Cost of the War on Both Sides.
It is estimated that the expenses of the war itates and three or four hundred m he confederates. The naval expedition which is coating us so mands, it is expected will in-crease the confederate expense anormously, merely for fortifications, which they are doubt-lessly executing at every valuesable, point alone

The female secessionists here are scarcely able to restrain expressions of their gratification at the result of the late crossing of the Potomac. You may tell who are trailers at heart by the ghoul-like satisfaction expressed in their laces that their laces are the authorever since that fatal event. Fear of the authorities only prevents them from hurrahing for Jeff. Davis in the public streets.

Gen. Fremont's Removal.

The following is a special dispatch from Washington to the Chicago Tribune: Washington to the Chleago Tribune:

No doubt that the order superseding Fremont by Hunter has gone west, as I telegraphed. Dispatches from Washington for General Hunter, which would not have been sent to a subordinate direct, passed, I understand, through St. Louis, last Sunday. Fremont may therefore have airendy coased to command the Western Department. Furthermore, Adjutant General Thomas's report could not have properly been published until Fremont-ine-sent in his resignation. It is Fremont-ine-sent in his resignation. It is known outside-of official circles, that the resignation of a Commander-of st Department was received to-day, which was unsigned. Official Conserence.

The President and the Secretary of War, had a long conference to day, with Adjutant General Thomas, at the office of the latter, the purport of which has not been made public. We have no doubt that Gen. Fremont bas reen removed. This was a loregone conclu ion from the beginning. We have no doubt also; that the President is actuated by motives of duty slone. We have the utmost confidence his integrity and in his single heatedness His responsibilities are tremendous, and hi the public; and Gen. Premont's friends should mont shall have the opportunity to defend maeli from the published charges, the public will hold supordinates to a strict account.

If John Charles Fremont is an earnest and self-sacrificing advocate of the war, he will anticipate the decree of the President, and gracefully rotire. My hope is, that before the report of Ganeral Thomas, and the subsequent order of the Executive, reach him, he will have schieved a great victory over the rebels, which will inspire his countryment to forgive; that which is now almost universally denounced. If there is one, thing that we should be able to contradict in. this unprecedented struggle, it is the accusation that corruption is parmitted in the expenditure of the public money for war i purposes. I do not believe General Fremont to be a corrupt man; and this as the voluntary judgment of many who know him well. The report of Adjutant General Thomas shows that he is surrounced by operators and speculators; and that he has allowed himself; to be used to puffurther their plans. In all this painful affair.
