MONDAY MORNING, SEPT. 16, 1861.

LATEST FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12, 1861.

Prisoners.

The recent skirmishes between our pickets and those of the enemy have resulted in the capture of quite a number of prisoners, to say nothing of the number killed on the other side. Our losses have been very few indeed. During this week twenty-one rebel prisoners have been added to those already confined here.

Foreign Relations.

It is understood that the State Department is in receipt of dispatches from our foreign ministers conveying the most gratifying assurances of the views of foreign nations on the present struggle in this country. England is determined to preserve her strict neutrality on the blockade question, while other European powers give earnest evidences of their sympathies. The recent letter from Russia is the only special dispatch presented to this government on the subject.

No Immediate Advance of the Rebels.

Everything to-day tends to confirm the dispatch of last night, that there is no immediate prospect of an advance of the rebels.

Picket Firing.

Picket firing has been kept up all day, but without wounding or killing any one so far as known. The rebels maintain their old position. Continued arrivals represent the navigation of the Potomac as perfectly free. Night before last a vessel laid all night off Mathia Point without molestation. A refugee from Martinsburg reports that, on Friday morning, Union men of Martinsburg, Va., were impressed in the rebel service.

Reimbursement of Pennsylvania for War Expenses.

Governor Curtin, Auditor General Cochran and State Treasurer Moore, of Pennsylvania, had an interview with the Secretary of the Treasury, this morning, at which it was arranged that six hundred thousand dollars be immediately paid over to reimburse in part on the advances already made, the balance, or about two-thirds, to be paid hereafter.

Cotton in England.

The Government is in receipt of valuable information by the last steamer relating to the present stock of cotton in the English warehouses, and the prospect of a supply from other sources than the rebel States. This information leaves no room to doubt that the Manchester mills will be able to run on full time for an entire year, even without touching one pound of the new crop. The information obtained from the Spinners' Association has greatly and agreeably surprised the manufacturers, and led them to soften down very much in their demand for a speedy termination of the war. The fact that our Eastern mills have shipped raw material to England has astonished the European spinners, who had supposed our factories to be closed for the want of supplies.

The National Zeitung.

Based upon trustworthy information received by the Government of the disloyal sentiments uttered by the National Zeitung, of New York, the Postmaster General has directed that that journal be denied the facilities of the United States mail.

Sarrel's Post-Notes.

Sarrel has failed thus far to obtain possession of his forty thousand pounds in post-notes. They are held by General Spinner, United States Treasurer, who declines to give them up except upon order of Secretary Chase.

Lowe's Balloon Reconnoissances.

The results of Mr. Lowe's balloon reconnoissances show that the rebel troops who were at Manassas on the 6th are now moving up towards Washington. They struck their tents and left their camps on the 7th, were at Bull Run and Centreville on the 8th, at Fairfax yesterday, and are between Fairfax and Bailey's Cross Roads to-day. They consist of the regiments enumerated in my letter of the 7th, and number 25,000 men.

Gen. Johnston at Manassas.

It is reported to-day that General Albert S. Johnston was at Manassas on Sunday, and that he will have command of the troops above referred to. It is well known that this General Johnston has been expected at Richmond for a long time, and it may be that the great movement before Washington has been delayed for his arrival. But the probability is he will be ordered to the chief command of the rebels in the Mississippi valley.

The Virginia Brigade.

Col. Ward Lamon has already raised for his Virginia Brigade about twenty-five hundred men. As recruiting has ceased in Northern Virginia, consequent upon the retreat of our troops to Maryland, he will proceed at once to Illinois, under authority of the War Department, to obtain troops to complete the Brigade. He is authorized to muster in and draw subsistence for the men as fast as they enlist.

Gen. Butler to Raise 6,000 Troops.

Gen. Butler is authorized to raise six thousand men in New England, and goes East for that purpose. They will be detailed for special service under his command. The opportunity of a change, offered to one accustomed to a sea-faring life, and at the same time not unused to bearing a musket, is excellent.

