ly confided in, by his fellow particans of the pro-slavery Democratic echool. As an in-triguer in State politics he had few equals; and as a stump-orator he could arouse the ardor of the masses, as well as say man in his party. When the robelium broke out, he was about the only man in Missouri ready to risk life in the cause. He was perhaps the only man who could have drawn to himself sympathisers in such numbers as to make rebellion in that State at all formidable. We cannot speak of him as a romantic adventurer; but he was an adventurer who contrived to infuse a tincture: of romance into his manœuvres. Alone and unaided he raised at least three armies--he fought several severo battles, and accomplished numberless retreats in a manner that attonished educated military men. At the battle of Springfield, where the noble Lyon was killed, he was second in command, Ben. McCulloch being first. Price was the icading spirit of Arkanas as well as Mis-souri; now that he is dead, hundreds, who followed him into the fold, simply because he led them, will throw down their arms or desort. Having made a junction since the battle of Shiloh, with Beauregard, he was in the engagement at Farminguon, and, as the remorts are, was shot dead by Col. Roberts' stride to a military consolidation. If it bo absolutely necessary to save us from a conuest by the North, we are willing to submit to it, but we fear the public mind must prepare itself for a great change in our Government." THE EXECUTION OF THE FUGITINE SLAVE w.-Gen. Wadsworth, the military Governor of the District, has informed the Marshal that there area number of fugitive slaves under military protection, and that he does not desire them interfered with until he has avestigated their cases-the loyalty of the laimants. The United States Marshal assented to the request of Gen. W. It is estibeen made for fugitive slaves escaping to this District. Largo numbers of the slaves are at work over in Virginia upon reads, forts, cutting wood, &c. These cannot be reclaimed.
