SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 15. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE. the 169th Pennsylvania, (recently organized the murder of John A. Obey, conveys a lesson which a certain class of young men should consider and lay to heart. The evidence went to show that Keenan and Obey were entire strangers, and hence it was not even hinted that there had been any previous grudge existing between them. Keenan was, so far as the testimony developed his character, an industrious, honest mechanic, and in this respect he was the equal of Obey. But the testimony proved more. It established the fact that Keenan carried the dagger of the assassin. Obey had no weapon, but relied for protection upon his good behavior and physical courage. Keenan, excited with liquor, was quick for a quarrel, and concerns of his ability to overcome the most powerful man-having; the dagger to rely upon in case his courage failed him. The question will suggest itself.—"Why did Keenan arm himself, with such a weapon?" The fourth of July had passed, and the fifth, being Saturday, he was in the city, with friends, enjoying himself as his inclination. Suggested. What need had he of a dagger? Hundreds of young men, who are never without the dirk, the bowie knife, or some such weapon, may pains and ask themselves this question. The instrument which Keenan carried, and which cost a worthy young man his life, was the very emblem of assassination. The was the very emblem of assassination. The was the very emblem of assassination of all weapons—and in a Court of justice a bloody dagger points only to the gallows.

The constant carrying of the pistol—which, compared with the knife, is a manly weapon—and of the pistol which, compared with the knife, is a manly weapon—and of the pistol which, compared with the knife, is a manly weapon—and of the pistol which, compared with the knife, is one of the feath the pistol is used by the good and upright citisen, under cortain circumstances, to defend himself spainst the rowdy, the robber and the burglar; while the marderous knife the pistol is used by the good and upright citison, under certain circumstances, to defend himself against the rowdy, the robber and the burgler; while the murderous knife is generally found with the coward, and accompanies him to the tavern, the gambling room and the brobel, ready to be used upon the slightest provocation, against either friend or foe. It was said by counsel, and we verily believe it, that if Keenan had killed obey with a common pocket knife, he could not be accompanied of murder in the first degree. The jury, in that case, might have inferred that there was no specific intent to take life, and this would have reduced the grade of orims, and saved the life of the prisoner. The terrible instrument which have injured that the intentions we ignere the fact that the intentions of men are proved by their actions. Then we owild caution every young man, who has respect for himself, and who values his reputation and his manbood, to discard the dagger. It is a serpent in the bosom, which may turn upon him and inflict the fatal sting at any moment.

Succide on Sixth Street.

Goroner McClung was called, on Thursday weening, to hold an inquest upon the body of Mrs. Ellen Morse, residing with a woman named Reed, near the corner of Sixth and Wood streets, who had committed sudded by taking an overdose of laudanum. The facts are these:

Mrs. Morse, the deceased, was the wife of a soldier, who had been killed in battle, and was the mother of two children. She was very intemperate in her habits, and he with cut our assistance. citizen, under certain circumstances, to de-fend himself against the rowdy, the robber and the burglar; while the murderous knife is generally found with the ceward, and ac-

She was twen intemperate in her habits, and her oilidren had been taken charge of by a family rasiding some distance in the country. About two weeks ago, she appeared befere a magistrate, and desired to take an oath to abstain from drinking. The oath was administered, and she went her way. On Monday last she visited her children, returning on Tussday or Wednesday. She had broken her pledge, and had been drinking excessively. On Thursday, between nine and ten o'clock, she left the house of Mrs. Reed, where she had been employed to do housework, and son after came in with a cup in her hand, stating to the old lady that she intended to kill her self—that ahe was tired living, and had got the laudanum to put herself out of the way. The old lady saked to see the laudanum, and got close enough to smell it. the laudanum to put hersell out of the way. The old lady asked to see the laudanum, and got close enough to smell it. As Mrs. Morse started up stairs, the old lady called Mrs. Reed, and told her that Mrs. Morse was going to kill herself. Mrs. Beed ran up stairs, but only to find that the unfortunate woman had swallowed the contents of the cup. Physicians were immediately sent for, and although it is stated that some half a doson were waited upon, not one of them would go to the relief of the woman—acome of them demanded pay in advance, another said he did no business outside of the office, while others were too. bury to attend to the case. Mrs. Reed then administered a mixture of salt and water, as an emetic, which operated freely, and they began to think that the danger had passed. They kept the patient walking about the foot until after treelve o'clock, when she became very heavy and stupid, and was placed in bed. Stuper soon followed, and another effort was made to get a physician. Dr. Speer came, and pronounced the case hopelers, the poison having taken deadly effect upon the system. Dr. McDonald also came, some time before holding the inquest. The evidence before the jury was substantially as we have stated. Dr. McDonald gave it as his opinion that death would have resulted much more rapidly, had it not been for the intemperate labits of the deceased, which caused the Isudanum to be slower in its effects.

The hotel is the property of Mrs. Kinnear, who, of course, sustains the heaviest loss. Mr. Steel, the keeper of the hotel, besides the loss of feed, carriages, &c., in the stable, saffered considerable damage in household property, as the hotel was threatened and most of its contents were carried into the street.

Mesers. King & Winsora' new stove and tinware room was considerably singured—the morth: end being completely charred through—and it was only saved by the greatest exertion. Had it not been for the rain of the previous night, which covered everything with a sheet of ice, it is very probable that half the town would have been laid in sches.

The Criminal Court.

In the Court of Quarter Sessions, this morning, the case of the Commonwealth vs. Daniel Buser and John B. Houser, indicted for bur-glary, was called up. The defendants were arrested on the night of the 3d of October, by the Allegheay police, while attempting to break and enter the ciching store of Louis Kahl, on the corner of East Common and Ohlo street. A whole kit of burglars' tools was found upon these men; and a "ward" be-longing to one of the skelston keys found on the defendants, was subjequently discovered in the lock of Kahl's door. The testimony against them is very strong; and, added to this, the men have a bad character, both hav-ing served terms in the penitentiary. On trial.

Joseph Stockton, a well remembered name in the early-gannals of Pittsburgh, and mother of Col. Schootmaker, now in ber S4th year, visited Camp Howe yesterday.

She takes great interest in this great national struggle, and labors almost incessantly for the soldiers, having already knit some three hundred pairs of socks for them, and is still laboring on with undiminished industry.

Truly it may be said of her, "she hath dene what she could."

Rock Island-Important Decision.

Washistor, Nov. 14.—A number of squatters having recently made application to the General Land Office to be allowed pre-emption rights of settlement on Rock Island, in the Mississippi river, the Secretary of the Interior referred to the Attorney General the question whether the island was a part of the public lands, subject to the Pre-emption laws. The Attorney General has responded in an elaborate opinion, in which he holds that Rock Island, having been reserved out of the public lands by the Executive for military purposes, under the authority of the Act of 1809, is not subject to pre-emption or sale under the general land laws of the United States, and that the alleged relinquishment of the reservation by the War Department in 1848 was without authority of law, and therefere did not operate to restore the island to the mass of public lands. The power to relinquish a military reservation belongs, not to the Executive, but to Congress. Besides its importance in asserting the rights of the Government to the Island, so valuable for military purposes, this opinion-contains an interesting discussion of the limitation of Executive power. It will soon be published entire.
