MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 23.

New Constitution of Illinois.

About a year ago a Convention to form a new Constitution, was elected in Illinois. It was just at the time when party was laid aside, and fraternity was all the rage. Union tickets were generally, if not universally, taken up. The Republicans had just carried their President, and a war had come on, and they wished to secure the co-operation of the Democracy. They were, therefore, liberal to their political opponents, believing that they would, as good patriots, join in the opposition to treason and slaveholding domination. The consequence was, that a majority of the delegates elected were Democrats.

As soon as the Convention met, the cloven foot of the worst type of Breckinridge Democracy was shown, and secret sympathy was rampant in the Convention. The Constitution adopted partook of the character of the members, and was so objectionable that a fierce opposition to its adoption was waged all through the State, by the Republican party—party lines being strictly drawn. The election took place this week, and on the reception of the first returns, the opponents of the Constitution gave up their cause as lost, but later accounts give hope that the objectionable Constitution is rejected. The contest is very close, and may turn either way.

The returns from the army are strongly against the Constitution, nearly three to one. This shows that the army is composed mainly of Republicans, or of Democrats who have been cured of their pro-slavery Democracy, by their experience in the army. The four northern Congressional districts of the State, have sent 35,000 soldiers to the field, and most of those were voters, and thousands of them have laid down their lives in the defence of their country. Those same districts, notwithstanding their loss, gave 23,000 majority against the Constitution. Egypt will vote for the swindle, as they call it out there, but we hope that Illinois may be saved from the infection of such a blow to her morals and her prosperity.

A Monstrous Fraud.

A fraud of the most astounding and elaborate character has just come to light. It is nothing less than the interpolation of a forgery into the organic act under which Wisconsin was admitted into the Union, and which has remained undiscovered for the past fourteen years.

The forgery consists of the closing proviso of section two, of the organic act, which provides that "the liabilities incurred by the territorial government of Wisconsin under the act entitled "an act to grant a quantity of land to the territory of Wisconsin, for the purpose of aiding in opening a canal to connect the waters of Lake Michigan with those of Rock River, hereinbefore referred to, shall be paid and discharged by the State of Wisconsin."

It is upon this proviso that the Rock River Canal Company has hitherto founded its claim against the State. It is this proviso and the unsettled claim of that company which the United States Government has invariably pleaded in bar for every application of the State for the five per cent. fund due her.

Last winter the representatives of that company brought before the legislature and demanded the settlement of that claim. They affirmed, of course, that their claim was a just one, though every legislative committee hitherto investigating it, had arrived at a different conclusion. But they said, whether just or not, "gentlemen legislators, you must settle with us before you can get the five per cent. fund. Refuse, and the United States will still withhold that fund; settle, and you will immediately receive a greater amount than we claim by the payment to the State of the five per cent. fund." It was this argument which carried through the bill at the winter session to settle the old claim of the Canal Company.

Fortunately, before any action has been had under that law, the iniquity of fourteen years ago has come to light, and no doubt the act of the winter session will be promptly repealed.

It appears by consulting the journals of Congress that the bill admitting Wisconsin into the Union, as originally introduced, contained the proviso in question, but that it was stricken out on motion of Mr. Tweedy, the delegate from Wisconsin—that it passed the House thus amended, and was correctly published the following day in the Congressional Globe—that it went to the Senate and passed that body without amendment. The interpolation was doubtless accomplished through some of the engrossing clerks of the Senate. That it was a deliberate fraud and not an accident, those who have investigated are fully convinced. Other amendments were made to the same section in the House, and the clause immediately preceding the bogus passage was not contained in the original bill, but inserted as an amendment. The fact that these are all correctly given, and that the bill was correctly printed in a newspaper at Washington after it passed the House and before it went to the Senate seem conclusive as to the fraud.

The credit of bringing this audacious piece of villainy to light, is largely due to the labors of Senator Howe, of this State, who after concluding the investigation, and finding the indubitable evidence of the forgery, introduced a bill in Congress remitting to Wisconsin upon the amount due as a war tax a sum equal to what is her due from the Federal Government on account of the five per cent. fund. This bill, after the evidence of the bogus nature of the passage referred to in the act admitting the State into the Union, received the unanimous support of the Finance Committee of the Senate, and will doubtless become a law. The amount is a large one, and will materially lighten the burden of taxation upon our people.—Madison (Wis.) Journal, June 14.

Epitaph.

The following epitaph on the defunct pro-slavery party aptly chronicles its deeds and character, and forcibly sets forth its claim upon the gratitude of the country:

HERE LIES THE ASHES OF THE PRO-SLAVERY PARTY!
It forced the United States into a war of gigantic proportions, involving
TEN YEAR'S EXPENDITURE!
It was content to wield the sceptre of Power
and to retain the emoluments of office, and used them to overthrow the political and social system of the country which
IT WAS SWORN TO PROTECT!
It saw the fate of thirty-four States in peril,
but it babbled of ABOLITIONISM!
It saw patriotic Generals and soldiers in the field under the old flag;
It sympathized with the foe and refused
TO CONDEMN HIS TREASON!
It talked of law to the traitors, and promised a peace which they scorned!
It opposed taxation to maintain the Constitution,
It asked for Restoration that traitors might return, and
PREACHED OF PARTY
to embarrass a just Administration!
The people will launch upon it their thunderbolt!
Its leaders,
in order to avoid their punishment,
are creeping into dishonorable political graves!

