THE GREAT MASS MEETING

In our advertising columns will be found the call for the great Mass Meeting to be held on the West Common, Allegheny, on Thursday afternoon, at one o'clock.

Arrangements have addressed letters of invitation to a number of distinguished gentlemen abroad, to be present and deliver addresses.

The committee, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon, resolved to request all citizens to attend their places of business, so far as possible, and assist with public and private buildings, etc.

It is requested also that flags be displayed from all buildings, etc.

Prof. J. T. Wainwright, with some seventy or eighty vocalists, will sing the "Star Spangled Banner."

Two sides will be elected—a principal and two sides to be elected—a principal and two sides to be elected.

OUR BOOK TABLE

By Francis Adams Kemble. Boston: Ticknor & Fields.

The poems contain the personal experience of many years, there is little inequality in the same qualities of mind and heart which were seen in the earliest.

It is to be hoped that we should see the poet from the north, and to forget the interesting domestic life, so painfully obscured by the public of the poet, but eccentric.

The committee, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon, resolved to request all citizens to attend their places of business, so far as possible, and assist with public and private buildings, etc.

It is requested also that flags be displayed from all buildings, etc.

LATEST FROM EUROPE

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP ANITA. The Anita arrived at New York this morning, with Liverpool dates to the following:

The series of battles before Richmond is treated as a severe reverse for the Unionists by the whole British press, and General Grant's position is regarded as precarious.

The recognition of Italy by Russia and Prussia has been announced in the Italian Parliament.

The London Times urges that the fighting before Richmond must have been of the highest importance, and that General McClellan's troops could not be withdrawn from Canada.

These battles of the three days of June mean that the Confederate army is strong enough to hold its position in Virginia for a time, and will have again to begin the siege of Richmond, with much more chance than on June 1st.

The new American flag continues to excite strong hostile comment from the press.

The Times utterly denounces the spirit which regards the British as a "foreign invader," and says that the British are not to be regarded as a "foreign invader."

The London Globe hopes that the gigantic difficulties which are being developed in the progress of the war may have a salutary effect on both sides, and that some reasonable way may be found to avert the war.

The freedom of the city of London was conferred on Mr. Peabody, on the 10th inst.

The ceremony of awarding prizes at the Great Exhibition took place on the 11th inst., at the Crystal Palace, London.
