Great Excitement—Desperate Assault by an Indignant Wife on a Man.

The usually quiet village of Woodville, better known as "Ditcher's Run," just beyond the limits of Allegheny city, was throbbing with excitement on Friday evening.

At 10 o'clock, a man named John Smith, who had been drinking heavily, was seen to enter the residence of Mrs. J. M. Brown.

It appears that Mrs. B. has been suspicious of her husband's conduct for some time past, and on Friday evening she was watching him when he returned home.

When she saw him enter the house, she followed him, and when she reached the door she saw him going to a room.

She followed him into the room, and when she saw him sitting at a table, she went to him and demanded to know what he was doing there.

He refused to answer her questions, and she became more and more enraged. She then seized a chair and threw it at him.

He fell to the ground, and she then went to the door and called for help. The neighbors came, and she was taken to the hospital.

It is believed that she is recovering from her wounds, but she is still in a very excited state of mind.

After the party had been separated, Miss G. went to a neighboring house, where she was permitted to wash her face.

She then returned to her home, and when she saw that the door was open, she went to see what was the matter.

She found that the door had been forced open, and she was terrified. She called for help, and the neighbors came.

It is believed that the door was forced open by a burglar, and that the woman was frightened.

She is now in a very nervous state, and she is being treated by a physician.

It is believed that the burglar was a man named John Smith, who was seen to enter the house on Friday evening.

FROM WASHINGTON.
OUR SPECIAL DISPATCH.

(Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, July 13, 1863.
PROCEEDINGS IN CONGRESS.

Mr. Howard made an effort in the Senate on Monday to have the bill changing judicial districts, recently reported, modified so as to keep Michigan in the same district with Ohio.

The secret of the effort was the fear that Mr. Brown would be made Judge in the 2nd Illinois District. It is understood that he is an ardent aspirant for such a position.

The bill passed, however, without change. Confusion is at last through both Houses in tolerably straight shape. A motion was inserted, amounting to a provision for President selecting and arming negroes.

This may preclude the necessity for passing a separate bill. The motion was not adopted, and the bill passed.

The House members had an interview with the President on Saturday. The President stated that he was going home to prepare for the coming of the Southern Confederacy.

Members objected to this, but otherwise proceeded to have a very pleasant interview. While the House was in session, a committee of the House was appointed to investigate the case of a man named John Smith.

Mr. Richardson signalled himself by trying to revive the bullying style of the House. He was rebuffed, and he was then rebuffed.

Mr. Allen referred to some statements of Mr. Richardson. Mr. Richardson made a statement of the support of the Government.
