

CITY AFFAIRS.

METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS for the Gazette, by G. E. Shaw, Optician, No. 55 Fifth street—corrected daily:

Table with columns for time (11 AM, 12 PM, 1 PM, 2 PM, 3 PM, 4 PM, 5 PM, 6 PM, 7 PM, 8 PM, 9 PM, 10 PM, 11 PM) and weather conditions (Clear, Partly Cloudy, etc.).

Bridging the Ohio.

We are indebted to Hon. Robert McNight for a copy of the report relating to bridge across the Ohio river, which we publish in full, for the information of our readers and coal men.

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH CERTAIN POST ROADS.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the bridge across the Ohio river at Marietta, in the State of Ohio, situated on the Virginia shore of said river, is hereby declared to be a lawful structure.

THE INDEPENDENT LITERARY SOCIETY.

At a meeting of the Independent Literary Society of Birmingham, held on the 7th inst., the following resolutions were adopted:

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

Table showing approximate earnings of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company during the month of June, 1862, compared with the same period of last year.

ARRIVAL OF MAJOR LYON.

Major Lyon, Paymaster U. S. A., arrived in this city today, for the purpose of inspecting the sick and wounded soldiers here.

DR. HENRY'S ACQUAINTANCE.

Dr. Henry's acquaintance with the late General Sherman is well known to all who are acquainted with the history of the war.

THE CITY.—Gen. J. H. Heron arrived in this city today, from Washington, and will remain here for some days.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

The following names are acknowledged as having received the bounty money due them by the Government.

ANOTHER CLASS OF DROWNINGS.—Frederick Augustus Shedd, aged eight years, was drowned in the river near this city on the 10th inst.

TEACHERS ELECTED BY THE 5TH WARD.—The following names were elected as teachers for the next term.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A freight engine on the Central Ohio railroad, while crossing the railroad bridge at Zanesville, on Tuesday morning, ran over the track, striking against one of the stone supports that support the diagonal braces of the iron bridge.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Patent Office Notice: Notice is hereby given that the application for a patent for an improvement in the manufacture of paper has been filed.

QUICK WORK.—On July the 5th, J. Cornwell, Esq., was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

FROM THE PLACES OF THE ARMY.—The following names are mentioned as having been discharged from the army.

RASPBERRY SHOW.—Mr. Knox will exhibit at his Horticultural room, No. 29 Fifth st., 11 o'clock to-day and during the afternoon and evening, a large collection of raspberries.

ORIENTAL GAZETTE will be taken at Pittcock's Book Store, opposite Post Office, Fifth st., at the Ontario office, No. 45, Liberty street.

DATE FOR THE WEEKLY NEWS.—The date for the publication of the Weekly News is hereby fixed.

PARAGRAPHS.—The following paragraphs are published for the information of our readers.

PIREWORK, opposite the Post Office, is the agent for the sale of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

At the late books, papers, and magazines to be had at Pittcock's, opposite the Post Office.

LETTER FROM THE POTOMAC ARMY.

The following letter from an officer of the Potomac Army, to his brother in this city, will be read with interest.

THE DEATH OF COL. BLACK.

Louis Black, of the 62d regiment, wounded in the battle of July 1st, has returned home, and among other things states some new facts concerning the death of Col. Black.

THE INDEPENDENT LITERARY SOCIETY.

At a meeting of the Independent Literary Society of Birmingham, held on the 7th inst., the following resolutions were adopted:

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

Table showing approximate earnings of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company during the month of June, 1862, compared with the same period of last year.

ARRIVAL OF MAJOR LYON.

Major Lyon, Paymaster U. S. A., arrived in this city today, for the purpose of inspecting the sick and wounded soldiers here.

DR. HENRY'S ACQUAINTANCE.

Dr. Henry's acquaintance with the late General Sherman is well known to all who are acquainted with the history of the war.

THE CITY.—Gen. J. H. Heron arrived in this city today, from Washington, and will remain here for some days.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

The following names are acknowledged as having received the bounty money due them by the Government.

ANOTHER CLASS OF DROWNINGS.—Frederick Augustus Shedd, aged eight years, was drowned in the river near this city on the 10th inst.

TEACHERS ELECTED BY THE 5TH WARD.—The following names were elected as teachers for the next term.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A freight engine on the Central Ohio railroad, while crossing the railroad bridge at Zanesville, on Tuesday morning, ran over the track, striking against one of the stone supports that support the diagonal braces of the iron bridge.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Patent Office Notice: Notice is hereby given that the application for a patent for an improvement in the manufacture of paper has been filed.

QUICK WORK.—On July the 5th, J. Cornwell, Esq., was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

FROM THE PLACES OF THE ARMY.—The following names are mentioned as having been discharged from the army.

RASPBERRY SHOW.—Mr. Knox will exhibit at his Horticultural room, No. 29 Fifth st., 11 o'clock to-day and during the afternoon and evening, a large collection of raspberries.