Requiescat!

Geo. F. Train and the Bankers.

George Francis Train is out with a letter in the London American on the position taken by the American-English bankers in reference to affairs in their native country, from which we extract as follows:

America has a powerful enemy in Europe. That enemy is her bankers. Who have misled England on this question?—the bankers. Who openly expressed their sympathy with secession?—the bankers. Who fear down American securities but the American bankers? Did not Mr. Peabody realize more during the three weeks' Trent excitement than he has paid to the city of London? I am glad of it; he is a clever man, and knows which side the bread the butter is placed. Mr. Peabody was badly treated in the last panic; a combination of bankers did their best to break him, but he fired too many guns for them. They were jealous of his success. Who are decrying everything American? I still answer, the international bankers. When a nation is in danger, ministers generally seek information from leading minds connected with the nation in distress. On their opinions measures are taken. Our American bankers deliberately misled the English ministers. Earl Russell made Rothschild a member of Parliament. Rothschild owns the Times—the Times dabbles in stocks. Hence the occasional analogy. The Times represents the bankers, and the bankers are our worst enemies. The ministry consulted these men before acknowledging the belligerency. Hence such sudden action. The bankers sold our people. Talk five minutes with William Brown—discuss America with the Dennistons—argue a moment with John Pickersgill—ask Russell, Sturges, or Joshua Bates if America is solvent. (Joshua Bates is an American born, but he is now an Englishman—naturalization here denies him citizenship in America—but although English, I believe him to be a better man than his partner, Mr. Sturges, or Mr. Peabody, or Mr. Morgan. Mr. Bates to this day delights in the remembrance of being the powder boy on board the Constitution when she captured the Guerriere.) Pass an evening with Lionel Rothschild, or hold Tom Baring by the button any time during the epoch of Secession, and your warm Union sentiments would be shocked by a cold bath of ice treason! I frankly own that Mr. Peabody was no colder for his country than those other bankers who have been enriched by her. Was not Mr. Morgan, Mr. Peabody's partner, among the first to call upon the wife of the rebel envoy Slidell? Was not Mr. Benjamin, of the rebel cabinet, Mr. Peabody's guest in London? Did he not also entertain Mr. Faulkner, the traitor ambassador at Paris? After the battle of the Potomac (treachery (immortalized for six weeks by Bull Run Russell), most Americans in London looked blue and entertained doubts. Such days try men's souls. Having mentioned some names, let me recite in a word what I call secession. It is this: Talk with the depressed Americans about the Union, and this was their style, Why not let the South go? The country will fall under the debt. The South cannot be conquered, and so forth. Such words from Americans to Englishmen formed public opinion by being repeated, and such Englishmen as Bright, Cobden, Foster, M. P., and George Thompson, proved better Americans than many so-called representative Americans. By the by, a thought strikes me as I conclude. On the threshold of the rebellion, the New York Evening Post published a letter purporting to have been written by Mr. Peabody declaring that government could make no compromise with traitors. Mr. Peabody denied its authorship, and stated that compromise was the only salvation of the country. I translate the correspondence in this way. Mr. Peabody was accused of being a good Union man; when he avails himself of the first opportunity to deny it. You must have the correspondence; it will speak for itself.

Gen. Negley's Expedition to Chattanooga.

There seems to be a misapprehension on the part of the public relative to the object and results of Gen. Negley's recent expedition to Chattanooga. Its object, we understand, was simply to make a demonstration in force on that point for the sake of the effect which it was reasonably supposed it would have on that portion of the rebel army stationed at Cumberland Gap. He whipped and routed Adams in Sweden's Cove, and taking position on this side of the river, opposite Chattanooga, he made them skedaddle out of the city in true Southern style. They burnt the railroad bridges as they fled to prevent a pursuit never intended to be made. The federals did not cross the river into the city, but returned to Huntsville.

About eighty pestilent rebel citizens of that section were arrested, as has been before stated, and are now at Shelbyville, we believe. So, it will be seen, that East Tennessee has not been liberated, and it is little less than cruel mockery on the part of our more northern comporaries to so publish it.

It has been reported also that many of the citizens of Chattanooga manifested their loyalty on the appearance of the Union troops, and that they were seized and placed in close confinement by the rebels. We saw the gentleman who is said to have made this report, and we are fully convinced, from a conversation with him, that he was misunderstood. He, truthful, patriotic and upright citizen, as we know him to be, has been in East Tennessee all the time, and in conversation he has mentioned many rebel barbarities which occurred months ago; and he is misunderstood as asserting that they have occurred since Gen. Negley's expedition. We think it highly probable that no recent arrests have been made in Chattanooga. Nevertheless, there was one gallant young patriot who was murdered in Hamilton county, eleven miles from Chattanooga, who imprudently proclaimed his Unionism. Other cruelties were perpetrated by the rebels as soon as the federal forces disappeared.

We hope our military authorities will not again think it necessary to go into East Tennessee until they are prepared to remain. With the Federal army enters East Tennessee it should go to relieve that gallant people, and not to aggravate their sufferings.

A temporary occupancy of East Tennessee territory is the most disastrous circumstance that could happen. Chattanooga could be held as eas
