In the copy promulgated by telegrapl the words "are not then " were erroneous ly given "have not been," which is sheer ionsense, or, at best, a very shallow legal fiction. "Are not then" is the reading in the National Intelligencer, and is unque tionably correct. We take it for granted that this is intended to carry with it a general, though probably not universal, amner ty. It prescribes a condition, however which is simply impossible without a price abandonment of the present secession gov ernments of the States, and the restorat of loval governments, all of which is ne cessary before they can be represented the Congress of the United States as prescribed. The condition required to exempt a State from the operation of the procla federate fabric of State governments mu be swept away, new Governors and Legislatures elected in conformity with the supreme law of the land, and authority civen to elect members of Congress, all be

Is it not possible that, in the last extremity, the great planters of the cotton States may imitate the feudal fords, arm their slaves and lead them personally to battle against the invading Yankees, promising them both freedom and property as rewards for faithful services? In such a contingency the poor negroes could have no choice, no voice in the matter: for the conditions would probably be the majority of the present Congress.

"The foul spirit of anti sidvery, and that alone, brought these curses upon us, and when the administration of Lincoln came into power, our Southern brethern, seeing as plainly as the sunlight that illumines these windows, that their equality in our Government was practically destroyed—that the rights common to all, which their forefathers, jointly with ours, had achieved, were subverted, JUSTLY resorted to their State organizations to enforce justice to themselves and confeder ated to resist abolition encroachments. lenouncing the Government, I now find the most clamorous to get in "and take a swear." I have also noticed, that as the portentous heretofore, among the more wealthy and fashionable, it was considered a mark of absolute degradation to acknowledge allegiance to the flag of the Union, and as a consequence, all who had done so, or were tabooed. But now we are rapidly settling Hon. M. B. H. Garnett, of Virginia, in a state to Wm. H. Trescott, Esq., of South arolina, dated May 3, 1861, and which that this oath-taking jest is, in the majority