ORIENTAL GAZETTE will be taken at Pittcock's Book Store, opposite Post Office, Fifth st., at the Ontario office, No. 45, Liberty street.

DATE FOR THE WEEKLY NEWS.—The date for the publication of the Weekly News is hereby fixed.

PARAGRAPHS.—The following paragraphs are published for the information of our readers.

PIREWORK, opposite the Post Office, is the agent for the sale of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

At the late books, papers, and magazines to be had at Pittcock's, opposite the Post Office.

LETTER FROM THE POTOMAC ARMY.

The following letter from an officer of the Potomac Army, to his brother in this city, will be read with interest.

THE DEATH OF COL. BLACK.

Louis Black, of the 62d regiment, wounded in the battle of July 1st, has returned home, and among other things states some new facts concerning the death of Col. Black.

THE INDEPENDENT LITERARY SOCIETY.

At a meeting of the Independent Literary Society of Birmingham, held on the 7th inst., the following resolutions were adopted:

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

Table showing approximate earnings of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company during the month of June, 1862, compared with the same period of last year.

ARRIVAL OF MAJOR LYON.

Major Lyon, Paymaster U. S. A., arrived in this city today, for the purpose of inspecting the sick and wounded soldiers here.

DR. HENRY'S ACQUAINTANCE.

Dr. Henry's acquaintance with the late General Sherman is well known to all who are acquainted with the history of the war.

THE CITY.—Gen. J. H. Heron arrived in this city today, from Washington, and will remain here for some days.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

The following names are acknowledged as having received the bounty money due them by the Government.

ANOTHER CLASS OF DROWNINGS.—Frederick Augustus Shedd, aged eight years, was drowned in the river near this city on the 10th inst.

TEACHERS ELECTED BY THE 5TH WARD.—The following names were elected as teachers for the next term.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A freight engine on the Central Ohio railroad, while crossing the railroad bridge at Zanesville, on Tuesday morning, ran over the track, striking against one of the stone supports that support the diagonal braces of the iron bridge.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Patent Office Notice: Notice is hereby given that the application for a patent for an improvement in the manufacture of paper has been filed.

QUICK WORK.—On July the 5th, J. Cornwell, Esq., was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

FROM THE PLACES OF THE ARMY.—The following names are mentioned as having been discharged from the army.

RASPBERRY SHOW.—Mr. Knox will exhibit at his Horticultural room, No. 29 Fifth st., 11 o'clock to-day and during the afternoon and evening, a large collection of raspberries.

ORIENTAL GAZETTE will be taken at Pittcock's Book Store, opposite Post Office, Fifth st., at the Ontario office, No. 45, Liberty street.

DATE FOR THE WEEKLY NEWS.—The date for the publication of the Weekly News is hereby fixed.

PARAGRAPHS.—The following paragraphs are published for the information of our readers.

PIREWORK, opposite the Post Office, is the agent for the sale of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

At the late books, papers, and magazines to be had at Pittcock's, opposite the Post Office.

Midnight Edition.

BY TELEGRAPH.

RIGID AND WOUNDED PENNSYLVANIANS.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—Last evening, at seven o'clock, the transport John Brooks arrived in this city with 251 sick and wounded soldiers on board of Harrison's Landing.

Some of the men were very badly wounded, and had to be carried to the hospital.

The sick suffer principally from rheumatism and diarrhoea.

XXIVTH CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, July 11, 1862.

SEVEN.—Mr. Powell, of Ky., called on the resolution calling for further evidence and opinions on the bill.

The bill amendatory of the act of 1855, calling on the militia, etc., was taken up in this Congress.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

FROM LAST NIGHT'S SECOND EDITION.

FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL DISPATCHES.

(Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, July 10, 1862.

THE SENATE spent four or five hours debating the bill giving freedom to slaves employed, and compensating labor owners for them, declaring it to be unconstitutional.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.

During the course of his speech, Mr. Lane, of Kansas, asked him, if the resolution were proposed directing the President to issue a proclamation warning the rebels to lay down their arms, and if they failed to do so in sixty days, then free their slaves, and if he was to issue that proclamation, would he not issue one and the rebellion, he would stop for it.

Mr. Browning replied very emphatically that he would not, even if he stood in the way against the will of the Senate.

When Mr. Chandler called up his resolutions calling for all orders the President has given Gen. McClellan, and went on to declare his confidence in the President, President Lincoln, and Secretary Stanton.

Mr. Chandler promised that the objection of his resolution was understood.

Mr. Hays, of N. H., presented the joint resolution of the Senate, relative to the Maryland, tendering thanks to Capt. Ringgold for the rescue of the crew of the steamer "Maryland."

Mr. Brown, of Mass., finally lost patience, and declared that (Mr. Browning) had been occupying the time of Senate with repeating the same arguments and old opinions over and over again.

Mr. Browning got angry, and declared to be unconstitutionally.