FRIDAY MORNING, AUG. 8.

A United People. If one may judge of the opinions of the masses of the people by the resolutions and and speeches enunciated and loudly and vociferously approved at the War Meetings held in all parts of the country, we shall be compelled to infer that there is no dissent from a vigorous war policy which shall embrace the whole scope and spirit of the late acts of Congress, -the confiscation and emancipation measures included.

Washington is no exception to the rule The resolutions and the speeches there, are all up to the mark, and they were received with loud acclaim. There is matter for much encouragement in all this. The people are fully up to the work we have in hand. They are ready to use every means which God, and nature, and art, and cirnumstances have given them, which it may be lawful to use, to crush out this awfu rebellion, and save the country and the Government from the perils with which they are environed.

Governments are naturally conservative, and it is pretty evident that our Government is not up with the terrible earnestness, and the resolute determination of the people. The Government is now where the people were six months ago, and there is hope that it will come on in good time, and none too fast for the impatience of the vanguard.

The only discordant notes are from Breckenridge Democratic political conventions and meetings. The resolutions and speeches of these semi-traitors, are like the croakings of the owl and the raven, those foul creatures which delight in darkness and corruption. They are but few, however, or if they are many, they hide themselves from the light, and the notice of an indignant people.

His paper is the only one cious of the set. His paper is the only one that claims to have supported Douglas in 1830, a support, the sincerity of which can be understood when it is known that was one of the most unscrupulous advocates of the disgraceful fusion movements of that year, by which unsuspecting Douglas Democrats were induced to help the the Disunion candidate for the Presidency. These evidences prove conclusively that the whole organization of the Breckinridge Democracy of Pennsylvania is inspired by the most embittered animosity to the war. One fact, which challenges successful contradiction.

The Strength of North and South | The Spirit of the Country. - A private |

The following table is of unusual interest at this time, as it shows the whole able bodied force of both North and South. The usual enumeration is of the men between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, but this does not give the whole strength of a nation available for warlike purposes. Should a war last three years, lads between fifteen and eighteen could be made use of before the was over. At a pinch, also, men between forty-five and fifty could be used. White Males in The united status of the usual enumeration is of the men between forty-five and fifty could be used. White Males in The united status of the sooner they are affoat the more secure will our armies and the country.

mained until the 10th. She then started for the Lakes, and arrived at Montreal on the 11th; passed through the Welland Canal on the 21st, and reached Detroit on the 25th. There she left 40 passengers, and started for Lake Michigan, arriving at this port Saturday evening as above indicated. The health of the passengers during the voyage was excellent—not a death occurred on the passage, and no sickness. Soon after they renched Lake Erie, a child was born to one of the passengers.

SIREPATRICE ing notice of a negro scout, illustrative of the idea many military men hold that the negroes will fight well and faithfully: written by Gen. Pillow to his brother in Tennessee. The General is alarmed about the new policy, and, says that we will go to catching negroes in less than thirty days, and will speep the river bottom. He thinks the only safety for the negroes is to carry them to the interior, and wants his brother to help him get off his negroes before they are caught, but says, the secret must be kept. He thinks that the South will receive its independence, but will lose one thousand million of dollars worth of ne groes. He has a plantation in Arkansas, and wants to get his negroes across the river into Mississippi, but Gurits is in the way. He says that the safety of their property depends on immediate action, and wants his brother to give out that the negroes taken by the Federals will be sold to Cuba after the war is over.
