that it had "a larger circulation than any paper save the Gasette-larger than part of the Gasette? But we will be magnanimous; we ment, or in this country. shall not insist upon the Chronicle exposing

We will compare precisely upon its choser ground—the REGULAR, BONA FIDE DAILY CIR-CULATION OF ALL THE EDITIONS OF THE GAZETTE-that circulation which is the basis of our advertising contracts, which is comprised within the circle of our influencethose who, will read this article during the ever a Prussian or an Englishman could next twenty-feur hours.

This by way of explanation of our proposition of yesterday. Will our neighbors name their referees, and let this question be speedily ended?

Treason in the North. Many of our readers will peruse with astonishment, the account we give to-day, from the Detroit Tribune. All these quiet arrests which have been made throughout the country were no doubt for good and sufficient reasons derived from documents in the hands of the Government. That this devlish spirit of secession still exists, and only awaits an opportunity to show its teeth, is evidenced in a thousand ways, both in private and by the half disloyal press. As an example of the spirit which read the following from a late number of the Chicaco Journal:

"It is charged that certain sneaking semi-secessionists have been in the habit of paying visits of condolence to the Rebel semi-secessionists have been in the habit of paying visits of condelence to the Rebel prisoners at Camp Douglas, Chicago, and "egging them on" to stand by their treasonable faith. One of these creatures, in the course of a call at the barracks, a few days since, was overheard to remark: that "the department of the steel cut from one of the guns was ince, was overheard to remark: that "the steel cut from one of the guns was ince, was overheard to remark: that "the department of the steel cut from one of the guns was ince, was overheard to remark: that "the steel cut from one of the guns was since, was overheard to remark: that "the risk of the manufacturers.

We learn from Mr. Singer that a piece of the steel cut from one of the guns was ince, was overheard to remark: that "the steel cut from one of the guns was ince, was overheard to remark the steel cut from one of the guns was ince, was overheard to remark the steel cut from one of the guns was incedured. conduct, is simply unfit to live.

Nothing but the enthusiastic uprising of he masses of the loyal States has prevented the active display of the secession spirit all through the North, and there is in every city and town of any size, men who sym pathize with rebellion, and rejoice over sesion successes.

Gen. Fremont. No man in the United States has so great a hold of the hearts of the masses as has Gen. FREMORT at this time. Whenever his name is mentioned in any public assembly name is mentioned in any public assembly it is hailed with cheers. It was so in this city at the lecture of WENDELL PHILLIPS, on Friday night. The immense hall was a Priday night. The immense hall was a priday night. country, by reason of the suppressed superiority of this material over brass for endurance and economy, are also made here, and several field batteries are now being constructed for the use of the Government. In this silence was suddenly broken with one united and prolonged cheer, coupled with the waving of hats and handkerchiefs, and ether demonstrations of approbation; and even when the storm began to subside, and the speaker was about to resume his remarks, it suddenly broke out again with marks, it suddenly broke out again with marks it suddenly broke out again with marks, it suddenly broke out again with marks it suddenly broke out again with producing point, in the manufacture of cast could not anough manifest their love for the man whose name was thus incidentally alluded to by the lecturer. Sympathy for a General whom it is thought has been unfairly treated may have had something to do with it, but it mainly arised from the whether steel cannon are really of more approbation felt for his immortal proclamstion, which struck the key-note of emanciion, which will never cease to vibrate while there is a slave on American soil.

The Abolitionists Caving in. The laders of the abolition opposition to the administration have resolved to make a marit of necessity, after all their furious demandations of the President and his policy of waging war only for the Union and standing fast by the Constitution. They have determined to sustain his resolution in reference to profering aid to the slave States which shall voluntarily adopt emandpation laws.—

Fremont, we suppose, not being trammelled with opinions picked up forty chief was struck by a Minnie rifle, in his or fifty years ago at West Point, thought if there was any advantage in cast steel the Government needed it, and our brave soldiers were entitled to the advantage of its use. He evidently thought also that whates ever a Prussian or an Englishman could make, of steel, could be made in Pittsburgh.
> And he was right. Singer, Nimick & Co., who were instat the time trying some costly experiments in steel guns, agreed to make a single battery of six guns. About the time the battery was finished Gen. Fremont was suspended, and the beautiful pieces o artillery are now lying in the warehouse of the manufacturers. The guns are rifled, 8-inch bore, about 6 feet long, weigh 880 pounds, and to one's eye look perfect. To Pittsburgh belongs the credit of the only cast steel cannon which have yet been made in the United States. The so-called "Sickles' battery," the "Wiard," and other steel guns, some of which have burst, are made of puddled or semi steel. There is as great a difference between the two materials as there is between the blade of a knife and the iron of its handle. The confidence of Messrs. Singer, Nimick & Co<sub>2</sub> is such, in the value of their material, that they only desire the Government to take these guns, put them to any desired test, entirely at the Pittsburgh belongs the credit of the only press. The testing machine having no greater capacity, the plece was left under that strain from Sisteman and the strai Anged. The effect of all this upon the Confederate prisoners has been to make them sullen and insolent. It is our opinion, that a few bales of hemp judiciously administered for the benefit of these shameless wretches, would prove a good investment. A Northern man who would encourage a Southern Secessionist in his evil inch. The average tenacity of gun metal is only 80,000 lbs. to the square inch. The United States Ordnance Manual, in speaking of wrought iron and steel, says : speaking of wrought iron and steel, says:

What we would like to know is why the Government has not satisfied itself as to value than others or not, by trying them. On the Characteristick, BURNAP & value than others or not, by trying them.

And why if cast steel cannon are really as nonotories and Wholesale Dealers in LAMPS, valuable as is claimed, the United States CHIMERYS, SHADES, CHANDELIERS, &c. must come in behind all the rest of the world in enjoying the benefits.

They have determined to unstain his resolution in reference to profering aid to the slave States which shall yolantarily adopt emancipation laws.

When it is receilected that in the House the Freeddant's emancipation project received the vote of every Republican, and was only voted against by Democrats, Secessionists and Border State men, it is not difficult to characterise the unblashing impudence of the above paragraph. Even Wendell Phillips, the great abolition chief, supports the emancipation was reported to the House of the Freeddant, and spoke of it with appreciation both in Washington and Pitts burgh. For recklessness, impudence and lying, the Herald can beat the world.
