, to Europe on board, ran the blockade at Charleston and put o sea some time ago, has been pretty generally accepted as a fact, though it was from the first very slenderly supported by evidence -even by that of the ever-lying rebels themselves. Now it appears that, according to some of the statements contained in the latest newspapers received from the South, the Nathwell's must have been in Charleston harbor saveral days after she was reported to have successed in running the blockade. The fact seems to be that she was preparing to make the venture, and probably some sanguine rebal, calculating on the success of the attempt, "was a little previous" in making the sanouncement as of a fact accomplished. Even if she has since secaped, perhape the delay will give the pursuing jun-boats such advantage in the pursuit; that they can get hold of her yet. But the Atlantic Ocean is a very wide field for a chase, and though covers are not plesty, there may be doubles in the game.

Maccomfortable Amyhow.

A Kentneky correspondent writes to a Cincinnati paper: — Imentioned some days say the party arrested of Green, of Benton, who was charged with sympathising with, and giving add to rebellion. Levi S. Green, the party arrested, was examined on Thursday, and honorably discharged, no sufficient evidence appearing against him.

He was born in Orleans County, New York, where his aged parents yet reside. Some years ago he came West, a poor young lawyer, in search of fame and fortune. Settling in Benton, Scott, County, he soon got practice, and eventually, through marriage and hand-some fees, came to be a mining the set of the second scape, and the set of the second fame and fortune.
