LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

From Yesterday's Evening Gazette.

Exemption as Mail Carriers.

Considerable disapprobation is manifested against certain conductors on the Citizens' Passenger Railway, who claimed exemption upon the ground that they were "mail carriers" in the service of the United States! Our readers know the origin of the "mail dodge," which was to escape prosecution for running their cars on Sunday. The whole thing was a subterfuge to make money on Sunday, in violation of the spirit of the law; and the farce is now extended to a ridiculous length in carrying as a reason for legal exemption from military duty! Admitting the "color of law," is such conduct fair and manly?"

As to the efficiency of these "special mail agents," we quote the remarks of a correspondent on the whole system of mail service on the street cars is a nuisance. Of late we have had no opportunity of noting its workings, but we became perfectly familiar with that on the Citizens' Passenger Railway some time since. Nobody on the roads are crowded with mail business, and would do less still if the public were aware of the beauties of delay as illustrated by the system. Letters placed on the Penn street cars, going either way, were all carried to Lawrenceville, and in due course of time delivered to the postoffice there, from which they were generally forwarded in the evening or next morning to Pittsburgh. If the entire system was abandoned, in favor of the old plan, under which each man carried his own letters direct to the postoffice, or entrusted them to a friend, the average speed of transmitting letters would be vastly increased. It has never been anything better than a person's fancy, and the idea of connecting a host of mail carrying exempts with such an institution is too absurd to be thought of for a moment. The Department decided at one time that the plan could not be used merely as a pretext to evade even local Sunday laws. How much more absurd when used merely to evade a draft!

The Criminal Court.

The October term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions commenced this morning—Judges Sterrett, Mellon, Hitchin, Adams and Brown being on the Bench.

The list of Grand Jurors was called over, but there being less than a quorum in attendance, attachments were placed in the hands of the Clerk to bring in the absentees.

The Jail Calendar exhibits the following cases for trial:

For Murder—Fred. Winchey, D. H. Baily, Thomas B. Kiernan, Fred. Loech, Andrew Miller, Wm. Lowry, Rudolph Weil.

Larceny—John Orable, John Thompson, August Lander, John Anderson, Mathew Wilson, Gab. Isaacs, Charles Dougherty, B. P. Hammond, Catharine Fagan, Eliza Vaun, alias Barris, M. Ann Keep, Clara Martin, Elizabeth Baptist.

Burglary—Noah Smith.

Highway Robbery—Patrick Harkins.

Assault with Intent to Rape—Albert Jordan, J. Landers.

Intent to Kill—Richard Davis, William L. Haddock, Caroline Turner.

Surety of the Peace—John Ellis, Val. Fry, Jacob Miller, John Rosberry, Sarah Murray.

Assault and Battery—Thomas Stills.

Malicious Mischief—Levi Willis.

Keeping Disorderly House—Wm. Evans, Ann Evans.

The list of Grand Jurors was again called, when a quorum answered, and the jury was duly sworn.

Judge Sterrett then delivered a very full and able charge, touching the powers and duties of the Grand Jury, after which they retired to their room.

Several unimportant surety cases were disposed of, when the Court adjourned until nine o'clock Tuesday morning.

An Attempt to Stab--Shot at by an Officer.

Last night, about midnight, an unknown man attempted to cross the new Suspension Bridge from the Pittsburgh side, without paying his toll. He was halted by the toll collector, Mr. J. L. Williams, when he drew a knife and made a lunge at him through the window, remarking, "I owe you something, and I'll pay you now." Mr. W., who is a man not easily intimidated, rushed from the toll house, when the cowardly rascal fled over the bridge, pursued by Mr. W., crying "stop thief."

The noise attracted the attention of officer McKelvy, who was at the Allegheny end, and as the fellow came running out of the bridge he declared that it was funny as though the thing was a joke. McKelvy, however, joined in the pursuit, and gained on the fellow for a time, but when his "wind" began to fail he demanded the fugitive to stop. The request was not complied with, when bang went the officer's revolver, but the ball went with the wind. Another shot would have followed, but the game disappeared in Byrd's board yard, and was seen no more. Mr. Williams does not know his assailant, and as he is not the regular collector, he thinks he may have been mistaken for Mr. Peter Boyle. However, "nobody was hurt," and "all's well that ends well."

Editors Gazette: In looking over the list of "exempts," as published in the Dispatch, it seems to me as if gross injustice, if not fraud, has been perpetrated upon this community, and should our citizens resolve to quietly bear it, they are assuredly no longer worthy the name and rights of Freedom. My own observation has led me to the belief that through some kind of management, (chemical or metallic,) many dozens of stout, able-bodied men have received certificates of disability, thus relieving them of their share of the duty and responsibility our government forces on every one able to shoulder a musket. Now, as one who is afflicted with some of the ills flesh is heir to, but, nevertheless, who would disdain to ask for an exemption, and intends to abide his chance in the coming draft, would suggest the propriety of the citizens (the non-exempts) in the several wards, boroughs, &c., holding public meetings, conferring together immediately, and appointing committees to devise such measures as may be essential, and can be adopted, whereby this stupendous outrage, this favoritism, this corruption, may be fully exposed in all its deformity, and the guilty parties, be they who they may, brought to the bar of justice. FAIR PLAY.

