FROM LOUISVILLE.

LOUISVILLE, May 10.—One hundred and forty-three of Morgan's cavalry, as soon as they captured forty-eight (48) of the rebel engineer cars, and two locomotives, at Cove City, Ky., Morgan captured the road west of Louisville, and the operator at Cave City, however, gave notice of these facts to Bowling Green, and stopped the upward train.

Among the officers captured were Major Howell and Capt. Wood of Wallford's cavalry, and one other federal officer and three or four soldiers. The rebels burned all the above cars, except two, and a locomotive, which brought the passengers back to Louisville.

A Deserter's Statement. -A deserter from a Louisiana regiment who was in the skirmish yesterday has just arrived. He estimates the rebel force at thirty-five thousand strong, under Bragg, Van Dorn, Hardee and Price, with Kearsarge's artillery. Their purpose was to overtake and drive out of the mouth of the Tennessee river. The enemy's loss is very heavy both in officers and men. Our loss is thirty killed and seventy wounded.

All quiet in front. The weather is pleasant. The army is pushing ahead slowly.

FROM PORTSMOUTH. -PORTSMOUTH, May 10.—The boat from Portsmouth arrived this afternoon. The steamer "General" remained of the port all night, the Monitor went up this morning and fired a salute to the boats. The steamer "General" was also driven back, a large number of the boats being captured. The boats were also driven back, a large number of the boats being captured.

FROM GEN. HALLOCK'S ARMY. -WASHINGTON, May 10.—The intelligence received at the War Department, from Gen. Hallock's army, is dated May 10th, p. m. It is reported that the rebel army has been impeded in its progress by the heaviest rain, and the almost impassable condition of the road through the mountains. The army was in good health and high spirits, and its officers are confident of success.

A Serious Collision. -INDIANAPOLIS, May 11.—A special train, which left here last night with Gen. McClellan, Gen. Noble, Prof. Fletcher, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and surgeons and other officers, was struck by a freight car on the track at Sullivan, Indiana, last night, killing Prof. Fletcher. No others injured.

THE YORKTOWN SUNK AND THE JAMES RIVER CAPTURED. -NEW YORK, May 11.—The steamer "General" was sunk by the rebel steamer "Galena" and captured the James River. The "General" was sunk by the rebel steamer "Galena" and captured the James River.

Nominations for Congress. -ALBANY, N. Y., May 10.—John D. Hillis, of Albany, was, to-day, nominated at the Democratic caucus for Congress. The caucus was held at the residence of Dr. Cooper.
