MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 2.

MUCH interesting matter will be found on our first and fourth pages this morning.

The Late Manifesto of Vallandigham We have always been constrained to be lieve that, if the Pittsburgh Post could muster the courage to define its real position, and write down in plain black upor white its articles of faith-we mean, of course, in the matter of politics—the result would not be substantially different from that document issued by Vallandigham and He knows that he dare not speak out, the caucus of fourteen, which so many Democratic editors have estentatiously kicked, even as the Post itself has done while at the same moment, they were acting in the spirit of it, and almost adopting its. very language. By degrees, doubtless, we shall find our dyed-in-the-wool Locofocos plucking up a little more courage; they cannot change their color, and when skulking to hide it becomes very irksome, as all constrained ositions must seoner or later become, they will show themselves more truly as they are, than we have seen them for a year

On Saturday morning the Post, over the signature of "A Subscriber," had in its editorial columns, and distinguished by editorial lead, to give it due conspicuity, s communication on "The Address of Democratic Members of Congress to the Democ racy of the United States' -- otherwise called the Manifesto of Vallandigham Co. It is only another step forward in the direction we have above indicated-a looking out at the side-door before opening the front. We will only P give a few sentences of the letter and leave ir readers to judge what difference there our readers to judge what difference there is not a commanding general in the army, we believe, who labors so constantly, assistangly. Common sense, however, has had very little to do with the making of some of our laws. Common sense, for instance, would regard it as a very foolish thing to prescribe that, when the country has been at the enormous cost of fitting out a blockading fleet to capture such vessels as may be found carrying munitions of war, etc., to our enmiss, and when such captures are made, instead of making the national treasury the chief recipient of the value realized on the prizes, the lion's share should be approthe prizes, the lion's share should be appro- Republican. pristed by an official who had perilled richter life nor limb, nor a dollar from his purse, in the whole transaction. How was such an absurd law in relation to priseb ever got passed?