The Gymnasium.—We have already stated the causes of the decline of our Gymnasium and that an effort was being made to reinvigorate the institution. We desire to call attention to the fact that a meeting will be held this evening for election and reorganization, and to urge all who feel the slightest interest to be present and give assistance. The value of the Gymnasium in times past should be a sufficient reason for its maintenance now.

Anecdotes of Sumner and Burnside.

A story is told of the veteran Sumner at the battle of Antietam. His son, young Capt. Sumner, a youth of twenty-one, was on his staff. The old man calmly stood, amidst a storm of shot and shells, and turned to send him through a doubly raging fire, upon a mission of duty. He might never see his boy again, but his country claimed his life, and as he looked upon his young brave, he grasped his hand, encircling him in his arms, and fondly kissed him. "Good bye, Sammy," "Good-bye, father," and the youth mounting his horse, rode gaily on with the message. He returned unharmed, and again his hand was grasped with a cordial "How d'ye do, Sammy?" answered by a grasp of equal affection. The scene was touching to those around.

Burnside now stands as a general of unvarying success, and a nation accords him praise. His head is prematurely bald. He "has grown stout, and rolls like a jolly tar as he walks, and his soldiers call him 'the old man.'" They adore him both for his leadership and his manners. He rarely passes a soldier without a nod and a friendly question, and the man departs delighted at his notice. Officers are no less under the influence of his attractions and he tempers strict injunctions with a smile. "Did you hear what I have been saying?" asked he of each of his division generals, as he issued orders on the night before the battle of Antietam. "Yes," "Then say it over." And the generals, like school boys in a class, repeated their lessons.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

[FROM OUR EVENING EDITION.]

THE BATTLE AT CORINTH, MISS.

DISPATCHES FROM GEN. GRANT.

THE REBELS IN FULL RETREAT.

The Enemy Pursued Across Hatchee River.

&c., &c., &c.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The following dispatches have been received at the Headquarters of the army:

FIRST DISPATCH.

GEN. GRANT'S HEADQUARTERS, Jackson, Tenn., Oct. 5, 8 a. m.

To Maj. Gen. H. W. Halleck, General-in-Chief of the U. S. A.:—Yesterday the rebels, under Van Dorn, Price and Lovell, were repulsed from their attack on Corinth with great slaughter.

The enemy are in full retreat, leaving their dead and wounded on the field.

Gen. Rosecrans telegraphs that the loss is serious on our side, particularly in officers, but bears no comparison with that of the enemy.

General Hackleman fell while gallantly leading his brigade. General Oglesby is dangerously wounded.

General McPherson reached Corinth, with his command, yesterday.

General Rosecrans pursued the retreating enemy this morning, and should they attempt to move towards Bolivar, will follow them to that place.

General Hurlbut is at the Hatchie river, with 5,000 or 6,000 men, and is no doubt with the pursuing column.

From 700 to 1000 prisoners, besides the wounded, are left in our hands.

[Signed] U. S. GRANT.

SECOND DISPATCH.

GEN. GRANT'S HEADQUARTERS, Jackson, Tenn., Oct. 5, 1862.

To Major General Halleck, General-in-Chief of U. S. A.:—Gen. Ord, who followed Gen. Hurlbut, and took command, met the enemy to-day on the south side of the Hatchie river, as I understand from his dispatch, and drove them across the stream, and got possession of the heights with our troops.

Gen. Ord took two batteries and about 200 prisoners.

A large portion of Gen. Rosecrans' forces were at Cheralie.

At this distance, everything looks most favorable, and I cannot see how the enemy are to escape without losing everything but their small arms.

I have strained everything to take into the fight an adequate force, and to get them to the right place. U. S. GRANT,

Major General Commanding.

Extensive Fire in Syracuse, N. Y.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The Bastable block, at the corner of Genesee and Warren streets, was destroyed by fire this morning. The loss on the building amounted to $40,000, on which there is an insurance of $30,000. The loss to the occupants, by the destruction of their goods by fire and water, amounted to $75,000, which is insured for $40,000.

LETTER FROM KENTUCKY.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 2, 1862.

GEN. BUELL AND HIS DEPARTMENT.

