TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 10.

The Case of Gov. Stanly.

Mr. Colyer has had a long interview with the President, who, having been made fully acquainted with the proceedings of Gov. Stanly and their deplorable consequences, seemed to be deeply interested and expressed himself strongly. He said that nothing in Gov. Stanly's instructions, written or oral, warranted his action.

The President also reiterated the declaration which he has frequently made, that no slave coming within our lines for protection should ever be re-enslaved, and he intimated that he should communicate these views to Gov. Stanly.

Secretary Stanton, in response to an inquiry of the House, says explicitly that Governor Stanly has not been instructed by the Government to prevent the education of children, white or black, in North Carolina; that the Department has no official information that he has interfered to prevent the education of white or black children in that State, but a copy of the resolution of the House has been transmitted to him for report upon his action on the subject, which, when received, will be communicated to that body.

Until Gov. Stanly's official report, we presume no definite instructions will be given. There is no doubt that the school will go on, and that Gov. Stanly will be prevented from giving up the fugitives who have fled to our lines for protection.

Military Governor to Louisiana.

Col. Geo. F. Shepley, of Maine, who is at present Military Commandant of New Orleans, has, upon the recommendation of Gen. Butler, been appointed Military Governor of Louisiana. Col. Shepley is regarded as the ablest lawyer of his age in Maine.

He was a Douglas Democrat in politics, but those who heard a speech which he delivered at Portland just before his regiment sailed have no fears that he will prove a Governor Stanly.

The whole question of the power of the President to appoint Military Governors is raised by Mr. Sumner's resolutions, offered in the Senate on Friday. It is known that Secretary Chase has always held that there is nothing in the Constitution or laws which warrants the appointment.

It is no doubt an extra-constitutional appointment, growing out of the War Power vested in the President, who has the same power to abrogate any local law, or to make any new law he chooses for the extraordinary occasion. The whole power is military, and proceeds from the President as Commander-in-Chief of the Army, and not from his position of Civil Governor, or Supreme Magistrate of the nation.

Prizes Captured.

Our Navy is having a good time of it in capturing prizes. It is stated that one hundred and seventy prizes have been taken. In consequence of the delay of the Government officers in New York and other cities in condemning the rebel vessels and cargoes captured, it is impossible to state now the value of the prizes, hence no estimate can be made of the enormous amount of prize money to be distributed among the sailors in the naval service.

Some idea, however, may be formed of the total by the single case of the Circassian, which arrived at New York a few days ago. This vessel and cargo is valued at $1,500,000. The sailors who captured her will, when she is condemned, receive about $1,300 each.

It is said there are some fifteen vessels equally valuable now on the ocean trying to run the blockade.

About 20,000 first class Enfield rifles have recently been captured by our navy, together with the vessels containing them, while in the act of attempting to run the blockade. It is said that English speculators in arms have shipped about 20,000 Enfield rifles to Nassau, where they dispose of them to rebel agents, who reship them with the expectation of running the blockade.

IRON-CLAD VESSELS.—In response to the advertisement made four months since, by the Navy Department, for proposals to construct iron-clad steamers for harbor and ocean service, there have been numerous offers for the former, but only two for the latter which come within the requirements. The Department requires that the iron-clad steamers for ocean service shall make at least fifteen miles an hour.

Some twelve or fifteen proposals have been made for this class of iron-clad steamers altogether, but the two cases referred to are all that will probably be accepted. The Department will continue to receive proposals.

SUPPRESSION OF THE SLAVE TRADE.—Capt. SCHULTZ arrived in Washington, on Friday, with the treaty with Great Britain for the suppression of the slave-trade, signed by the Queen. Ratifications having been exchanged, the treaty is now law. Capt. SCHULTZ went out and returned in the Persia, spent less than a week in England, and was gone but twenty-nine days.

This is among the great doings of this Congress and Administration which will render the age immortal. It destroys the slave-trade forever. The American flag can no longer be used for such a nefarious purpose.

Latest from New Orleans.

The United States store-ship Supply, from New Orleans, May 13, and Key West, 25th, arrived at New York on Friday night. All the fleet had sailed from New Orleans for up the river, with the exception of the Mississippi and Pensacola, which were left to guard the city. The health of the city, and also the troops and crews of the ships was good. Left at Key West, United States steamers Dacotah and Niagara, all well. The United States sloop Marion sailed for Boston on the 24th of May.

PROMOTION OF MAJOR ANDERSON.—Among the regular army nominations pending in the Senate is one promoting Major Robert Anderson to brevet Lieut. Colonel for his evacuation of Fort Moultrie and removal to Sumter, and to brevet Colonel for his gallant defense of the latter fort.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

WASHINGTON, June 6, 1862.

GREAT RAINS.

I have never seen the Potomac so high as at present. It bears down on its rapid current the relics of many a bridge and structure. I learn to-day that on all the streams rising in the Blue Ridge and flowing towards the Potomac, there has been a general sweeping away of bridges, calculated to much retard the movements of the armies operating in the Upper Valley.

