They must prepare to meet the fullness of its fury, and to perish under its burning breath. The authority of the Government of the United States will be maintained over every foot of every Southern State, at whatever cost to those who may resist it, and if Slavery stands in the way, it will be extinguished, even if it be in the blood of those who make it their shield.

The people of the South have just the al ternative offered to them by the proclama-tion of President Lincoln. If they choose ton of Fresident Lincoln. If they choose to take upon themselves the task of initiating their deliverance from Slavery, they can have the aid of the General Government in protecting them from the evils and inconveniences which such an effort may the such as cost. If they refuse, and persist in rebe lion, they will find themselves utter lion, they will find themselves utterly crushed under the power which they defy.

MUTTERINGS OF DISCONTENT.—The con scription act of Jeff. Davis is received with much dislike in North Carolina, and in many other places. The Raleigh Standard

There is no good reason for urging a levy en matte on the people, and it is both wicked and dangerous to attempt to force free men to do what they have been doing and will do voluntarily. We are inflexibly opposed to calling into the field, as hireling soldiers, all our fighting men between 18 and 85, and then disarming the remainder of the population as proposed by the Presiof the population, as proposed by the President in his "request" to Major Asha.

Again, this measure proposes to retain by law, all the twelve months' volunteers now in the service (between 18 and 25) in violation of the solemn obligation, the ployhed faith of the State and the Confederate States, that they should have a right to a discharge at the end of their twelve months. The mere statement of such a proposition brands it as—we are unwilling to use the term. But what sort of soldiers would men make who are thus treated? We say beware.

The Folly of Tryling to Conciliate—Rev. R. J. Breckinridge, D. D., of Kentucky, in a late able speech at Cincinnati, showed the folly of attempting to conciliate the rebels. He said: "It is an error to suppose that to treat an enemy at all is through."
