RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

From the cheering accounts of the revival movement in Paris, resulting from the labors of Mr. Reginald Radcliffe, whose labors have been so wonderfully owned of God in England, the work is spreading and promises great good to the cause of Evangelical religion in that gay city. Mr. Radcliffe's ignorance of French would appear as a barrier to success; but the people were captivated by the foreign language in which he spoke, and the overwhelming earnestness by which he was animated. It is reported on one occasion, and at one of his largest meetings, he managed to speak three words of French, at the very pitch of his voice, shouting, "Oh, my friends, Dieu vous aime! Dieu vous aime!" (God loves you! God loves you!) The effect produced was quite electric. Notwithstanding the success attending the movement, considerable opposition was manifested, as might be expected, by the Romish priest-hood, and strange to say from the National Protestant Church of France. The French police viewed the matter from an entirely different stand-point, and argued that if Protestants are opposed by the National Protestant Church, it can't be a Protestant movement—it must be a political movement, and the meetings were interdicted. Fortunately Dr. Monod and his church were ready to help forward the good work. The interdict of the police changed the mode of conducting the meetings from being held in public, from house to house, so that in a few days no fewer than forty different prayer meetings were held weekly. The latest intelligence from France states that over three hundred persons of all ranks and ages profess to have been saved after six months of labor, and the work still goes on.

——Great success has attended the open-air meetings held in the Queen's Park, Edinburgh. Mr. Richard Weaver, the celebrated lay preacher, it is said, addressed audiances of from seven to eight thousand people on recent Sunday evenings. Quite a number of distinguished ministers and prominent laymen attended these meetings and participated in the exercises.

——The Southern Christian Advocate, published at Nashville, Tenn., of August 1st, contains some paragraphs that are significant of the straitened condition of those living in "Dixie." The agent of the paper begs its correspondents to be sure to pay the postage of eighteen cents required by the Confederate firm, in view of the inability of the paper to pay the heavy tax. In the same column, the editor exhorts the subscribers and readers to keep a rag-bag in every house, as they sell well, and paper will be needed ere long. The exhortations are succeeded by the following: "The supply of steel pens will soon be out; and the factories are at the North. We shall soon have to fall back on Goose, Gander & Co."

——Anthony Burns, a fugitive slave, returned to his master from Boston, and who elicited so much attention from the press, has just settled as pastor of the colored Baptist church in St. Catharine's, Canada West.

——According to the action of a convention of delegates of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Confederate States, held at Montgomery, Alabama, last month, resolutions were adopted severing the connection of the Northern and Southern Church, and a committee appointed to report a constitution and canons at an adjourned meeting in Columbia, South Carolina, on the third Wednesday in October next. The Presbyterian Banner, commenting on this extraordinary procedure says, if a division of the Churches is to be founded upon a division of the country, it is possible that the Southerners may be a little too fast, as the Confederacy is not yet recognized by any one of the family of nations. If not, then these Southern divisive conventions are schismatical."

——A Paris publishing house has just issued "Monita Secreta" of the Company of Jesus—being none other than the secret infamous instructions of the Jesuits order, circulated among the members in manuscript form in 1661—with the Latin and French text printed in parallel columns.

——The Presbyter, of Cincinnati, (Old School) proposes the union of the Old and New School bodies of the North as being more desirable than the possibility of uniting both sections of the Old School under present circumstances. A writer in the Presbyterian Recorder advocates the union of the Old and New School Presbyterians in the United States. He says:

"A little sacrifice of opinion, a little letting down of technical severity, and a large influence of brotherly love, with the 'single eye,' and with some wise and fraternal planning, are all that is needed to bring about a most desirable union of what now remains in a most unnatural separation."

——The Nashville Methodist Advocate is mourning over the occupancy of Bardoursville, Virginia, by the Federal troops—Hessians it denominates its loyal countrymen—the seat of the next Western Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, September 11th. It recommends postponement till late in the year, or not held at all—appointments continuing as they were. This paper has an editorial of nearly a column, headed, "Praise God for Victory," on the Bull Run battle.

——The Rev. John Leyburn, for nine years associated with Rev. Dr. Engles in the editorship of the Presbyterian, has resigned, assigning the following as the cause: "Circumstances arising out of the present agitations of the country have satisfied the undersigned that he cannot with propriety continue to occupy his editorial chair."

——From recent letters received from Japan, we learn that the surveillance of the police over the missionaries has entirely ceased. The British residents of Yokohama are about creating a church edifice. Opportunities of circulating the Scriptures and other good books in the Chinese language are on the increase.

