Board feel authorized to suggest too, that there is, perhaps, no moment in a man's life so suspicious for bestowing on him a copy of God's word, and commending it to his heart, as that in which he steps from the sacred and hollowed spot called Home; turns his back upon the avon and quiet life of citizen: emerges into the character of "soldier" and embarks for the distant field of a soldier's life. Have we all, who love this Bible, done on part to place a copy of it in the hand of every soldier now in camp, for the defense of his country? ountry?]

Destructive Fire-Pittsburgh Plow Works Damaged--5,000 Plows and 38 Gun Carriages Destroyed--Fir-ing of Bock Oil in Bulk--Narrow Escape of the Hand Street Bridge--Loss $50,000--Insurance $40,000.

The origin of the fire has not been satisfactorily ascertained, but it is supposed to have resulted from a spark falling into some tinpentine, as the gas was being lighted. The greatest care was taken, however, to guard against fire. There was not a stove in the building save one, which was in the office. The whole establishment was heated by steam, and lighted with seventy-five gas burners. There were two setts of hands constantly employed in the works, the "day turn" numbering one hundred men. At night the number employed was considerably less.

The French steamer Catinet sailed this forencon for Havans.

The Pomone, flag-ship, is still here. It is probable that the French fleet in our waters will be represented here for some time, one or two vessels being always in port. Another steamer is daily expected.

The robel fleet in Elizabeth river has been moving about considerably all day. During the forencom heavy firing was going, on at Sowall's Point, and this afternoon a tug was seen steaming around, and at one time towing something, supposed to be a floating battery, to the Point.
