AND ADVERTIBING AT REASONABLE RATES PITTSBURGE: TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 10, 1861.

is the field? This is a question which every Pennsylvanian should press upon ble individual attention, for the honor of the State is involved in the answer. Illinois, with less than half the population of Pennsylvania, has now 50,000 men in the army for the war; Indiana, with one-third of our population, has 40,000; now, how many have we !

months' service, Pennsylvania had not a single Regiment in the deld for the war. Shortly after that, the Governor, upon the regulation of the President, sent the fifteen. reserve Begiments, enlisted for State service, to Washington, to serve for the war. These fifteen Regiments number 1,046 men each, making a total of 15,690 men. These are all the men the State has sent, yet, through the agency of her State authorities. Besides these, however, several Regiments have been raised by individual enterprise. We can now recal to mind those of Cols. Small; Einstein, Geary, Leasure and Black-linois and Indiana; it compares as poorly with Massachusetts and Maine; and does not compare favorably with any other State. It is of no use to sak whose fault this is adequate means of transport, without artilize not the fault of any one in particular, or of any set of men. The people who, through their organs, have been pressing tary authorities of modera times would declare It is of no use to sek whose fault this is. upon the notice of the Government the necasalty for prompt and vigorous action against its enemies, should not forget that the Government on its part has an equal the temerity of its own sprit and that of those right to look for prompt and vigorous action from them. If Illinois can furnish 50, list not least, without a greatly increased proportion of qualified officers of all grades, but aspecially staff officers, any considerable adespecially staff officers, any considerable adespecially staff officers, any considerable adespecially staff officers, and yet her people seem willing to another letting and the control of the control the smaller States outstrip her.
