MEDICAL.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

A Slight Cold, Cough, Hoarseness or Sore Throat, which might be checked with a simple remedy, if neglected, often terminates seriously. Few are aware of the importance of stopping a Cough or Slight Cold in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if not attended to, soon attacks the lungs.

Brown's Bronchial Troches were first introduced eleven years ago. It has been proved that they are the best article before the public for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, the Hacking Cough in Consumption, and numerous affections of the Throat, giving immediate relief.

Public Speakers & Singers will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice.

DR. McMUNN'S ELIXIR OF OPIUM.—The perfection of this inestimable preparation is a blessing to mankind. Without deteriorating the medicinal virtues of opium, the Elixir is thoroughly purified from all the noxious qualities of the drug. In cases of fractures, burns, scalds, cancerous ulcers, and other painful affections, it will relieve pain and irritation, allay convulsions, spasmodic action, and morbid excitement of body and mind, without causing sickness, costiveness, or headache. These admirable qualities must render it pre-eminent in the list of opiates.

LATEST FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20, 1862.

RUMORED EVACUATION OF MANASSAS.

The city is filled with rumors respecting the disposition of the rebels to evacuate Manassas. It is said that the trains are busily in motion sending troops not only down to Richmond, but further south to a point in North Carolina, where it is supposed General Burnside intends to strike. If this evacuation is taking place, it will necessarily be slow work. It is estimated here, that with the utmost activity on the part of the rebels, they cannot transport their army and stores to Richmond in less than three weeks, and even then much of their bulkiest baggage would necessarily be lost. A pressure has been brought to bear upon Gen. McClellan to advance immediately, if for no other purpose than to assure himself that the rebels are not really fleeing away. It is felt that he cannot afford to have the same accident to happen to him that occurred to Gen. Buell at Bowling Green.

THE RAILROAD MEN AND THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES.

Mr. Stanton, Gen. Meigs and Gen. McClellan were present to-day in the Railroad Convention. Mr. Stanton highly eulogized the railroads for their patriotic and efficient supports of the Government. The feeling of all, even of the competing roads to the West, is that the Baltimore and Ohio road should immediately be opened to Wheeling. Mr. Stanton plainly intimated that all the power of the Government should be directed to this end, and the officers of the road give assurance that with Government protection only twenty to thirty days will be needed to put the road in operation its entire length. They estimate the loss of the road in property and revenue at three and a half million dollars since the rebellion commenced.

DEATH OF THE PRESIDENT'S SON.

Willie Lincoln, son of the President, died at 5 o'clock this afternoon, of typhoid fever, at the White House. He was the darling of the household. He died at the age of twelve. While the nation rejoices over a series of victories, Willie's father and mother mourn over their cherished boy. Those, therefore, most entitled to enjoy our glorious successes are bowed in agony at the coffin of their son. The second son of President Lincoln lies stricken of typhoid fever, and his father watches his disease even as he mourns for his dead brother. Ex-Governor Newell, of New Jersey, eminent alike as a sphysician and a statesman, assisted Drs. Hall and Stone in watching over poor Willie Lincoln. Gov. Newell has been unremitting in his attentions. Of course, the President will not be present at the great celebration of the 22d in the Capitol.

THE MEXICAN IMBROGLIO.

There was a long executive session of the Senate to-day, in which the Mexican question in all its bearings was discussed. Strong and decided ground was taken by several senators against the proposition to create a monarchy on our southern borders. It was stated that in this matter England, France and Spain were not acting in good faith, and that they were "storing up wrath against the day of wrath." What precise conclusions were arrived at are not known, but it is very well understood that a general feeling is in favor of a most decided protest on the part of our government against the scheme of placing Prince Maximilian on the throne of Mexico. Some senators were ready to go the length of a war to prevent the consummation of this project; as it is believed an international contest for this object would do much to bring the South back into the Union.

MR. VOORHEES' SPEECH.

The speech of Mr. Voorhees, of Indiana, in the House to-day, is regarded as treading upon the very verge of treason. Mr. Washburne, of Illinois, replied to his statement that the people of Indiana, were in favor of a compromise with armed rebellion by saying that the people of Illinois also would compromise, but only upon the terms proposed by Grant to Buckner: "Immediate and unconditional surrender." The floor and galleries heartily applauded the sentiment, and the knot of disloyalists who had gathered around Voorhees to offer him their congratulations suddenly disappeared.

THE POSITION OF GEN. BANKS.

The friends of Gen. Banks in this city have been startled by a rumor which has obtained for a few days past, that during the projected advance on Manassas he is to be left in command of the forts around Washington. It is urged that the General has been left in the background, and has not had a fair chance to display the undoubted military abilities he possesses. In view also of the fact that the Generals who have been placed in the most important positions are Democrats, it is urged as a matter of simple justice that Gen. Banks, as a representative of the Republican party, should have a chance of distinguishing himself. Gen. Banks has been exposed to the humiliation of seeing Gen. Stone put in the most responsible position on the Upper Potomac, while he has been kept in the rear, and has suffered from other drawbacks which a less self-sacrificing man would have promptly resented. The proposal to put him in command of the forts here when the army is moving on to victory will greatly dissatisfy his friends.

THE ILLINOIS FORT DONELSON HEROES.