After being suspended from the command of this Department for twenty-four hours, Gen. Buell has been reinstated, and though deprived of the chief command in the field, is Commander-in-Chief of the Department. The whole thing amounts to a removal to satisfy the earnest demands of his volunteer soldiery, and a reinstatement to satisfy the demands of the West Pointers commanding Buell's Division. While those who demanded his removal composed the vast majority of his colonels, the field, staff and file of the army, it is a significant fact that only West Point, or regular and Kentucky Generals, insisted on Buell's retention, and united in a dispatch to Gen. Halleck, remonstrating against his removal. These were Thomas, McCook, Wood, Gilbert, Ammon, Wright, who are all West Pointers, and Rousseau, Jackson, and Ery, who are all Kentuckians. Among the Kentuckians who refused to join in this was Maj. Gen. Critteden. Among his Division commanders not signing it, and who are opposed to Buell's administration, are Smith, of Ohio, Schoepff, Sill, Negley and others. It is stated here that among those working for Buell's removal was Gov. Morton, of Indiana. He has been heard to demur against having Buell in command of his Indiana boys.

This is the affair you already know. Buell is Commander-in-Chief of the Department, and will direct the campaign from Headquarters in this city. Gen. Thomas is Commander-in-Chief in the field, and will have the immediate control of the troops in the event of an engagements. The army is divided into three grand corps, which are thus commanded:

1st corps, right wing, Maj. Gen. A. McD. McCook
3d " centre, " O. O. Gilbert.

Each of these corps are divided into its three divisions, numbering each 10,000 men, and giving an effective force of not less than 90,000 men.

A FORWARD MOVEMENT.

This immense army got under way yesterday, and marched some firm; sales of 3,000 bbls stood that no wagon trains were to accompany it, but the three corps marched with immense trains, as usual, with this army. The Shelbyville turnpike was taken up by Crittenden's corps—the left wing—while the right went by the Bardstown road and the centre by Taylorsville. There is little probability that an engagement will be had with the enemy in this part of the State, although he is reported in strong force sixteen miles from the city. Cavalry skirmishes are had daily in every direction, and the rebels are thought to be in force near the city; but this is supposed to be the exaggeration of the excited skirmishers. A man from Boston reports to the Democrat that he came of a considerable force on Long river, some eighteen miles up the Shelbyville pike. They are occupying the hills beyond Floyd's Ford, and sent out reconoitering parties in all directions, penetrating down even to the headwaters of Beargrass. They deem their force sufficient to whip the Federal troops sent against them. There are a number of secession citizens in Shelby and Jefferson counties, in the neighborhood of the rebel forces, who are piloting them through the country and to the homes of Union men.

The rebels amuse themselves with stealing horses, negroes and clothing. A large quantity of woolen cloth was stolen from a man named Goggin in the same vicinity. He was afterwards paid for it at the rate of fifty cents per yard in Confederate scrip. The rebels have money in plenty, as a printing establishment at Lexington is kept busy printing the article so unvaluable to the future generations as mementoes of the war. A party of rebels approached within ten miles of the city a few days since, arrested a Union man named Dorsey and took away one hundred of his negroes.

A gentleman reached the city last evening, and reported two bridges to have been burned at Frankfort some two or three days ago. The rebel force at Frankfort is not over two regiments.

A CAVALRY SKIRMISH.

The advance on the Bardstown road yesterday morning was composed of the Fourth Indiana Cavalry, Col. Schuyler. When about thirteen miles from the city they were attacked, and driven back by a rebel cavalry regiment. A Lieut. Woodward was left on the field and taken prisoner. Col. Schuyler was seriously wounded. We had two killed and four wounded.

General Dumont has assumed command in the city. Gen. Boyle, who has been in command here, has taken the field in command of a division.

The public school buildings are being fitted up as hospitals, although there are numerous rebel houses here idle, though admirably suited for hospitals. Buckner's residence is empty, while the rebels occupy Boyle's residence at Danville for headquarters. Blanton Duncan and others have palatial residences here, which are duly respected.

SHUMA.

INDIA RUBBER CAMP BLANKETS for Soldiers' use; superior to any of the so called "Gum Blankets," which are nothing else than Oil Cloth. The article we offer is warranted water proof, and also unaffected by heat, or cold, which is not the case with Oil Cloth. Another supply just received at the India Rubber Depot, 72 and 74 St. Clair street. F. & W. PHILLIPS.

CEDAR STAVES—5,000 in store and for sale by ISAIAH DICKEY & CO.

COMMERCIAL RECORD.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

[Reported specially for the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MONDAY, Oct. 3.—The market remains tolerably active without however, any new features worthy of notice, save an advance in groceries. Flour, Grain and Provisions are steady with a fair demand, but quotations remain unchanged.

FLOUR—There is a continued fair demand for flour and prices are still tending upward. Sale of 50 bbls Extra Family at $5.50; 30 do do at $5.00; 125 do do at $5.50@5.60. and 200 do do $5.50@5.70. Extra is held at $5 to $5.50.

