turned her attention and resources to western connections, while Philadelphia, roused from her slumbers by the near probability of Baltimore carrying off the western trade, undertook the great enterprise she has so grandly consummated.

In the meantime, Pittsburgh has kept her charter alive, and, with help from Baltimore, has completed the road to Connellsville, some sixty miles; and it is now proposed by Mr. Latrone, and other friends of the project, to sak Congress to aid in its completion. The grounds on which Mr.

Headquarters Kv. State Guard, Louisville, Feb. 15, 1861.

Size: Your letter of yesterday, inviting the military of the city to participate with you and the citizens of Louisville in celebrating the coming anniversary of the birthday of Washington, has been received.

For the military and for myself I cordially accept: an invitation which will enable us to unite in commemorating the return of a day which never falls to inspire fresh patriotism in the heart of as American. I am confident you could not appeal to any class of the citizens of Louisville more devotedly attached to the Union than her military; and there are none who better love the flag which Is, at ones, the colors under which they march; and the amblem of our nationality.

I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant;