Four of the Illinois regiments that share in the glory of Fort Donelson were fresh from the camps of enlistment, which they left within two weeks of the battle. Senator Trumbull stated in the Senate to-day that there were but 25,000 instead of 40,000 or 50,000 troops, as first reported, in Gen. Grant's army, which defeated a body of rebels of about the same number, in their chosen and strong intrenched positions.

THE PRESS CENSORSHIP.

Among the witnesses who have been summoned before the Judiciary Committee of the House recently is Mr. Frederick Hudson, the real editor of the New York Herald. Mr. Hudson was brought on from New York by an order from the committee, and was questioned as to the source from which he obtained certain contraband information. Nearly all the leading representatives of the press here have now been before the committee, and the result of their examination, when published, will form a curious chapter in the history of sensational journalism in this country. The public will be astonished to learn how certain important dispatches are gotten up, and from whom the information is derived.

SETTLING SECEDED TERRITORY.

The advance of our soldiers through Kentucky and Tennessee, and into the disloyal districts of Carolina, will leave them in possession of immense tracts of land, abandoned by the rebels, or confiscated to the use of the Government by the Federal authorities. It is proposed to introduce a bill into Congress giving to these soldiers the privilege of settling upon these lands, and making their homes in the fertile districts along the Mississippi. These hardy, brave, and intelligent warriors will do more to reorganise and develop the Southern country than any legislation on the part of Congress, or any efforts on the part of the Northern people.

MAXIMILIAN'S MYSTIFICATIONS.

The Archduke Maximilian stipulates, it is said, in the highest diplomatic circles, that the Allies shall maintain him on the throne of Mexico for ten years. To impartial observers, his splendid palace at Trieste seems preferable to the throne that is offered him.

EVACUATION OF MANASSAS.

Testimony accumulates that the enemy for several days have been evacuating Manassas. To the statement of this fact, this morning, by a brigadier-general to a confidential friend of a commander high in place, the suggestive reply was made: "What objection can there be to their going? You don't want to kill them, do you?"

MR. CAMERON TO GO TO THE SENATE.

It is rumored that Mr. Wilmot will resign his seat in the Senate and go to Spain, in place of Carl Schurz, who will go to Russia in place of Mr. Cameron, who will succeed Mr. Wilmot in the Senate.

SLAVERY IN THE DISTRICT.

The House Committee on the District of Columbia will probably report a bill abolishing Slavery in the District, not similar to the Senate bill.

OCCUPATION OF BOWLING GREEN.

TERRIBLE DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY.

From correspondents of Western papers we have the first intelligible account of the occupation of Bowling Green, by our forces. Bowling Green is the finest town in Southern Kentucky, and contains some five or six thousand inhabitants. Dearly has it paid for its secession proclivities.

On the 14th inst., the head of Gen. Mitchell's column arrived on the banks of Big Barren, opposite Bowling Green, at about noon. Gen. Mitchell with his glass saw that the evacuation was going on, and immediately ordered up Capt. Loomis's battery, who threw a few shells across the river in the direction of the trains. The distance was too great to do much execution, and the trains got off. Immediately Gen. Mitchell ordered a pontoon bridge to be constructed, but before it was finished, he crossed a part of his troops at a ferry a mile and a half below the town, and took possession.

When our forces reached the town, it presented a scene of desolation seldom witnessed. Almost all the inhabitants had gone away—the Secessionists from fear of the Union army, the Union people because they were frightened by Captain Loomis' shells. Those who remained, whether rebel or loyal, did the best, for neither class was molested, nor were their houses in any way intruded upon. It was impossible to protect the hundred of deserted tenements, as many of them had been left in hot haste, and all the furniture and household goods remained in them; they were doubtless frequently visited and partially plundered. One hotel contained a large lot of Sutler's stores, and of these the boys made free use, appropriating every article that they could lay their hands on. Tobacco, segars, candy, etc., will, for a few days, be found in abundance in some of the sutlers' quarters.

There is not as much of the town burnt as we supposed last night. The depot was fired, with the intention of destroying the locomotives and other property contained therein, after it became evident that it removed at least would have to be done amid a storm of percussion shells. Seven locomotives were burned in the depot, besides an immense quantity of all sorts of army material. Hundreds of gun-barrels and locks could be seen amongst the ruins, embracing the remains of almost every variety of "shooting iron" which is used at present amongst civilized men. There were Mississippi rifles, Enfield rifles, rifled muskets, smooth-bore muskets, breach-loading muskets, double and single barreled shot guns, and miscellaneous arms of every description. Bayonets, swords, hangers, bowie-knives, butcher knives and knives made of saws and files, were there in immense quantities, mingled with army stores, camp kettles, tin pans and everything which usually goes to make up the indescribable portion of the furniture of a camp.

From a gentleman who left the place since our troops occupied it, the Louisville Journal has received details of the work of destruction which has been consummated in that once beautiful town:

When it was found that the place was untenable, and it was resolved to evacuate it, the confederates commenced their incendiarism on Wednesday, the 12th, about dark, upon the residence of Warner L. Underwood, Esq., which was entirely destroyed. At 9 o'clock the pork-house of T. Quigley & Co. was fired, and all but the smoke-house was burned. There were about $14,000 worth of hides and tallow stowed there belonging to Campbell & Smith, who had been killing cattle for the rebel army, and these constituted their entire profits. The incendiaries, in their
