WASHINGTON, Aug. 22, 1862. The sympathizers with treason are be-ginning to proceed from words to blows. It is believed that they only wait the oppor-tunity to drop their threats and take up arms. The late firing of the bridges in Ohio, was undoubtedly the work of theso degraded and disloyal men. Let us not re-gret that they are showing their sincerity after this fashion. It is worthy of them and admonitory to us. There is, besides, a harmony in it which shows that there can be consistency even in scoundrelism. If the
