ment, has arrived home on a brief visit to his family. He looks creeedingly well, and speaks cheeringly of affairs on the Potomae. The health of the Regiment is excellent, and we were surprised to learn from him that he had lost but one man from his company-a New Yorker, who died of consumption. With this exception be has every man he took away with him. He also speaks in high terms of the spirit and efficiency of the regiment, the character of their arms, the beauty of their new French Zouare uniforms, etc. It will afford pleasure to those having friends in this corps to learn that the men are healthy, con-tented, and in excellent fighting trim. They are eager for an advance, and it is probable that they will be ordered forward as soon as the Burnside expedition strikes a blow.
