When we heard, a day or two ago, of the energy and success of Gen. Lew. Wallace in organizing every means of defense within his reach, to resist and overpower the guerrillas and ascessionists of Kenteky, and among the rest, that he was drawing upon the Secessionists for slaves, "in proportion to their means, and the strength of their rebel sympathies," we rejoiced that the truly loyal men of Kentucky had at length got uppermost, and that, in the desperate crisis of affairs, such shams and obstructives as Wickliff, Davis & Co. had been forced to get out of the way, and leave men not emasculated by their rebel sympathies or a base and sneaking neutrality, theory, to fight the enemy as an enemy, with the nearest, best and most effective weapons to be found. But alas for the temperative during that will deal with traitors as traitors, and rebels as rebels—eepecially if in doing so a hand must be laid upon the black idolatry of slavery!

When we heard, a day or two and success and in the most of dividing the people.

TO THE LOYAL MFN OF PENNSYLVANIA.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE UNION STATE CEN-TRAL COMMITTEE, Commonwealth Buildings, No. 613 Chesnut street. Rellow- Citizen dered or postponed to the public emergen-cies. During the Revolutionary war there was no party against Washington but the tories or the traitors. During the war of 1812 the enemies of the Administration was no party against. Washington out the tories or the traitors. During the war of 1812 the enemies of the Administration of Mr. Madison also as infamous as the foreign invaders themselves. The war with Mexico was waged, as results have proved, by slaveholding statesmen, in order that one State more might be added to the number they have lately forced into treason; yet the public men who opposed it soon became unpopular, and its victorious general was nominated for the Presidency by the very party that dissented from the policy which resulted in the war. These are the eloquent teachings of the past. We are now in a death struggle with the most powerful foe to human liberty on earth. The enemy is strengthened by the monarchies of the old world. The issue is clearly made—the contending parties openly strengthen Abraham Lincoln or Jefferson Davis. It is for you to say whether the inot a nation, an individual or an idea opposed to human freedom, that is not enlisted against this government and in favorof the rebellion. We are ourselves our only friends. Within ourselves is oursely hope. We can have no sympathy from any other. Power in the world—no sympathy that is sincere and effectual. The State Central Committee, appointed by the Union State Convention, composed of the loyal men of Pennsylvania, who met to consider what the contender what is not enlisted to the convention, composed of the loyal men of Pennsylvania, who met to consider what Committee, appointed by the Union State simple duty to perform in this their first states. They have only to ask whether the examples of the two wars with Great Britain and the admonitions of the war began has been to divide the people of the loyal States. They announced, early in 1861, that Pennswith Mexico shall be recollected or rejected in this gloomy hour, and whether the American people will cordially support the government in putting down the rebellion. The State Central Committee would impress upon the people of Pennsylvania that the one great subject for them to consider is, the danger to the republic. There is no prejudice or opinion that should not be postponed, and, if necessary, starrifieed, to avert this common peril. The Convention from which the committee derived its suthority acted in this spirit, and it is now your duty to come forward and sustain the
