tion against the rebels. It would have proved itself unworthy of confidence had it done otherwise, for the success of those plans must very considerably depend upon their being kept from the knowledge of those against whom they are directed. But there is no possibility of any honest mistake in regard to its general policy. The administration has given every pledge that it will listen to no compromise with armed rebullion. Whatever thoughts may be floating through other minds, its singleness.

Revival AT THE CAMP.—We learn that there is a quige-sh; interesting revival now in progress at Camp Wright. The meetings are field daily at one and sevan "clock p." in, and are very largely attended.
