J. F. DRAYO, Chairman.

Mr. Stanley's Atrocious Order, Has been commended by only two papers which have come under our observation; the Satanic New York Herald, and its imitator in all that is evil, the Pittsburgh Post. The latter paper says that Mr. Colyer was 'doing great mischief among the ignorant and prejudiced," and was compelled to leave his vocation. It also attacks Messra, Hickman and Sumner for bringing the matter into the two Houses of Congress, and says "the President will be compelled to yield to these disunienists, or crush them forever! The term "disunionists," the Post applies to those noble Re-

Hearing that this was to be done, I went carly to the Methodist Church on Hancock street, where one of the colored schools is held. Very few had, as yet, arrived. Sitting at a side door I observed an eldost of the course which the new Governor is purposed of the Paet in calling the most noble and fearless patriots of the country—men who have the respect and confidence of the President—distinctionist, is only paralleled by the sublime audacity of the New York. Herald. Such language comes well from a paper which is in sympathy with Vallandigham, and all the infernal crow of secession sympathizers who have labored in public and in secert, just inside the law, to overturn the Government, and who would throw up their caps to see Jeff. Davis scated in the White House.

Every feeling, political and moral, of the Pest, is with the South in this quarrel, and its hypocity is not deep enough to hide its detestible principles from the public gaze, As regards Gov. Stanley, and his order, suffice it to say that he has been rebuked by his superiors, and he will soon find him self cashiered, if he persists in his highhanded measures. All his authority there is dependent on United States bayonets. But for these the North Carolinians themselves would hurl him out. He is there in

But for these the North Carolinians themselves would hurl him out. He is there in and pray for them that despitefully use direct opposition to North Carolina laws, and yet he goes to work immediately to enforce the most detestible of those laws.

Hundreds of contrabands have come into our lines, and have been employed by our our lines, and have been employed by our our enemies; bless them that curse you; do goed to them that hate you, and prescrite you."—Matt. 5th ch.

When all had become seated, Mr. Colyer gave out the Sabbath school him:

"Joyfally, joyfally, oward we move," which was sung with earnest pathos by the whole congregation.

Stanley, who has informed me of North Carolina, to teach the blacks to the house of Nicholas Bray, at a distance, the it is sanctioned by God himself, by his direct authority. All this he attempts to prove from the Bible. His servillity is paralleled by the editors of the Intelligencer, who can spare columns at a time like this; for the discussion of a subject which years ago engrossed the ablest minds of the christian world, who have long since settled the question, that the Bible does not sanction African slavery, and the argument is world not only have this blessing restored to the wife of Bray appeared before them, on the pulpit, and trusted in the Saviour, who had given the command, which years ago engrossed the ablest minds of the christian world, who have long since settled the question, that the Bible does not sanction African slavery, and the save woman who was yesterday carried away, and then barred the house. Those old men will find their labor vain. Slavery is doomed. Our civilization is against it. Our Christianity is against it; humanity abhors it, and God has doomed it to extinction. The South has unchristianized herself by attempting to make the Bible harmonize with slavery, and the consequence has been semi-barbarism and civil war, and the end will be the destruction of the system and the ruin of all engaged in it.

During the prayer, when incidental reference was made to the closing of the school, a sob was heard in all parts of the house. That single sentence dashed all hopes and sent a pang to every heart.
