LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

From Yesterday's Evening Gazette.

Return of a Union Prisoner from Richmond.

Mr. P. Y. Hite, a resident of Tarentum, Allegheny county, attached to the Quartermaster's Department, and who was taken prisoner at Front Royal in May last, arrived in this city on Wednesday night, having left Richmond on Saturday, last. He was exchanged, with others, for rebel civilians held by our army. Among those who left Richmond with him, were Messrs. W. H. Smith, John Bryant and John Beinhoover, of the Pittsburgh Sanitary Commission.

Mr. Hite tells the same doleful tale of misery as others who have been confined in that loathsome place known as the Libby prison. He relates many instances of cruelty practiced by the guard, who deprive the prisoners of every comfort and convenience. It was almost certain death to be caught looking out of the window. One poor fellow, who had just finished his beggarly prison meal, and approached too near the window, was shot and instantly killed. Murders are of frequent occurrence there—all the released prisoners testifying to the fact.

Mr. Hite informs us, that, bad as is the treatment of Northern men, it is nothing compared with that experienced by Southern Union prisoners. There were two Union men confined in Libby prison—one from Kentucky and the other from Virginia. They were both bound hand and foot, and kept in a dungeon. No one could conceive, much less describe, their horrible condition. They were suffered to become terribly filthy, and were literally eaten with vermin. Being bound, they could not relieve themselves, and the vermin would collect in spots, eat through the skin, and leave the flesh in blotches and scars! No mercy whatever was shown to these, and Mr. Hite had never read of any torments equal to those which these loyal men endured.

There is great destitution in Richmond, and all classes are suffering. On Saturday last, when our informant left, he believes, from what he saw, that a good meal's victuals could not be procured in that city for five dollars! Tea was selling at sixteen dollars per pound. An "extract of coffee," made in Baltimore, was purchasable at seventy-five cents a pcand, but it was little better than "burnt bread." There was no coffee in it at all. Rancid butter sold at one dollar a pound. Every article of diet was extremely high.

Casualties in the 79th Pennsylvania Regiment.

The Seventy-ninth Pennsylvania Regiment, Col. Hambright, attached to Starkweather's Brigade, Rousseau's Division, was in the battle of Perrysville, and lost severely in killed, wounded and missing, as follows:

Killed	38
Wounded	143
Missing	30
Total	211

Among the officers killed were Capt. Samuel J. Boone, Co. C, and Second Lieutenant Henry Tert, Co. C.

Among the wounded are the following:

First Lieut. Robert M. Dysert, shoulder.

Second Lieut. E. M'Coffrey, abdomen and arm.

First Lieut. Jos. Hazard; right breast.

The regiment was in a very exposed situation, having been ordered to support a battery on the right, which they did with unflinching bravery.

The regiment contains very few, if any, Allegheny county men, and was recruited principally in Lancaster county.

Capt. Ben. W. Morgan.

We are gratified to learn that this gallant young Pittsburgher, who entered the service as Captain of the "Pittsburgh Rifles, Co. B," and who has ever since been attached to Col. Knipe's regiment, (the fighting 46th) has been strongly recommended, by numerous officers of distinction, for promotion to the position of Colonel of the 128th Pennsylvania, one of the new regiments, recruited in the eastern part of the State. Capt Morgan has distinguished himself for coolness and bravery in every engagement through which he has passed, and has been specially mentioned by his superior officers, for the gallantry which he displayed. Gen. Williams compliments him, by name, for meritorious conduct on the bloody field of Antietam, and it would be but a just recognition of his skill as an officer, and his courage as a soldier, if Governor Curtin would tender him a Colonel's commission. No inferior officer in the service is better entitled to promotion.

Col. Allen's Regiment.

We regret to learn that Col. Allen's fine regiment is suffering very much from want of medicines. Strange as it may appear, the government has not yet provided them with drugs, so indispensable to the men while becoming "acclimated." As a consequence, there are now 200 on the sick list—most of them suffering from trifling ailments, to be sure, but sufficient to disqualify them from duty. Where the blame lies, for this neglect, we are not informed; but it would perhaps be much less trouble for the friends of this regiment to go to work and procure a supply of medicines, than to ascertain where the censure belongs. Here, where medicines are so abundant, it will be an easy matter to obtain an ample supply by private means, and the matter will doubtless be attended to at once.

Parade of the Stanton Cavalry.

This splendid body of troops turned out on parade to-day, and by their numbers and soldierly appearance took our citizens altogether by surprise. The great mass of the people were not aware that we had so many finely equipped soldiers in Camp Howe, and if they had only been mounted they would have made a cavalcade the like of which has never been witnessed in this city.

There were at least fifteen hundred men in the ranks, and their gay uniforms presented a beautiful and attractive appearance. The field officers alone were mounted. The first regiment is under command of Col. Schoonmaker, and the second under Col. Stockton. The whole was preceded by a splendid brass band.