Reported Naval Expeditions.

The speculation in certain quarters touching naval expeditions South, are mostly fabricated. Students of charts can discover vulnerable points on the coast, and then jump to the conclusion that they will be attacked.

The Government and Gen. Fremont.

It is the public will be patient, the curiosity awakened by the correspondent of one of the New York papers with regard to the relations between the Administration and Gen. Fremont, will be gratified by the way of St. Louis. It is easy to sow the seeds of discord between the Government and the friends of military commanders, and to divert the attention of the people from the war. Whatever may be the result of the mission to St. Louis, those who have at heart the honor and success of the war, may rest assured that the policy decided by Gen. Fremont of emancipating the slaves of Rebels in arms, will not be repudiated by this Administration. It will be sustained.

From the Rebel Camp.

According to the latest intelligence from the rebel camp, provisions are plenty, except coffee, which only the advance guard can get. There is much disease, especially of a typhoid type. The South Carolinians and Georgian regiments are greatly troubled by the cold nights, and threaten to go home.

Reclaiming Slaves.

The reception of Mr. Thos. G. Perry, of Prince George's county, Maryland, who came to Gen. Sickles' camp to reclaim four slaves, was not flattering. He was informed that they were better than he; that he was a nigger thief, and received other unsavory personal news. Mr. Garrison himself could not have outdone these bold spoken Irish Democrats.

Reported Arrival of War Ships off Fort Macon.

A dispatch, dated Wilmington, 10th inst., says four Federal vessels had appeared off Ft. Macon.

General Lander and General Burnside Ordered on Special Service.

General Lander is ordered, with his brigade of picket sharpshooters, upon a special expedition. The chivalry must look out.

General Burnside, who has been detailed to the service of organizing regiments into brigades, is detached from that duty, and ordered upon a more important and active service. Gen. Casey succeeds him here in the work of organizing brigades.

The Colonelcy of the Pennsylvania Cavalry.

Major Bayard, of the United States Cavalry, was to-day commissioned by Governor Curtin Colonel of the cavalry regiment of the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps, of which Owen Jones, ex-member of Congress, is Major.

Gen. Rosecrans' Report.

The following is Gen. Rosecrans' official report:

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF VIRGINIA, } CAMP SCOTT, Sept. 11—P. M.

To Col. E. D. Townsend:

We yesterday marched seventeen and a-half miles, reached the enemy's intrenched position in front of Cox's Ferry, driving his advance outposts and pickets before us. We found him occupying a strongly intrenched position, covered by a forest too dense to admit of being seen at a distance of 300 yards. His force was five regiments, besides the one driven in. He had probably 16 pieces of artillery.

At 3 o'clock we began a strong reconnoissance which proceeded to such length that we were about to assault the position on the flank and front, when night coming on, and our troops being completely exhausted, I drew them out of the woods, and posted them in the order of battle behind ridges immediately in front of the enemy's position, where they rested on their arms till morning. Shortly after daylight a runaway contraband came in and reported that the enemy had crossed the Gauley during the night by means of the ferry, and a bridge which they had completed.

Col. Ewing was ordered to take possession of the camp, which he did at about 7 o'clock, capturing a few prisoners, two stand of colors, a considerable quantity of arms, with quartermaster's stores, subsistence and camp equipage. The enemy having destroyed the bridge across the Gauley, which here rushes through a deep gorge, and our troops being still much fatigued, and having no material for immediately replacing the bridge, it was thought prudent to recall the troops occupy the ferry and encamp.

Captured the camp, sending a few rifled cannon shots after the enemy to produce a moral effect. Our loss will probably amount to 20 killed and 100 wounded. The enemy's loss had not been ascertained, but from report it must have been considerable.

(Signed) H. S. ROSECRANS.

The Lower Potomac.