——The Protestant Dutch Reformed Church has published, under its official sanction, during the past year 36,050 copies of books and tracts, the whole amounting to 8,105,200 pages

——A correspondent of the New Covenant (Universalist organ) says:

"The cause of Universalism is not very prosperous in Western New York at the present time. About one-half of our preachers are unemployed, or but partially employed; and near two-thirds of the societies, counting only those who own meeting-houses, have no meetings, or but occasionally. If this state of things should continue long, it will compel a portion of the clergy to abandon their profession for some other employment."

——The new Attorney-General of England, Mr. Atherton, is a Wesleyan Methodist, and the son of a minister of that denomination. This position is but a step in legal promotion next to the "Wool Sack," whose occupant presides in the Court of Chancery and the House of Lords. Dissent now-a-days is looking up. It is said the Lord Chancellor is an Independent. The Earl of Zetland, who was decorated by the Queen recently with the insignia of the Grand Order of the Thistle, is also a Dissenter, having been a regular attendant all his life at the chapel (Unitarian) in Essex street Strand.

Depredations in Southern Kansas.

SETTLERS DRIVEN OFF THE CHEROKEE NEUTRAL LANDS—SIXTEEN MEN KILLED.

The Leavenworth, Kansas, Daily Times, of the 9th instant, gives the following account of some outrageous proceedings of a band of secessionists and Indians in Southern Kansas:

"Mr. Avery T. Spencer arrived here last evening, from Allen county, this State. He left Allen county on Tuesday, for the purpose of procuring assistance for the settlers on the Neutral Indian Lands, in Southern Kansas, who are now being driven out and murdered by a band of some five hundred secessionists and Cherokees, under command of one John Matthews, formerly a trader among the Osage Indians.

"Mr. Spencer informs us that this Matthews has driven the settlers off the neutral lands, and also off a strip of government land, three miles wide, below the neutral lands, hanging and shooting some sixteen of them, besides taking everything from them that he possibly could. Sixty families of the settlers have taken refuge in Humboldt, Allen county, and Leroy, Coffey county. Matthews also took twenty prisoners at one time, but through the influence of Captain Miller, of the Cherokee Nation, they were set at liberty. He made the threat to the prisoners that he would burn Humboldt and Osage Mission in less than a week. The band also took some forty horses from the settlers on Lightning Creek. The band is well armed with rifles and revolvers, and their only object appears to be plunder.

RUINS OF PHŒNICIA.—During the past three months considerable progress has been made in exploing the ruins of the ancient cities of Phœnicia. At Saida and Sour remains of the Crusaders were found, but none above ground of the Phœnicians. Gigantic blocks of granite, marking the limits of the ancient port of Sidon, still remain; also on the plain to the east of the site of the old city a subterranean Sidon has been discovered Some of the sculptures, &c., resembles those of Egypt, others those of Ninevah and Persepolis. Amongst the objects brought to Paris are many articles of dress and common use, Phœnician coins, and a leaden sarcophagus of good workmanship.

A SENSIBLE COLONEL.—It is said of Col. Burnside of R. I. that he is a great foe to long speeches, and is invariably "a man of few words." In this connection, it is related of him, that, on an occasion of the presentation of a color to the regiment by a member of Congress, in behalf of some ladies in Washington, the said M. C. as is usual with men of his cloth, prefaced the presentation with a lengthy speech. Burnside stood, with head uncovered, waiting with all the patience he could muster, the conclusion of the harangue, upon which, turning to the speaker he remarked, "Very much obliged to you—very much obliged to you—Fall in—fall in," and immediately the regiment was on the march."

THE BANKER AND THE SAILOR.—When Mr. Hankey was in vogue as a London banker, a sailor, had, as part of his pay, a draft on him for fifty pounds. This the sailor thought an immense sum, and, calling at the house, insisted on seeing the master in private. This was at length accoded to, and when the banker and sailor mot together the following conversation ensued: "Mr. Hankey," says the sailor, "I've got a tickler for you—didn't like to expose you before the lads." "That was kind. Pray what's the tickler?" "Never mind; don't be afraid, I won't hurt you—'tis a fifty." "Ah, that's a tickler, indeed." "Don't fret; give me five pounds now, and the rest at so much per week. I shan't mention it to anybody."

IRISH LINENS,
DAMASKS, DIAPERS, &C.
CONSUMERS OF RICHARDSON'S LINENS, and those desirous of obtaining the GENUINE GOODS, should see that the articles they purchase are stamped with the full name of the firm,
J. N. RICHARDSON, SONS & OWDEN, as a guarantee of the soundness and durability of the Goods.

This caution is rendered essentially necessary, as large quantities of inferior and defective Linens are prepared, season after season and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, by Irish Houses, who, regardless of the injury thus inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers of the genuine Goods will not readily abandon a business so profitable, while purchasers can be imposed on with Goods of a worthless character.