On Trial for Murder.—Robert, alias Dock Pool, is now on trial for the murder of Adam Buch, at Wheeling. Buch was shot on the 9th of August last, by Pool, and died on the 15th of the same month. The deceased kept a grocery, and on the day in question Pool and others came in, and began to act in a disorderly manner. Buch attempted to put Pool out, when the latter drew a pistol and shot him in the side, the load lodging between the spinal column and the kidneys. Pool was so close to the deceased that the wad from the pistol entered the wound, together with several shot and slugs. The case is still on trial.

New Counterfeit.—Messrs. Feid & Lare, of the National Bank Reporter, advise us of the issue of new imitated five dollar notes on the Bank of Orange County, Vermont, which are being circulated. Vig.: scene at mill door, man with bag on his shoulder, colt, &c., boy at head to the right; girl feeding chickens on right end. Well engraved and likely to deceive.

The Official Returns.—The Return Judges of the Election will meet on Friday, at the Court House, for the purpose of receiving and footing up the official returns of the county. We shall be able to lay the result before our readers on Saturday morning.

Our Book Table.

The Wife's Stratagem: a Story for Fireside and Wayside. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Pittsburgh: for sale by R. P. Davis, 9 Wood street.

The 'stratagem' of the heroine of this story, is not one of those dark and terrible ones with which the modern sensationists so frequently startle their readers. On the contrary, it is a very simple, a very harmless, and, we might even say, a very amiable stratagem. It is, therefore, very amiably and very creditably, made the stratagem of a woman. "Aunt Fancy" sees with alarm that her husband becomes fonder and fonder of 'hot punch'—a very dangerous and seductive concoction, of which we need only say that "Aunt Fanny" had a decidedly unfavorable opinion, and was decidedly right therein. Her 'stratagem' consisted simply in finding something more attractive, or making something more attractive, than 'hot punch'—and this she did by organizing a club of half a dozen persons who met at each other's houses to read and hear original stories. The accessories are chocolate, cake and sandwiches, which, with the lively and interesting stories of the clubbites, achieve a complete victory over 'hot punch' and its dangerous attractions. So the reader perceives that the 'Wife's Stratagem' is a story of stories. We cheerfully commend it, as a pleasant and withal clever companion for a leisure hour by the 'fireside' or 'wayside.'

Anatomy of the Arteries of the Human Body, Descriptive and Surgical, with Descriptive Anatomy of the Heart. By John Harch Power, M. D. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co. Pittsburgh: for sale by Kay & Co., 65 Wood street.

This is an acknowledged standard work and authority on the subject of which it treats. The author is Fellow and Professor of Anatomy in the Royal College of Surgeons, and Supervisory Surgeon of the City of Dublin Hospital. This treatise is exceedingly comprehensive, and at the same time embraces the minutest details, with all the discoveries in anatomical science relating to, or necessary to elucidate, the subject. The illustrations are both very numerous and very beautiful; and we find that in this department the American edition is even superior to the original, several new engravings prepared by American anatomists being included in it. The work has been "authorized and adopted by the Surgeon General of the United States Army, as a guide for surgical practice in field and general hospitals." It will no doubt find a place in every surgeon's library.

Good Advice.

An eminent physician gives the following excellent advice:

"Our teeth decay. Hence unseemly mouths, bad breath, imperfect mastication. Everybody regrets it. What is the cause? I reply, want of cleanliness. A clean tooth never decays. The mouth is a warm place—so is green. Particles of meat between the teeth soon decompose. Gums and teeth must suffer. Perfect cleanliness will preserve the teeth to old age. How shall it be secured? Use a quill pick, and rinse the mouth after eating. Brush and Castile soap every morning; the brush and simple water on going to bed. Bestow this trifling care upon your precious teeth, and you will keep them and ruin the dentists. Neglect it, and you will be sorry all your lives. Children forget. Watch them. The first teeth determine the character of the second set. Give them equal care. Sugar, acids, saleratus, and hot things, are nothing when compared with food decomposing between the teeth. Mercurialization may loosen the teeth, long use may wear them out, but keep them clean and they will never decay. This advice is worth more than thousands of dollars to every boy and girl."

Boy Injured.—A lad named Baldwin, residing on Webster street, nearly opposite Congress street, while igniting a cartridge of powder and ball, on Monday evening, had his right eye blown out on the cheek and his face severely burned. A great number of cartridges were picked up on the Arsenal grounds on the occasion of the recent explosion, and young Baldwin, it seems, had a supply of them, with which he was amusing himself by exploding them. His injuries, though severe, are not dangerous.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

[FROM OUR EVENING EDITION.]

From Cairo—The Hazel Dell Robbers—Transports Burned, etc.