From information received by the Government there is good reason to believe that the rebels are preparing to cut off all communication on the lower Potomac. As I informed you some days since, their batteries at Acquia Creek have been increased in number and strengthened by additional guns. They are determined not only, as I said previously, "to hold the terminus of the railway at all hazards," but they are also evidently preparing to command the full range of the river, and cut off intercourse. They have cannon which, by actual experiment, has thrown shot into the bank on the opposite side of the Potomac, and more of these heavy pieces are to be added to those already there. With these, two objects are to be gained—the stoppage of our shipping and the landing of an army in Maryland.

A very intelligent lady of this city, and an excellent Union woman, who has, at her own house, been feeding and nursing our sick soldiers, made an effort, a few days ago, to get her daughter home from Virginia, where she has, for some time, been on a visit to near and dear relatives of Southern proclivities. A communication was sent to the mother advising her to allow the daughter to remain, as a matter of necessity, as it was the purpose of the army to cross the Potomac in a few days, and enter Washington. In addition to this, we have the evidence of escaped fugitives, of intelligent Confederate newspaper correspondents, of editors of Southern papers, and of numerous private correspondents, all tending to show an intention on the part of the rebel leaders to invade Washington. Whether this "intention" will ever be brought to the test of a trial does not yet clearly appear. There is one thing certain, however, that Gen. McClellan is ready to receive them with the strongest force that can be gathered on the sacred soil of Virginia.

As to the attempt to cross the Potomac it must be made quickly, if or all, for to the flotilla, now numbering eighteen vessels, six more will be immediately added. Against these the little steamer Page, and all the batteries they may be pleased to plant on the banks of Acquia Creek, will not be able to cope with any show of success.—Phila. Press.

Commodore Stewart.

A city journal gives currency to a story about Commodore Stewart, which does infinite injustice to the most loyal and gallant of officers. The Commodore is represented as having been a passengers on board the Canada on its recent voyage from Liverpool; and as having announced his intention to go at once to the South, and take a commission in the rebel navy, having boasted that he had shipped 250,000 muskets from Europe to the insurgents, one-half of which had reached them. The statement proceeds to say that both the Commodore and his wife are Southerners, owning vast estates in the Southern Confederation. Hence their violent affection for treason.

Commodore Stewart, it is hardly necessary to say, has been confined for a long time to his residence in New Jersey by illness added to the infirmities of very advanced age; a native of Pennsylvania, and neither by marriage or otherwise connected with the South. It is as well understood that his sentiments are strongly on the side of law and order, and the energetic prosecution of the war. If slander must be indulged at the expense of loyal and faithful men, a veteran who has proved his devotion by sixty-three years of unfaltering fidelity to the Union and the flag, might be permitted to escape.—N. Y. Times.

MORE ARRESTS FOR DEALING WITH TRAITORS.—Benjamin F. Corliss, of the firm of Corliss & Macy, stationers of No. 33 Nassau street, was arrested yesterday by detectives Sampson and Dewoe, on a charge of having ordered of Conrad Fatzer $150,000 worth of bills on the Pittsylvania Bank of Virginia. This money was intended to be taken South by W. H. Milnor, who was arrested on Tuesday. Fatzer, who is a lithographer at No. 219 William street, was also arrested, for having printed the bills. He sent them to Corliss' store, and they were afterwards smuggled to a house on Second avenue. VALUABLE IMPROVEMENT
In Steam and Atmospheric Hammers.

LETTERS PATENT were granted on the 4th Sept, 4th, 1860, to Thomas Beach, for a very simple and efficient improvement in Steam and Atmospheric Hammers, whereby the full stroke of the hammer is obtained, no matter what the thickness of the masses of iron to be hammered—thereby effecting a great increase of power where large pieces of metal are to be operated upon, and a corresponding saving of expense.

The subscribers are owners of said patent, and are desirous of selling rights to use said improvement, as well as territory under said patent. A model of said improvement is left at the office of Messrs Bakewell & Ouseley, Attorneys at Law, corner of Grant and Diamond streets, where parties interested may call and see it, and learn also the terms of license sale, &c.