GRAIN—Wheat is steady at $1.00 to $1.05 for Mediterranean and Amber Red, and $1.06 to $1.10 for Pennsylvania and Ohio White. Rye is firm at 58 to 60c. Oats may be quoted at 43 to 45c for new, and 48 to 50c for old from first hands. Barley is very firm at 85 to 87. Corn is in good supply but the market is firm at 58 to 62c from first hands and store.

GROCERIES—The grocery market continues very active and a still further advance has been established. We note sales of 20 hhds of Sugar at 9¾c for Cuba, and 10¾ to 10¾c for New Orleans; 75 bgs Coffee to city trade at 23¾c; and 42 do do at 24c; 25 bbls New York Syrup at 52; and 120 bbls Molasses, cypress cooperage, city trade, at 52c; Prime N O. oak cooperage are held at 56@57c.

BACON—is quiet with a very limited stock in market. We note small sales of Shoulders at 6¾c. Ribbed Sides 6¾c; Plain Hams 10c, and Sugar Cured 12¾c.

CHEESE—firm with sales in lots of 140 bxs prime selected W R at 9c.

BUTTER—Sale of 10 pails prime fresh at 16¾c. Packed Butter is firm at 11 to 12c.

WHISKY—has advanced to 34c for Common Rectified. Some holders are asking 35c.

SALT—No. 1 Extra has advanced to $1, 87 and $1.90 per bbl.

THE TAX OF REFINED OIL—AN IMMENSE REVENUE.—But few persons have any conception of the immense revenue the tax on refined oil will yield. The duty is ten cents per gallon or about $4.00 per bbl. Some of our large refineries turn out 100 bbls per day, 3600 per month or 43,200 per year. A refinery of this character will have to pay $172,800 annually for taxes. Assuming that there are sixty refineries in this vicinity, which is a fair estimate, and allowing a weekly average of only 200 bbls for each one, the monthly yield would reach 48,000, or 576,000 bbls per year. The tax on 576,000 bbls at $4,00 per bbl, would reach the enormous sum of $2,304,000 in round numbers.

Allowing that one-fourth of this will be exported to foreign countries,—on which there is no duty,—we still have $1,728,000 left.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS IMPORTS.—The following is the comparative statement of imports of foreign dry goods at the port of New York for the week ending October 2, and since January 1:

| | For the week | 1860. | 1861. | 1862. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Entered at the port. | | $1,663,619 | $587,949 | $1,568,274 |
| Thrown on market | | 1,617,622 | 848,504 | 1,630,814 |
| | Since January 1. | | | |
| Entered at the port | | 85,091,916 | 37,134,003 | 45,078,637 |
| Thrown on market | | 85,606,717 | 36,497,907 | 39,861,996 |

The imports continue to increase beyond those of last year, but the amount is taken with ease by the demand for consumption. At private sale the trade of the week was quiet, but at auction there was a large amount transacted at fair prices. The chief sale of the week was that of Messrs. Benkard & Hutton by Messrs. Wilmerdings & Mount. There was a numerous attendance of buyers, and the competition was active and spirited and many duplicates were sold. Lupin's French plain all wool delaines were sold at this sale from 31 to 32c against 29 to 30c at the same period of 1860, and 23 to 25c last season. Lupin's bombazines were sold at 70c to $1.25 against 62c to $1.10 last year. Ribbons are sold almost exclusively at auction, and heavy lines are offered every week; prices are a little off, but the demand is brisk. Shawls have been sold in large lots at auction, and prices have not been satisfactory to importers, although some few good styles are still bringing fair prices. The silk trade is dull and heavy, excepting in low priced goods, and a large auction sale will take place next week; which will be worthy of the attention of buyers. In British goods the trade is done chiefly at private sale. Worsted and mixed dress goods are in active demand at high prices. Heavy linens for army use buriaps, &c., are in demand, but the general linen trade is dull. Woolens, for men's wear are quiet.

The value of dry goods imported at New York, in September, for six years, has been as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1857 | $7,206,060 | 1860 | $6,740,200 |
| 1858 | 6,016,000 | 1861 | 2,925,400 |
| 1859 | 6,530,100 | 1862 | 2,326,800 |

—N. Y. World.

DOMESTIC DRY GOODS.—Prices of cotton goods are generally a shade firmer, and printing cloths from 1¼ to 1¾ have advanced to 1¾@1¾c, and more asked, for 64 squares. But trade continues exceedingly slow. We quote China drills, 28c to 29c; standard shee ings, 25; staple prints, 15 to 17c, the higher price for cohocs, sprague, &c., merrimac; Highams, 16c to 18c; Cocheco flannels, 30 to 37½c. Woolens are doing better at full prices. The elegant shawls of the Watertico company are being delivered on orders ahead of production. Fancy cassimeres are in light request but very firm.—N. Y. World.