Cairo, Oct. 15.—The rebel force, which robbed the steamer Hazel Dell yesterday, at Caseyville, Ky., was commanded by Cols. Anderson, Johnsen, and Martin. It is supposed they number two thousand. About three thousand dollars worth of clothing, groceries, and powder, were taken. They have threatened to burn all the boats falling into their hands after the 1st of month.

Two transports, the Admiral and Philadelphia, laden with ordnance stores, were burned to-day, at Columbus. The fires originated in the cabin of the Admiral. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. While burning she floated against the Philadelphia. A thousand kegs of powder were taken from the latter during the conflagration. Several hundred shells exploded on the Admiral, blowing her to pieces. Many houses in the town were struck.

Gen. Dodge was slightly wounded by the fragment of a shell. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

The expedition which left here last night for Ballard county, Ky., returned with five prisoners. They also captured a number of horses and mules.

The Depreciation of Paper Money—A Reserve Corps.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The depreciation of paper is inconveniently felt by the Government in its transactions, including the difference in exchange, to pay the navy and civil agents distant from points where United States notes can be made available. From a similar cause, many contractors will be involved in heavy losses, if not bankruptcy, owing to the largely increased prices of the articles which they have obligated themselves to furnish. Already, it is said, they will apply to Congress for relief.

The subject of always having a large and efficient reserve corps, is popular in military circles, and among the suggestions is one that it should be placed under the Military Governorship of the District of Columbia in connection with the reception and organization of the troops constantly arriving here from the several States.

Allegheny Live Stock Market

Thursday, Oct. 16.—There has been a great stir among cattle men this week, and a more brisk market than we have had for many months. This is owing to several causes which cannot last. One is that many of our regular shippers, were not in market this week in consequence of the election, which caused a light supply. Another reason was, there had to be so many cattle bought for the army in order to fill the first delivery of the new contracts. The consequence was that sellers were very firm in their rates, and it was hard for our retail butchers to get a supply of such cattle as they wanted. Many lots were sold at 50c per cwt higher than they could have been two weeks ago. But we hope no one will take this as a criterion for what will be hereafter, as we do not think cattle can be sold at any such prices next week, nor again this fall. It is the wrong time of the year to have an advance that will last, and no one need be surprised if prices are as low next week as they have been any time this fall. No doubt the drovers will draw in a large supply for the next market, and it is also probable that many will be compelled to go home with very faces, and minus some of that necessary article which most men work hard to acquire.

Below will be found an accurate list of the sales at the different yards, and the number offered and sold. Whole number of cattle offered..... 1836
Number sold..... 1037

UNION YARDS—J. BLAIR, PROPRIETOR.

B A Campbell, 35 head of fair Ohio steers, weighing about 1200 lbs, wholesaled at 5¾.

S O Griffith, 33 head of good Ohio cows and heifers, at 3½@4.

J Sill, 15 head of fair small cattle at $25 ⅌ head.

J S Butler, 40 head of Logan county, Ohio, cows and heifers, wholesaled at about 3½@3¾; ¼c higher than they could be sold for last week.

Wm Holmes, 45 fair Indiana cattle, sold 40 head at 5¾; balance at 5¾.....to one of the Arsenal grounds on the occasion of the recent explosion, and young Baldwin, it seems, had a supply of them, with which he was amusing himself by exploding them. His injuries, though severe, are not dangerous.

J Henderson, 39 head small cattle at $22, ⅌ head.

E Whitney, 20 head of fair Ohio heifers, retailed at 3½@3¾.

Wm J Lattry, 18 head of good 1100 ℔ Ohio steers, came in too late for the retail market; sold at $3,85.

DRAKE YARDS—D. SHAFER, PROPRIETOR.

J Partridge, 20 head of small cattle from Perry county, Ohio, at 3½@3.

J S Stewart, 20 head of small Ohio stock, sold at about 3@3½.

England & Webb, 300 rough Chicagostock, a small part sold at 3¾.

S M Wilson, 20 head of fair Marion county, Ohio, stock, retailed at 3¼@3.

S Elliott, 20 head of fair Logan county, Ohio, stock, wholesaled at 3¾.

J Cochran, 20 head of small Coshocton county, Ohio, stock; sold at about 3¾.

Marks & Co, 70 head of fair Allegheny county, Pa., stock; sold at 3¾; also 40 head of all kinds at 2@3.

Orange & Co, 60 head of fair cattle, retailed at 3¼@3¾.

Crooks & Co, 40 head of cows and heifers, retailed at 2½@3¾.

They were some lots of cattle that we are unable to give this week. The old trade of buying cattle on Sunday, is being revived again, and the buyers and sellers are all up much about sales made on that day. We were in hopes that we should never hear again of cattle changing hands on Sunday, but from the latter during the conflagration. For several hundred shells exploded on the Admiral, blowing her to pieces. Many houses in the town were struck.

Gen. Dodge was slightly wounded by the fragment of a shell. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

The expedition which left here last night for Ballard county, Ky., returned with five prisoners. They also captured a number of horses and mules.
