very next day a roll of papers was sent over from Warrington to a sergeant, which Lieut. Slemmer opened and examined. He was rewarded for his trouble by finding a note enclosed making vague offers to the man if he would betray his trust. A watch was set over the sergeant, and the next day another package came over addressed to the same man, and having this notice enclosed:

"What a jackass you are. I again renew my offer of a position, with a lieutenant's commission, and all your pay two-fold that is due you from the Federal Government. Also to Flynn. If you will help us along to save bloodshed, I can offer any private in the company $400, and any non-commissioned officer $1,000, together with a guarantee of future promotion as high or higher, as he now stands. Every man who will take upon themselves to give us the fort without bloodshed, and save the lives of your garrison, will be well paid—all back pay, $600 for the privates, $1,000 for non-commissioned officers, and a commission in the Confederate army. This I offer by authority. I would not offer it otherwise. You, as a friend, I believe will trust me. We must and will have the fort, but 'tis not worth one drop of blood; but if it costs five thousand lives, we must and will have it. Fill it full of Federal troops if you will, yet we must and will have it. Don't be a dam'd fool. When and where can I see you? I will go over to-night, and will take a cocktail if you say so. Answer first opportunity.

Yours, &c.,

B"

The same day (April 10,) Lieut. Slemmer received private information that the troops on the opposite side were making preparations, providing boats, &c, and intended to come that night or the next. He immediately addressed a note to Capt. Adams, commanding the squadron, informing him of the fact, and requesting reinforcements. A storm prevented the Wyandotte from going out of the harbor that night, but Lieut. Slemmer kept his men in position during the night, and had the sergeant strictly watched.

Just at this critical moment Capt. Adams received information from Washington to re-enforce the fort, and immediately complied with Lieut. Slemmer's requisition, and on the morning of April 11, the latter sent the ordnance sergeant referred to on board the Sabine, deeming it unsafe to keep him at Pickens, even if a good man, subject to the influences around him.

On the morning of the 13th of April, a private of Slemmer's company made the following statement:

"I was on the picket guard last night. During the night I saw a small boat approach the beach. I stepped back to see what it was about, when a man came before me. I brought my musket to a charge, and ordered him to halt. He said 'Don't shoot; I am a friend.' He then began to talk to me, and to ask about the fort. While he was talking three others came up behind me. They asked me many questions about the number of men, &c., about the flank defense, and whether the guns could not be spiked, &c. They said they would give any man plenty of money if he would only spike the flank defense guns, and asked when I would be on picket-guard. I told them on Monday night. They said 'We will be over and ready.' As they were going away one of them said to me, 'How are you off for money in the fort?' I said, 'We have not been paid for six months.' He then put a roll of bills in my hand, and said, 'Give that to them.' He then gave me a roll of bills amounting to sixty dollars, which I now have in my possession."

After making this statement he gave the $60 to Slemmer. The gallant Lieutenant declared that it was only when he saw these evidences of intentions to bribe his men to spike his flank defense guns, and thus obtain possession of the fort, he believed it necessary to call for reinforcements.

An Ambush in Virginia.

The politicians of Virginia have become distinguished for their low cunning. The circumstances of the adoption of the ordinance of secession in secret session of the convention, shows the treachery of which they are capable. There is reason to believe that a systematic effort has been made to deceive the Government and the people of the North as to the numbers and efficiency of the secession forces collected in the State. The railroads in the Cotton States have for weeks been thronged with troops pouring into Virginia. There are considerable numbers of Kentucky and Tennessee volunteers in the State, and masses of troops have been forwarded from South Carolina, Alabama and Georgia. The Virginians have been preparing for war for years, and it is almost unaccountable, if there is not a force numbering thirty thousand in the camps of Eastern Virginia. If the figures of the forces are as low as they have been represented, the weakness of the secession cause is unexpected. The chances are that Gov. Letcher & Co., are flattering themselves that they will deceive the Government of the United States, and lead the United States troops into an ambush. But whoever may be ill informed, it is not likely that Gen. Scott is wanting in knowledge of the strength of the enemy.—[Cin. Com.

Projects in Memphis.

The following appears in a late number of the Memphis Bulletin:—

"There is enough real and personal estate in this city, owned by Cincinnatians alone, if sold at auction, to equip for service the five thousand volunteers now under arms in this city. We remember that the stock of our Gas Company is held by Cincinnatians. We do not forget that the stock of our banks is owned in part in Cincinnati, and the residue in Philadelphia, New York and Boston. There is not less than twenty millions of railroad, bank, and other stocks held by Northern men in this State. Tennessee has issued eighteen millions of State bonds; these are all 'down East,' except perhaps, one or two millions. This city has outstanding one and a half million of bonds, many of them in Cincinnati, the balance in the North. This county has issued notes payable in five years, all held, or very nearly all, in the East. Adjacent counties have done the same thing to build railroads. Then the people of this city owe, perhaps, half a million in Cincinnati. The whole amount foots up an incalculable sum, of which, in point of fact, the North has been enabled to rob the South by a tariff system, operating so unjustly upon us, that it we had only paid to the Federal Government the taxes that should have been imposed upon us in accordance with our comparative wealth and numbers, we would have been to-day richer than we are by quite one thousand millions of dollars."

"We might be indexed to sequester all this indebtedness to the North. The State might appoint a receiver, and make all her citizens, and banks, and corporations pay these comfortable sums of money into the State Treasury. The Legislature is now in session, and may, in a generous spirit, authorize our Board of Aldermen to 'hold and pocket' the effects of Cincinnatians in our midst. The joke is so rich that we hope the Gazette and Commercial will not explode while enjoying it."

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA, FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.—How many unfortunate victims of mercurial practice, without hope of cure, now joyfully testify their restoration to health to the medicinal virtues and surprising efficacy of this invaluable preparation. In all cases where the impoverished and depraved condition of the blood is sold-nerd by eruptions, blotches, or sores, its operation will be found in the highest degree salutary.

The public are cautioned to ask for SANDS' SARSAPARILLA, and take no other, as a host of spurious imitations upon which no reliance can be placed, are in the market.

Prepared and sold by A. B. & D. SANDS, Druggists, 100 Fulton street, New York.

Sold also by R. A. FAHNESTOCK & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sold also by Druggists generally. my1:lmdlw:tw1y
