Doctor Robert Hunter.

We had almost lost sight of this noted Physician, who made so great's noise some years ago, with his speciality. His home in New York, used to be crowded with patients from every part of the land, and his fame was as wide as the country. We suppose he has had more business than he would do, and for that reason kept his name out of the papers. He has again come before the public, with his mode of curing those distressing and insidious dissesses which carry their tens of thousands annually to the tomb. It is very expensive to visit New York, and those of our readers who desire to consult Doctor Huxzer, will be pleased to learn, that they can now see him in this city, at the Monongahala House, where they will have the same advantages they would derive from a fallgueing and expensive journey.

TREATMENT.—Chronic Catarrh, like Asthmond Consumption, has hitherto had no remedy. It remains a stain and reproach on the page of medicine. Nor has failure resulted from the want of means of relief within our reach or from the SEAT of the disease, or the diseased parts by all the forces of the Materia Medica—solids, fluids and gases—and the diseased parts by all the forces of the Materia Medica—solids, fluids and gases—and the disease they have not striven to succeed carnessity and rationally. They have generally been satisfied with squirting a little wans warms up the nose, and in prescribing an "alterative," by the stomach, which of course does no good. Catarrh is rarely found as a disease of the nose alone, but is generally accompanied by more or less hourseness, showing that the irritation which exists in greatest intensity in the usual membrane, also involves the larynx and lining of the windpipe. We cannot, therefore, hope to remove it by applications to the nose only. The course I have pursued, with almost invariable success, is as follows:

A mild, stringent vapor is directed to be inhaled, two or three times a day, from the inhaled; two or three times a day, from the inhaled in two or three times a day, from the inhaled in the outstils. By this means the diseased surface, is acted upon in eyery part. The roadmaster fearing that they would be washed away, proceeded with the track hands to remove the obstruction. They were mot by a crowd, who ordered them off. The matter was referred to the Provest Marshal, who sent-over a guard of sixty men to quell the disturbance, and to protect the railroad men. They found 75 or 100 men assembled to prevent the obstructions being removed. The crowd was ordered away, they refused to go, and the guard advanced. Several shots were fired at them, but no one was injured. The guard then charged bayonsts on the crowd, and three then were injured—one seriously. Yesterday, Col. Parson and Mr. Bacon, the President of the road, went over to examine into the matter, and decided to allow the obstructions to remain; as their removal involves the ditrustion of a vast amount of property.
