- Mr. Seward's Reply to J. W. Hughes. J. W. Hrönns, Chairman of the Demo-oratic State Central Committee of Penn-sylvania, with a sublimity of impudence only paralleled by that of Janes Gonnon BENNETT, has, written a letter to Mr. Szwand, Scorelary of State, asking that slavery apostle to use his exertions to in-duce the President to favor a pelicy "to y part down the denom of the favor a pelicy "to oratic State and most able of the favor a pelicy "to oratic State and most able of the second most able of the favor a pelicy "to oratic State and most able of the favor a pelicy "to oratic down the denom of the favor a pelicy "to oratic State and the favor a pelicy "to oratic State and most able of the favor a pelicy "to oratic of the favor a pelicy "to oratic state and most able of the favor a pelicy "to oratic the favor a pelicy "to orat The down the denomination of the second states of t

did not Mr. Hugues request that Buchan-Here we are with a handful of soldiers Any, and VALLANDIGHAM, and BRIGHT, be invited to take scats in the Cabinet, and direct the future policy of the country? sweep away any invading force, or destroy Such a request would have been quite as modest modest. Mr. Szwann's reply appears in our tele-graphic columns. It is polite-Mr. Szw-all who address him-and he invites Mr. Huours to show his patriotism by assailing traitors and rebels, instead of abolitioniter Hard rebe to the perjured traitor Breckinridge, but at a loss, I have reason to believe, much greater than that indicated in the publish-ed reports. Becessionists who set with me at table.

Traitors and rebels, instead of abolitionists, and intimates that if he were at liberty, the could make an appeal which would bring the whole of the laval people to arms! bring the whole of the loyal people to arms to overthrow the rebellion. If the distinguished Secretary could exert eloquence sufficient to bring Huanes and his political associates to take a sincere and active part in opposing rebellion, we would freely award to him most remarkable powers, well nigh bordering on the supernatural We hold it to be a truism, that men such as HPGHES, and those who act with him, who are so devoted to slavery as to consider Abelitionists as allied to demons, cannot be loval. It is not within the limits of reason to suppose that men who are so bitarly opposed to the abolition of slavery, can be opposed to a war waged by slavery for its own safety and aggrandizement. We said Mr. SEWARD is always courteou but we think he stretched courtesy a good ways, when he replied to Mr. Hughes' imthe guerrillas, the robel Governor Moores police force, who roam along the coast en-forcing his aon-intercourse proclamation. This brings me to the questions which I wish to nak and answer. Why is it that we have lost ground hereduring the months that we have held this city, instead of "cleaning out" the State, opening the Mis-issippi to the commerce of the northwest (a just debt to the loyal self-scorificing i people of that section) and the surrounding country to the trade of this city? Why is it that we have not now a large udent request, in any other form than b a stern rebuke. We can only excuse the premier on the ground that he was accustomed to the courtesies of diplomacy, that be cannot lay aside its forms, even when replying to such a pro-slavery sympathizer sionists, as this HUGHES. Probably, however, Mr. SEWARD's rebuke is not the less severe, in that it is courtecountry to the trace of this city f Why is it that we have not now a large army of acclimated, hardy, willing soldiers before which the Confederate traitors would fice as though his Stainio Majesty was at their heels? The only and truthful answer ously worded ; although the first impulse would be to kick such a fellow out of de cent presence.
