"One letter was found in Beaufort from Mr. Robert —, at Manassas, to his mother in which he says, alluding to some friends: You remember my promising them a Yankee skull for a drinking cup; and adds further on: 'May be you would like one, too, to put on your whatnot, would you not?' I quote from the original letter before me. The following is a letter-intercepted by Gen. Nelson, exhibiting the same fiendish port, and the eight other ports under his invisition.

The following is a letter-intercepted by Gen. Nelson, exhibiting the same fiendish spirit:

MASINOTON, Va., October 2d, 1861.

My Dear Wife—I have left you and our children in the land of the despot, but God grant that I may soon be able to make the Union men of Kentucky feel the edge of my knife. From this day I hold every Union to receive quarter, and to him I will never grant my soul in death; for they are command of the first officer or some other suities and it is a will ains enough. Brother Henry and I arrived here without hindrance. I have had chills all the way, but I hope to live to kill forty Yankees for every chill that I ever had. I learn that Hardee is still in the Arkansas lines inactive, and if this proves to be true I will tender my resignation and go immediately to Kentucky. I hope that I will do my duty as a robel and freeman. Since I have the Union men of Kentucky, I intend to begin the work of murder in earnest, and if I ever spare one of them may hell be my portion. I want to see Union blood flow deep enough for my horse to swim in. Your husband, at Beaufort, but no other indications of a warlike disposition have been detected to them. He is the God of the loyalists and the rebel sympathizers in Baltimore repudiate his authority and defy his power. They won't sit in the same church, they won't recite the same prayers, they won't recite the same prayers, they won't recite the same God, they won't go to the same Heaven with the Union men and women. They are not only better than the God of the Unionists, and they curse him with all their curses because Union men prayers to him, and offer thanks for their preservation from the fearful ills that so lately menaced them."

E. To Horse Owners.—Dr. Sweet's LIFFALLIBLE LINIMENT FOR HORSES is unrivalled by any; in all cases of Lameness, arising from Sprains, Brutest, or Wrenching, its effect is magical and certain. Harness or Soddle Galls, Scratches, Mauge, &c., it will also cure speedily. Sprain and Bingbone may be easily invented and cured in their inciplent singes, but 'contrined cases are beyond the possibility of a radical cure. No case of the kind, however, is so desperate or hopeless but; if may be alleviated by this Liniment, and its faithful application will always remove the lameness and anable the horse to travel with comparative case.

Every horse ownershould have this remody at hand, for its timely use at the first appearance of lameness will effectually prevent these formidable diseases mentioned, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worth-ALLIBLE LINIMENT FOR HORSES IS T
