Disinterested Patriotism.

It is remarkably strange how patriotic some people are. This idea is more particularly ex-emplified in the case of the recent visit of a emplified in the case of the recent visit of a disunguissed steambart Captain from your city. He came here overflowing with darfs, terested patriotism and pure undefiled religion. He wished to save the Government from the acommous expense that it is at present subjected by keeping so many Commodores or Superintendants of transport service. He commences to protect the Government by villiying and impogning the character and ability of the Government officials, one particularly, Commodore Able, because said Able could not find it beneficial to the Government compley the to give to him $4,000 if ne would get the boat in the the transport service. Then the disinterested Captain wanted to get the Government prices for Captains of transports, which is $175 per month, making for one year's corvice $6,100, besides what some benevolent passenger might feel willing to give to the Captain for the privilege of riding on the boat. The desinterested Captain failed to accomplish this obless. He then turns his sixteens

The disinterested Capital failed to accomplish this object. He then turns his standerous tongue to injure all whom he has come in connection with in this place. Here is the celebrated Capital A. H.
