where tai months ago, it was quiescent. It has taken courage from the leniency with which the Government has treated it, mull it hardly deigns to hide itself, but faunts itself in the very capital of the Nation. This extraordinary forbearance on the part of the Government is doing the cause of the Union more harm in the bor-der States than fill the armies of JEFF. Davis. Union men are in despair. They see themselves denied the protection they expected from the presence of the Federal armies, and are left ta the tender mercies of their vindictive secession neighbors. Before the Federal armies arrived in their neighborhoods, Unionists derived some pro-tection from the wholesome fear the trai-tors had of the punishment which might be inflicted upon them; but since they find

Before this rebells and traitors must field the power of the government. The power of the government. The soft the power of the government. The soft the government is of the battles of the Union, but to stand up the total support of the canse of the country to find the power of the government. The soft the power power of the government. We do not desire anything like a vindic-tive policy in the case, but we should like coming obnoxious to the people. They which are well-gorithe fore us, calling for some better policy, we copy some extracts which are well-gorith of the Government. In his last letter to the Press, Mr. FORNEY says.

last letter to the Press, Mr. FORNEY Says: at last on the battle-field.

I understand that we have a Government

I understand that we have a Government to serve and to save. I understand that this Government is being assailed in the battle-field by a formidable and ungratefal adversary. And I understand, also, that this adversary, bloody, orafiy, and remorse-less as he is, has thousands who wish him success in his career of carninge and orime. If a Government thus doubly attack-ed is worth defending, it is to be defended by revry means confided to the Excercine, the Legislative and the Judicial authorities, to whom, for the time, its Administrations is en-whom, for the time, its Administration is en-trusted. I say by every means, and if one remedy fails, let another be supplied, and another, until at last the effective cure is found. I assume, of course, that nobody doubts that this is a death-struggle between freedom and despotism, or between a Gov-ernment of law and order and a fierce and desperate banditti. How, then, can any man; erainent of law and order and a fierce and desperate banditti. How then can any man or men, who live in the loyal States, and op-prozethe cause of these States, claim the protection of a Constitution and the ben-effits of laws, to whose destruction their friends in the Secceded States have deding, and to admit their.