BLUNDERS.

There is a very general feeling of disappointment here at the failure of the great movements to entrap Jackson. If he is, as I am informed is the case, the chap we knew in Pittsburgh as "Captain Jackson," one would suppose that a bottle of whiskey would have charmed him from any expedition or business or other pursuit. Here, however, we have had Fremont on one side, McDowell on another, and Shields on a third, and yet through all these mustering squadrons, this fool-hardy wretch has just slipped to safety. He has foiled the efforts of about 60,000 men. Some one has blundered. If our pursuit had been anything like as eager as was the enemy's of Banks, where would Jackson and his hosts have been? The general disposition seems to be to lay the blame on Fremont. It is alleged that he was ordered to move from Franklin on Harrisonburg, instead of which he moved direct to Strasburg and arrived too late. I am informed that he submitted his views to the proper authorities before moving as he was at first directed, and that they fell in with his suggestions. The facts touching all the case must come out, so that the public may lay the blame just where it belongs.

THE HOSPITALS.

Since the wounded began coming here from the battle field of "Seven Pines," I have tried to visit the hospitals and contribute as far as I could to the comfort of our poor fellows from Pennsylvania. I have not yet got through one-quarter of the wards, but such as I have visited in the new buildings, in Judiciary square, I found exceedingly comfortable and well attended. Governor Curtin deserves the greatest credit for his kindness and care. Dr. Fuleston, the regular medical agent for the State, is constant in his attendance upon his duty, and the Governor has now sent to assist him in the new duties which the late battles have brought, Major Gilleland. Personal visitation and inquiry of each, as to his condition and wants, is now being made. Associations have been formed among the young men from various States, living here, and a regular system of visitation instituted. Through these, great assistance is rendered.

In my visits thus far, I have found but one wounded man from Allegheny county, George A. Cook, of Mansfield. He has a bullet through the left arm, just below the elbow. The bone is not broken, however. He told me he was in good health. Ladies here had supplied him with good underclothes. I trust this may meet the eyes of his friends, who may rest assured that he is doing well. I shall report to you all I can learn of any others of your more immediate people.

Some of the wounded are dreadful spectacles. I saw one man from Luzerne county who was shot in the head. The ball entered below and behind the left ear and came out below the cheek bone. The wound is not considered dangerous, but the swelling and discoloration are fearful.

Another man got a bullet through the hand and then into his head just above the right temple. That bullet has not been extracted. Of course the man cannot live. In all this ward, where there are some twenty-five sick and wounded, I did not hear a groan. All seemed cheerful and hopeful. But it is hard to see these maimed men thus prostrated and not feel the bitterest hate against the Godless crew which brought on this tempest of woe and death. And I do not see much to choose between Jeff. Davis and his vile apologists. I trust those maudlin sympathizers in the North will be warned in time, lest some day the indignation of an offended and outraged people may burst upon them in its fury and a great and dreadful accident—perhaps a hanging or a lynching—may be the result.

INDIGNANT.

In this connection I may add that some one has sent me a paper called the Greensburg Argus, a woful looking, scraggy, dirty sheet, which seemed to appropriate to itself a remark in a late letter about a disloyal locofoco paper after whose welfare the Post Office Department is looking. Well, I never said Argus once, but if that paper is hit, very well. But the editor, if it has one, need not think it is because any one here cares about what it says, that there is talk of excluding it from the mails. By no means. Its circulation is probably not over a hundred or two copies. The reason why it will be excluded is probably the totally useless labor and waste of horse flesh in taking a sheet which is prima facie a nuisance, from one place to another. Yet only think what a rankling venom must soothe in the bosom of that man (!) who stays at home to write and publish curses and libels upon the thousands of his neighbors now fighting and dying for the salvation of the country! What shall the epitaph of such an one be? Let us drop the subject.

"RELIGIOUS."

Among the "religious" intelligence I have to state that the "Church of the Descension" (facilies descensus) Rev. Dr. Pinckney (secesh) held a fair here a few days ago in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association. There was a prohibition of the American flag. Some one who proposed to put it up was assured that "it would excite much feeling." There were all the pictures of the rebel Generals for sale; all sorts of trinkets in secession colors, (red, white and red,) and the whole affair was in the secession interest from beginning to end. The "Star Spangled Banner" which the unfortunate band played without due consideration was violently hissed. It was even said that a good part of the proceeds of this congress of traitors and traitoresses was to be sent to Richmond! A lady from Philadelphia who was at a table in the hall put out a little national flag, when a young miss seized it and threw it on the floor, whereupon a young gentleman present put it back and guarded it against further danger. So outrageous were these fools that the President of the Young Men's Christian Association felt called upon to come out in an article explaining how this secession throng got the use of the rooms.

WADE VS. COWAN.

The passage at arms between these Senators to-day, was quite an event. Mr. Wade was perhaps too rough, but a diamond can afford to be rough. Cowan declared himself to be "the representative of three millions of people!" Nominally he is so, but
