Backus, D. D. To General Assembly of Ireland—Rev. Robert Watts. In the report of the Committee on Education, the great benefits of the Society were shown in a clear and satisfactory manner. It, howwarer, revealed the surprising fact that the number of their ministers, as compared with the Church membership, have decreased five per cent, in the past ten years. Excellent suggestions were made to render this arm of the Church more effective. The following resolution was a materdam, has published a treaties on the church in JR Manner, JR Mark of the Presbyterian Church in JR Mark of the Church in JR

The following resolution was Amsterdam, has published a treaties on the adopted, to be added to the Rules and Regulations of the Board of Education : "Every trine with many sophistical considerations, person on a scholarship shall forward, or and, in fact, denying it. Prominent among cause to be forwarded, annually, a report the opponents of the heresy is C. Lentz, from his teacher or teachers, to the Pres- German preacher to the Evangelical Lubytery under whose care he is, showing his | theran Church at Amsterdam, and a pupil standing for piety, talents, intelligence, of the good Tholuck. In his pamphlet he scholarship, prudonce, economy, health, brings the controversy to the question o and general influence." An Overture from certain Presbyteries, asking that steps be taken to unite the Old School Presbyterian Church, was read, and the New School Church, was read, and elicited considerable discussion.

as soon as practicable. In the report of the Church Extension Society, it was stated that some 500 churches are without houses of worship. The majority of the Special Committee on the Papers filed by Dr. Breckenridge and Dr. Stuart Robinson, reported, that while the Assembly can take no cognizance of the controversies of the parties unless in a judicial proceeding prosecuted in the mode prescribed by the Constitution of the Church, that no facts have come to their knowledge which impair their confidence in Dr. Breckinridge as a Professor in the Danville Seminary, and that all the charges are without foundation; further, that in accepting the position, further, that in accepting the position of the Church, and always conspicuous, could not have be matters, and that instead of consore he is matters, and that instead of consore he is missed on the floor; still, I could not learn that the privation very seriously affected the matters, and that instead of censure he is entitled to the gratitude of the Church and that the privation very seriously affected the spirits of the body. COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 26, 1862. I have in several instances, before this year appened to visit the General Assembly in the last days of its sessions. In some of these cases, it was like coming in at the "latter end of a fray," a fortunate conjunction only excolled by dropping in at the "beginning of a fenst." Although there had been an election of a professor in a seminary, yet I did not hear of any great amount of canvassing or work of Foreign Missions. The proficiency of the classes has been gratifying.
